Methodist College Today

ANNUAL REPORT OF DONORS 2000

Volume 42, No. 1 Spring 2001

Methodist College Today is published quarterly by the Public Relations Office

Methodist College

5400 Ramsey Street

Fayetteville, NC 28311-1420

USPS 074-560

Methodist College does not discriminate on the basis of age, race, sex, national or ethnic origin, religious denomination, or disabilities for otherwise qualified persons in the administration of its admission, educational policies, scholarships, loan programs, athletics, employment, or any other college-sponsored or advertised programs.

Methodist College is related by faith to the North Carolina Annual Conference, Southeastern Jurisdiction, The United Methodist Church. It is an independent corporation rather than an agency of the Conference and is responsible for its own debts and obligations.

President's Message

The year 2000 was a real turning point in Methodist College history. Unique academic programs, increased enrollment and world-class athletics are propelling us to the national forefront of independent liberal arts colleges. Our institution has truly been blessed, and we could not have done it without your support.

This Annual Report of Donors is our small way of saying thank-you for the many gifts you've given us.

This publication pays tribute to the hundreds who give of their time, talents and worldly treasures for the betterment of Methodist College. We know that lists and photos could never fully express our thanks; we hope that our gratitude is further evidenced by our stewardship and continued growth.

In the Fall, we celebrated the 40th anniversary of the opening of the College. Our mission is the same today as it was back in 1960 — "to nurture moral values and ethical decision-making; to prepare students for a variety of careers; and to provide educational and cultural services and resources to the community."

While our mission remains constant, our vision continually expands taking our academic programs, campus ministry, residence life and athletic teams to new dimensions. We were approved to offer our first master's level degree in the Physician Assistant Program, two distance learning courses went on-line, and a new undergraduate major was introduced — Resort Management — as a result of a partnership with The Pinehurst Co., Inc. Upperclassmen moved into the brand new apartment-style residence hall complex — Cape Fear Commons; we began recruiting athletes for women's lacrosse, our newest NCAA offering; and we resurfaced the campus track where we can now host meets.

Methodist College has turned the corner on the new millennium stronger, larger and more competitive than ever. We wouldn't be here without your support, and for that we are sincerely grateful.

A Message From The Board of Trustees' Chairman

"Donors don't give to institutions.
They invest in ideas and people in whom they believe."
—G.T. Smith

This statement was never more true than it is today at Methodist College. Our alumni, friends, faculty and staff uphold the traditions of a liberal-arts, church-affiliated education every time they volunteer or make a gift.

It is not the physical facilities or the economic impact of Methodist College that people support; they believe in the campus-wide commitment to developing well-rounded, responsible citizens.

The year 2000 embodied growth and expansion for the College. Alumni giving was up, donors to the Annual Fund increased, and more than $255,000 in scholarship money was awarded to worthy students.

Unfortunately, the year was not without a significant loss. The College community mourned the death of a long-time friend. I.H. "Ike" O'Hanlon, who passed away in July, was chairman of the Board of Trustees from 1981-1990. He served a total of 14 years on the board. Ike was the chairman of Methodist College's "Come of Age" capital campaign to build a physical activities center in the late 1980s. He was an inspiration to all who served with him.

In 2000, the Board of Trustees focused on implementation of the College's five-year Strategic Plan. As chairman, I extend my great appreciation to fellow board members for their vision and commitment.

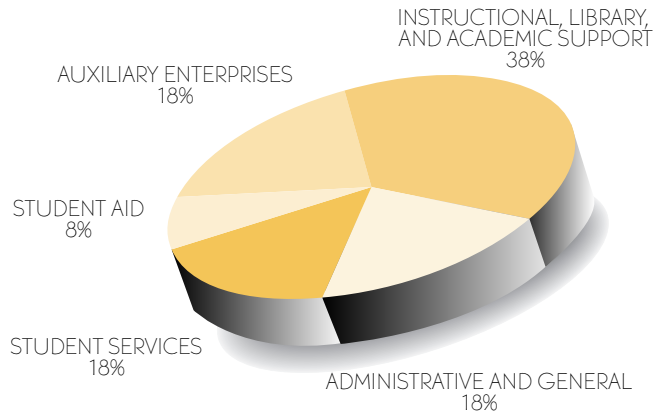

On behalf of the board, I would like to thank everyone who helps turn our mission into reality. Whether it's welcoming our students to the Fayetteville area, giving to the Annual Fund, sponsoring an athletic team, endowing a scholarship or attending a cultural event, your belief and investment in the mission of Methodist College ensures our continued growth and success.

