Mrs. Walter R. Davis of Midland, Texas has made a contribution of $100,000 to Methodist College, Fayetteville. Announcement of the gift was made today by Governor Terry Sanford, Chairman of the College's Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Davis is the former Geraldine Tyson of the Gray's Creek Community of Cumberland County. She received her A. B. degree from East Carolina College in 1938 and taught English at Massey Hill High School, Cumberland County, for three years following her graduation. In 1939 she and Mr. Davis, a native of Elizabeth City, were married in Hay Street Methodist Church, Fayetteville.

Later the family moved to California where Mrs. Davis did graduate work at the University of Southern California and Sacramento State. She was the first Principal of the Sanborn School of Salinas, California.

Since moving to Midland in 1952, Mrs. Davis has been active in church and community affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis have long been interested in education on all levels, having aided many students, prep schools, and colleges through grants or scholarships. They are enthusiastic supporters of Governor Sanford's educational program for North Carolina, as they make their summer home in Nags Head and have many friends and relatives over the state.

The Fayetteville Community has been inspired and stimulated by the announcement of the $100,000 gift to Methodist College by a native and former resident of the community, Mrs. Walter R. Davis of Midland, Texas.

Among the host of people expressing appreciation for the gift was Dr. L. Stacy Weaver, President of Methodist College, who said; "we of the college community are particularly grateful. The administration, faculty and students are encouraged by this expression of interest on the part of Mrs. Davis. Her gift is a heart-warming expression of the interest which assures us of the wide-spread support of our new venture in higher education."

"We are particularly encouraged since this gift brings a little nearer the day when we may begin construction of our much needed Library Building. Mrs. Davis' gift will be limited to this end as it is added to the fund which is accumulating for this purpose. We hope that it will not be too long before sufficient funds will be in hand to begin construction of this facility."

A very excellent collection of some 10,000 books with additional periodicals and reference materials are now housed in temporary facilities in the classroom building.

The scheduled growth of the library calls for the addition of a minimum of 5,000 books per year until a minimum of 50,000 volumes is reached.

To house these books and provide the necessary facilities and space as the student body grows the library building will be essential to the high quality academic program of the college.

Governor Terry Sanford, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Methodist College, announced today that Mrs. Walter R. Davis, 1203 Country Club Drive, Midland, Texas, is the donor of $100,000 to Methodist College, Fayetteville.

Mrs. Davis is the former Geraldine Tyson of the Gray's Creek Community of Cumberland County, daughter of the late Walter H. Tyson and Mrs. J. M. Bain, now living in St. Pauls. She received her A.B. degree from East Carolina College in 1938 and taught English at Massey Hill High School, Cumberland County, for three years following her graduation. In 1939 she and Mr. Davis, a native of Elizabeth City, were married in Hay Street Methodist Church, Fayetteville. Their daughter, Melba, was born in Fayetteville.

Later the family moved to California where Mrs. Davis did graduate work at the University of Southern California and Sacramento State. She was the first Principal of the Senborn School of Salinas, California.

Since moving to Midland in 1952, Mrs. Davis has been active in church and community affairs. She has served as Girl Scout leader, Board member of the Permian Basin Council and Region IX Committee member. She has been a board member for the Midland Library, La Floricita Nursey and both she and Mr. Davis are honorary life-time members of Midland Community Theatre. Presently she is on the Board of Midland Community Chest, The Midland Symphony, is a member of Four Seasons Investment Club and is President of the Women's Golf Association of Midland Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Davis has long been interested in education on all levels, having aided many students, prep schools, and colleges through grants or scholarships. They are enthusiastic supporters of Governor Sanford's educational program for North Carolina, as they make their summer home in Nags Head and have many friends and relatives over the state.

Melba, now Mrs. Ralph Greenlee, is a former Duke student who is finishing her education at Newcomb College in New Orleans where Mr. Greenlee is a medical student at Tulane.

The Reverend Charles L. Martin, Jr. an associate secretary in the youth department of the Japan Baptist Convention, will be the speaker for the chapel program at Methodist College on Wednesday, March 7, at 11:30 a.m. in the Science Hall Auditorium. The public is invited.

He will speak on the subject of the challenge confronting today's student in the mission of the Church.

In addition to his student work in Japan, Mr. Martin serves as Associate Pastor of Majiro ga Oka Baptist Church, Tokyo, teaches a Bible class for students, and writes curriculum material for the Japan Baptist Convention's training organization.

As a bombardier on a B-29, he flew 31 missions over Japan during World War II and received the Distinguished Flying Cross and "a few other medals". One day he saw a Japanese suicide plane explode just as it was about to crash into his formation. "The Japanese pilot died; I lived," he says. "I was near enough to look into his face. As I saw him plummet to his death, I felt that my life was spared for a purpose." He became convinced that the purpose was that he might go to Japan as a missionary.