Fall Term Enrollment History

What It's All About

Life is not just about what knowledge you possess or how physically fit you are, but also about what you do to make the world a better place. Methodist College students put these words into action in the 1999-00 academic year by completing more than 2,000 community service hours.

During Fall break, campus minister Carl King took 14 students to the Bahamas. But they didn't go to hang out at the beach or sightsee. Instead, they painted a local church, built shelters for the homeless and cleaned up an unsafe playground. Takechia Jackson, a student from Currie, NC, said "I became very grateful for the things I have, and I really enjoyed the experience."

A little closer to home, student athletes spent a lot of time volunteering for the Cumberland County School System, the CARE Clinic and many other organizations. On campus, students, faculty and staff come together each year to participate in the Jessie Smith Annual Wood Cutting Project. Trees are chopped down and delivered to needy families in the area.

William Walker, assistant dean of students and this year's project leader said, "It warms my heart to know that we have brought warmth to people who normally would not have it. All in all the project is a good time to see family, friends and the campus come together."

Some students put the practical skills they're taught at the College to help others. The Accounting Club conducts the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) program, having received authorization from the IRS to assist people with filing their taxes. These dedicated individuals have successfully prepared more than 200 federal returns and almost as many state returns.

Stressing volunteerism and community involvement supports the College's mission. Sarah Salter, a freshman from Goldsboro, NC, who spends much of her time volunteering on and off campus, said "The College does a good job providing students with opportunities to help the community."

Working Together, We Can Do Anything

A Message From The Alumni Association

It's been a great year! So many positive things have happened that it's hard to know where to begin. Alumni involvement is at an all-time high. Participation in the Annual Fund climbed to more than 18 percent and Homecoming and alumni events had record attendance.

In 2000, the Homecoming dinner and dance were held together for the first time. The Association honored three members this year. Dennis Bruce '68 won the Distinguished Alumni Award, Lynn Carraway '71 received the Outstanding Alumni Service Award, and Jerry Hogge was presented with the Outstanding Faculty Award.

Also at Homecoming, a silent auction was held which raised $2,100 for the Alumni Scholarship Fund. The silent auction will become an annual event just like the William P. Lowdermilk Golf Classic and the Athletic Hall of Fame banquet.

A special thanks to the following who hosted events last year: Jerry Monday '71 who hosted a cookout at his home in Raleigh; Bruce Pulliam, retired faculty member, for organizing a pre-game luncheon at Chowan College; and the Alumni Association for hosting a tailgate lunch before the Oyster Bowl in Hampton, VA.

In addition to sponsoring and attending events, alumni continued to increase their financial support of the College. Participation in the Annual Fund was up three percent which represents 139 more alumni who gave in 2000.

Our alma mater continues to need our help. We can make a tremendous difference in the support offered to the College by making a commitment ourselves. A high percentage of alumni giving is a sign of a strong institution. What's important is your participation, not how much you give.

Make a point to visit the College Web site at www.methodist.edu. Find old friends and help them find you in the alumni e-mail directory.

With your effort and support we can continue to build on the momentum of the last year. We will continue to keep you updated on alumni events and news.

Thank you for making 2000 an extraordinary year!

Remember These Times

In today's mobile society, we know that people move around a lot. It's hard to keep up with old classmates, and unfortunately, the last alumni directory is already outdated. But we've got good news. A new directory is on its way!

The Methodist College Alumni Directory, scheduled for release in December 2001, will be the most up-to-date and complete reference of Methodist College alumni ever compiled. This edition will include current names, addresses, phone numbers, e-mail addresses, business information, and much more. All of this will be bound into an impressive library-quality edition.

The Alumni Affairs Office has contracted with Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company to produce this piece. Harris is currently researching data and compiling the necessary information by mailing a questionnaire to all alumni. Look for the questionnaire to arrive by the end of March. Please make all efforts to fill it out and return it . . . it's important to your fellow alumni.

Please contact us at (910) 630-7167 or (888) 221-4826 if you have any questions.

The Greatest Gift

The Greatest Gift Scholarship has made recruiting Methodist College students easy for Larry Frazier '70, who is a retired teacher in Fayetteville. Using this incentive, Larry has brought many students to his alma mater.

Desiree Horton, a junior from Fayetteville, was in the marching band with Frazier's son in high school. Desiree expressed an interest in studying music at Methodist.

"I didn't hesitate in offering Desiree the opportunity for a Greatest Gift Scholarship," said Frazier. "I saw this as a way to help her with her education, and help the College with a new student."

Giovanna Jacobs, a sophomore from Fayetteville, had never met Frazier in person when he offered to complete a Greatest Gift Scholarship application for her. During her senior year of high school, Giovanna participated in the Cumberland County Schools Web Academy. The program allowed her to take additional high school classes online and graduate early (at the age of 16). Frazier was her Academy teacher.

Giovanna Jacobs, Larry Frazier '70, and Desiree Horton.

"When Giovanna mentioned that she was considering attending Methodist, I was able to help her make a decision by offering the Greatest Gift Scholarship," Frazier said.

Since 1976, Methodist College has offered alumni an incentive to recruit new students to their alma mater. Through the Greatest Gift Scholarship, the College allows all alumni to give a four-year scholarship to a student whom he or she recruits, at no personal cost to alumni. Last year 290 students received a Greatest Gift Scholarship.

An alum can award one Greatest Gift Scholarship per academic year, by simply filling out an application form. The amount of the scholarship depends on the financial need of the individual. Awards are renewed annually, provided the recipient makes satisfactory academic progress.

The College honors its alumni by funding the Greatest Gift Scholarships. Please help a deserving student and your alma mater by awarding your personal scholarship. Call the Alumni Office at (910) 630-7167, (888) 221-4826, or e-mail tmaze@methodist.edu to request an application.

Note: In order for the student to qualify, the application must be received 30 days prior to the student's first enrollment at Methodist College. Also, the Greatest Gift Scholarship is not recognized as a charitable gift to Methodist College under IRS laws.

The legacy of retired COL David R. Nimocks Sr. plays a vital role in the Reeves School of Business through the Nimocks Endowed Professorship. This fund was created in 1998 by David R. Nimocks Jr. to honor the memory of his father's interest in the development of students and the Fayetteville community.

The elder Nimocks was a native of Fayetteville who spent most of his life in the U.S. Army. During his military career, he was a professor of military science and tactics for numerous college ROTC programs and he served as a finance officer. He was also awarded the Purple Heart for service in France during World War I.

"He loved teaching kids. He enjoyed this duty because it enabled him to work with and aid in the development of students," said Nimocks. "I thought the best way to honor my father was to establish a professorship at Methodist College."

The Nimocks Endowed Professorship was established by a gift from Mr. Nimocks Jr. that provides the income for teaching, research support and professional development for an existing professor. The College uses the interest earned from the fund to accomplish these goals. "My father loved seeing students progress, and with the professorship his vision will live on for generations," Nimocks said.

The selection process for the professorship is competitive. Four proposals were submitted to the selection committee, which was made up of Dr. Anthony DeLapa, dean of academic affairs; Dr. Elton Hendricks, president; and Joe Doll, director of the Reeves School of Business.

Dr. Lin in the classroom.

The first recipient of the Nimocks Professorship is Dr. Jen-Hsiang Lin. The committee chose his proposal because "it incorporated research and is a tool to help increase enrollment in the business school and recruit quality students to Methodist College," said Doll.

Lin's project will focus on "collaborative learning." He said he believes he was awarded the professorship based on his vision and his shared belief in student development. The project will increase student participation in and out of the classroom by using technology to open the door for discussion and debate.

Lin and his students are interfacing with a Web site especially designed for the class. The page features class discussions, homework assignments, extra-curricular readings, surveys and quizzes, and it gives students an opportunity to post questions to each other and to Dr. Lin.

Lin said he believes the "collaborative learning project" is one way for students to start thinking about teamwork and the application of their knowledge to further enhance their college careers. It also prepares them for the business world and its use of technology.

He said, "This tool is not designed to erase personal interaction between the student and professor, but to enhance the discussion and active participation in the course. Students must read their book assignments, post their homework and take quizzes via the Web page. The course is more than reading a book and taking exams; the course is designed to make students apply those skills taught in the classroom and use them effectively.

"I appreciate the opportunity that the Nimocks professorship has given me," Lin said. "I hope that many more donors will follow Mr. Nimocks' lead to invest in and help develop our students."

Partnership Develops Leadership

In December the Cumberland Community Foundation, Inc. (CCF) awarded Methodist College's Lura S. Tally Center for Leadership Development a $4,500 grant to establish a leadership training facility that will serve the greater Fayetteville area.

The Center will operate from a seminar-style classroom and an adjacent office suite for Dr. Suzan Cheek, director of the Tally Center, and Dr. Andrew Ziegler, coordinator. It is located on the lower level of the Trustees Classroom Building. The CCF grant covered one-third of the cost of the renovations and new furnishings; the Tally Center and its Advisory Board raised the balance.

"Development of new leaders is critical to the quality of life here," said Mary Holmes, executive director of the Foundation. "I see this center serving as a catalyst for leadership development in the community."

"We are grateful to Cumberland Community Foundation and our Advisory Board for their support of this project," said Cheek.

"We are excited about our new multimedia training area and look forward to providing leadership workshops tailor-made to the needs of mid-level supervisors in local businesses, public agencies, and nonprofit organizations.

We plan to send information about the Leadership Center and its services to businesses, government agencies and civic groups throughout Cumberland County."

Dr. Cheek and Dr. Ziegler will be the lead instructors for both "basic" and "advanced" workshops, assisted by other College faculty and community experts as needed. In the last two years, Cheek and Ziegler have provided leadership training for the Fayetteville Chamber of Commerce and the NC Association of Symphony Orchestras under the auspices of the Tally Center.

The Center will offer a menu of 12 instructional "modules" from which local organizations will build the specific content for the leadership training they need. The modules feature one to four hours of instruction and cover topics such as: The Myers-Briggs Personality Type Indicator, How to Build and Lead a Team, Becoming an Effective Planner and How to Solve Problems.

A brochure describing the Center's public offerings is now available to anyone interested in leadership training workshops. For more information about leadership training available through the Tally Center, contact Dr. Suzan Cheek at (910) 630-7070 or Dr. Andrew Ziegler at (910) 630-7488.

The Longest Way

Mrs. Longest illustrates a lecture.

The sign on her driveway gate reads "The Longest Way." It has both a literal and a figurative meaning.

Pauline M. Longest is a remarkable woman — a botanist, teacher, world traveler, environmentalist, and philanthropist. Since retiring from the Methodist College science faculty 21 years ago, she has remained a loyal and enthusiastic donor to the College. She recently made a generous gift toward the planned construction of an addition to the Science Building.

Like many teachers, Mrs. Longest is intensely proud of her former students and their successes. In a 1997 Methodist College Today interview, she spoke warmly of those who had written to her over the years — alumni who had become teachers, doctors, researchers and leaders in their professions and communities.

During her 17 years at Methodist, Mrs. Longest was adviser to the Student Education Association (SEA). Each Spring, she returns to Methodist to give the Pauline Longest Award to an outstanding SEA member. She has also been very active in Delta Kappa Gamma, an honorary society for women educators.

Another example of "The Longest Way" is the Pauline Longest Nature Trail on campus. Established in 1985, it is actually two trails that feature winding paths dotted with botanical markers and stunning views of the creek bed/gorge that leads to the Cape Fear River.

Traveling and learning about other cultures is also part of her way. Her book, Going Places, is based on eight decades of travel to 52 countries, and features colorful anecdotes, vivid word pictures, and the author's own pen and ink drawings of animals.

Now 87, Mrs. Longest continues to play a vital role in the life of Methodist College and its students. "The Longest Way" is a primary example of one component of a liberal arts education — a lifelong journey of learning.

Adventures In Learning

Mike Sinkovitz

"We like Mike" is something you hear a lot from members of the Outdoor Adventure Club. The Mike in this case is club adviser Mike Sinkovitz, also known as "Sink."

Sinkovitz joined Methodist in 1988 and shortly thereafter, became the director of intramurals and recreation at Methodist. He was also an assistant football coach. In 1991, he started the Outdoor Adventure Club. The mission of the group is to design and participate in activities that allow them to explore nature, learn and share skills, develop leadership traits, and "have fun," according to Sinkovitz.

The club's first excursion was a canoeing trip to Camp Rockfish in nearby Hoke County. Although most excursions are weekend trips, five-day trips are taken during the Fall, Thanksgiving, and Spring breaks. The club holds fund-raisers to pay for the outings, and the College provides transportation. Participants pay a small fee for each trip.

During 1999-2000, the club took 11 field trips. Members say the highlight of last year's activities was a Thanksgiving break trip to Dry Tortugas National Park in Key West, FL. On that trip, they sailed, snorkeled, and swam with trained dolphins. Sinkovitz says Florida is a favorite destination of members.

"In December 1998, we visited a dolphin training center in Key Largo, FL and Crystal Springs, where we swam with the manatees," he said. "About 25 students went on that trip."

A former Green Beret who served six years in Vietnam and a total of 26 years in the U.S. Army, Sinkovitz began his football coaching career at the University of Wisconsin (Plattville). He is a native of Harrisburg, PA, and received his undergraduate education at Upper Iowa University where he majored in business, as well as health, physical education, and recreation. Mike also worked for a time as a licensed contractor and has built several gazebos, an arbor, a golf driving range shelter, and a press box addition on campus.

Although Sinkovitz gave up coaching four years ago, the Outdoor Adventure Club, along with the intramural program and campus construction projects keep him busy. By giving generously of his time and talent, Mike Sinkovitz has endeared himself to the students and staff at Methodist College, and he continues to use his skills to do what he does best: teach and develop students.

Donors Make Collection Special

In June, the campus community celebrated the opening of Davis Memorial Library's Special Collections Room, which houses varied exhibits and memorabilia, donated mostly from private sources. "Our collections reflect the people of MC and the city of Fayetteville," said Arlene Fields, cataloging and special collections librarian. "We hope to continue to use these materials to illuminate the links between the past and present in our community."

One donation provided insight into the history of the College campus. An alumnus, Howard Arden '70, donated his collection of arrowheads gathered on the property, offering indications that American Indians once lived on the banks of the Cape Fear River. Subsequent evidence has been unearthed during construction projects.

Other donations to the Special Collections Room include a four-volume set of Audubon's The Birds of America from Margaret Rose and Terry Sanford, a six-volume set of The Works of Shakespeare published in 1770 from Otis D. Purdie, a Spanish translation of The Complete Works of John Wesley from the Wesley Heritage Foundation, and Donald Green's prints and watercolor drawings of historic Fayetteville buildings from retired faculty member Bruce Pulliam.

Since the room opened, three exhibits have been displayed. Two centered around the Marquis de Lafayette, one on his farewell tour of the United States (1824-25) and the other on his early life. The Lafayette Collection features letters, books, and memorabilia including period furniture, French and American flags, and a portrait of Lafayette. Fayetteville's Lafayette Society recently donated funds to purchase a buffet table and a game table for the display.

The third exhibit tells the story of Carolina College, an all-female institution in Maxton, NC, that closed in 1926. Methodist College is the permanent repository for the college's memorabilia. Alumnae and their family members have contributed much to the collection.

Achieving Excellence In Athletics

Members of the 1990 men's golf team recently gathered back at Jeckyll Island, GA for the 10-year anniversary of winning the College's first NCAA national team championship. L to R: Hank Klein '92, Jim Percherke '90, John McCullough '90, Rob Pilewski '92, Randy Shaw '90 and coach Steve Conley.

As the year 2000 came to an end, Methodist College had primed itself to make a mark in intercollegiate athletics in the new millennium.

The year began and ended with several championships. The women's basketball team got things started by winning its second consecutive Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference regular-season championship after going an impressive 11-0 in the March F. Riddle Center.

Methodist Spring sports continued the string of excellence as the softball, men's golf, and women's golf teams each brought home championship hardware to the MC campus. The softball team claimed its second consecutive DIAC crown and earned the school's second-ever NCAA appearance. The MC men's golf team earned its eighth consecutive and 19th overall DIAC championship en route to a NCAA-III national runner-up finish. The women's golf team blistered the competition as it claimed its third consecutive NCAA National Championship with a 51-stroke team win. Lady Monarch golfer Stacey Smith claimed the NCAA-III Individual National Championship.

The success continued with the 2000 Fall seasons as the MC football team earned a runner-up finish in the final year of the Atlantic Central Football Conference and won an "unofficial" Dixie Conference crown with a 4-0 slate against conference schools. Additionally, the women's tennis duo of Elena Blanina and Carla Simpson made school history by winning the 2000 Fall Rolex NCAA Division-III National Championship in women's doubles competition.

MC athletics remains among the national elite in the race for the Sears Director's Cup which recognizes the nation's overall outstanding athletic programs. In all five years of the award's existence, the Monarchs have finished in the top 15 percent of all 393 NCAA Division-III member institutions.

This past athletic year saw six MC student-athletes earn All-American honors, nine earn All-Region status, 31 garner the prestigious DIAC All-Academic honor, and 52 student-athletes named to their respective All-Conference teams.

Monarch athletics intends to keep its pursuit of excellence alive in the new millennium and continue to bring recognition and honor to the Methodist College community. MC student-athletes appreciate the continued support of our alumni, parents, and friends and pledge to continue to pursue excellence in both the classroom and on the playing fields as a national powerhouse in intercollegiate athletics.

Honoring

More Than Just A Free Ride

Dawn Parker, assistant to the director of church and community relations, stands next to the van she donated to Methodist as a Gift in Kind.

Standing with Dawn is the manager of Pizza Hut on Ramsey Street, Raymond Hathaway.

Pizza Hut also provides Gifts in Kind to the College by donating pizzas to be used as incentives for the student callers during Methodist's annual phonathons.

There are many ways to make a gift to Methodist College. . . some more unique than others. Methodist College staff member Dawn Parker '99 learned this first-hand when she went to trade in her used van last year.

"The dealership was going to give me $300 for it, and I knew it was worth more than that," said Dawn. She decided to do some research on the Internet to see what options she had. That's when Dawn learned about Gifts in Kind.

A Gift in Kind is the donation of a product or service for use by an organization. Dawn discovered that she could donate her van to Methodist College and help with its transportation needs, while gaining a tax break for herself.

"It wasn't just good for the College, it was good for me. I did better financially by donating my van to Methodist than I would have if I had traded it in," Dawn said.

These days, Dawn's van transports mail throughout campus and to several locations off campus. The seats were taken out and the van is able to carry boxes of mail that can be accessed from the inside. Prior to receiving the van, a pickup truck was used to deliver campus mail, which made it more difficult for the driver to access the boxes of mail, and made it especially difficult to deliver mail in the rain.

As an employee of Methodist, Dawn believes it is important to support her employer, which is why she chose to donate her van to the College.

"Those of us on the inside need to show our loyalty," said Dawn. "I'll continue to support the College in any way I can."

Methodist College Wish List

Throughout the year, there are many needs for students and their support staff at the College. The College's Administrative Committee has come up with a wish list. Gifts-in-kind are most welcome and their fair market value is tax deductible. Contact the Development Office if you are interested in helping the College with an item. Current needs include, but are not limited to the following:

- Various cardio-vascular exercise machines
- Golf carts
- Tractors
- Automobiles
- Mini Vans
- A 40 seat passenger bus
- A dump truck
- Maintenance trucks
- A Commercial-grade riding mower
- TVs and VCRs
- Field maintenance equipment
- Computer equipment
- Computer for the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program
- Reading resources
- Concession stand/restroom facility for the football and track stadium
- Irrigation systems
- Large processional cross—at least 2'6" high with pole
- Video cameras
- Lighting for outdoor athletic fields and tennis courts
- Camera equipment—35mm, digital, tripod
- Overhead projectors
- Laser printers
- Office furniture
- Chain saws
- Equipment for the Outdoor Adventure Club
- Multi-media equipment
- Sound and lighting system
- Campus radio station
- Off-set printing press
- Marching Band

Methods of Giving

CASH

The most common way to support Methodist College is through a gift of cash which is deductible for income tax purposes in the year of the contribution.

BEQUESTS

Gifts to Methodist College through a bequest in a will escape estate tax at the donor's death and greatly benefit the future of the College.

SECURITIES

The contribution of long-term appreciated securities enables you to claim an income tax charitable deduction for the full present fair market value, and avoid capital gains taxes on the appreciation.

REAL ESTATE

An outright gift of property enables you to claim an income tax charitable deduction equal to the property's fair market value (if held long-term). Also, you avoid possible capital gains taxes on the property's appreciation.

INSURANCE

By naming Methodist College as the owner and beneficiary of a paid-up policy, you are entitled to an income tax deduction generally equal to the replacement value or cost basis of the policy, whichever is less. If you continue paying the premium on a policy you donate to Methodist, you may claim the premium amount as an annual tax deduction.

GIFT ANNUITY

A charitable gift annuity is a contract between you or another beneficiary and Methodist College whereby you transfer assets to the College and receive fixed payments for life. The payment amount is determined by your age at the time of your contribution.

CHARITABLE REMAINDER TRUSTS

Remainder trusts are life income arrangements whereby assets are gifted to the trust, which in turn pays you or your beneficiary a regular income for life. The donated assets can be cash, securities, or property, and at the time of the gift(s), you accrue potential tax reduction benefits. After the death of the last income beneficiary, the trust assets revert to Methodist College to be used according to your wishes.

Methodist College encourages you to consult with your professional advisers to design the most advantageous program for you and your family. If we can be of assistance, please contact a member of the Development Staff at (910) 630-7200 or (888) 221-4826.