His visit to the college community is sponsored jointly by the Office of the Chaplain, Methodist College, and the Department of Student Work of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina

THE FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER , Sunday Edition

Methodist College

By: Charles K. McAdams, Director Public Relations

From behind the solar-screened facades of the Science Building at Methodist College, the chemistry department is already projecting the influence of this new institution into the modern world of science.

Evidence of this is to be found in the March issue of The Science Teacher, a monthly publication of the National Science Teachers Association, Washington, D. C.

In this issue national recognition has been given to an illustrated article by a Methodist College sophomore, Jerry Wood, and Dr. Charles Ott, Chemistry Professor.

The article describes a demonstration technique illustrating the protective action of a sacrificial magnesium anode as a rust preventative.

It all began when Jerry Wood's inquisitive mind dropped into high gear as the result of a statement made in class by Professor Ott relative to a technique for rust prevention used by large pipe line companies.

"Iron atoms," said Ott, "can't rust unless they lose electrons. To prevent the loss of electrons, large blocks of magnesium are buried in the ground and connected to the pipe line by copper wire. As the magnesium corrodes, a flow of current moves into the pipe more vigorously than the iron pushed the electrons out; thus preventing rusting of the pipe."

Wood's curiosity prompted him to question the procedure--so he set about to determine a simple method of proving and demonstrating the validity of this principle. He came up with an idea which he and Professor Ott agreed upon.

Two small bright iron nails were placed on a moistened pad of cotton in a Petri dish. Just below the head of one of the nails was wrapped a small band of magnesium ribbon. After a few hours, rust appeared on the unprotected nail. The nail with the magnesium showed no rust after many days.

Explanation of this procedure along with a drawing and a photograph of the results were sent to the editorial division of The Science Teacher. The article was immediately accepted.

Experiments such as this have provided through the years many of the basic techniques for classroom teaching, experimentation and demonstration, in the train of scientific progress.

Jerry Wood, prior to entering Methodist College as a member of the first freshman class, graduated from the Pine Forest High School of Cumberland County.

"When I first thought about college," said Wood, "I felt that Methodist College would be a good place to go for the first two years and then transfer to another college. I was looking for a college where I might receive a reasonable amount of individual attention--so I chose Methodist College. After three semesters, I have found that I do not want to transfer--for everything has surpassed all my expectations. I want to complete my undergraduate work here."

Wood plans to major in chemistry and feels now that he would like to teach.

He is Vice-President and Program Chairman of the College's Science Club, a member of the Community Council and the Student Council, and looks forward to becoming one of the first graduates of Methodist College in 1964.

Dr. Charles Ott also came to Methodist College with the first freshman class as Chemistry Professor. For a number of years he had served on the faculty of Guilford College, but the challenge of the opportunity to begin again with a new institution was a temptation not to be overcome.

Ott's affable manner, along with his scholarly ability, has won the respect of his students and is an important factor in the close relationship which exists between him and his students.

He is counselor to the Science Club and any report of their activities always includes an account of the fish fry which he provided for them at his home at the close of last school year.

And so--the inquisitive mind of a student meets the scholarly and sympathetic manner of a teacher, and in a Christian atmosphere, the learning process begins--thus the progress of our day and the hope of the future.

April 15, 1962 - 2-5 p.m.

In observance of National Library Week April 8-15, the Methodist College Library will hold an Open House from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, April 15. All friends of the college and local citizens interested in the library's resources and development are invited to attend.

Major purposes of the Open House are (a) to acquaint townspeople with college library resources available to them and to explain policies governing use of library resources by individuals not connected with the college, and (b) to point out the growth of the library since its opening in September, 1960, and to explain plans for future expansion, including construction of a permanent library. Both Alva Stewart, librarian, and Mrs. J. Floyd Ammons, library associate, will be available to answer questions regarding the library's resources and plans for expansion. Special feature of the Open House will be the showing of metal stacks recently installed on the ground floor of the Classroom Building. These stacks are capable of housing 7,500 volumes.

Refreshments will be served between 3 and 4:30 p.m. in the ~~college~~ <sup>Classroom Building</sup> ~~dining hall~~ <sup>Courtyard</sup>. School and public librarians in Fayetteville and Cumberland County are especially invited to attend the Open House.

Dean Ficken suggests that visitors might be interested in examining chemistry and biology labs following their inspection of the library. If you approve this suggestion, I will be happy to ask Drs. Ott and Heffern to be in the Science Bldg. that afternoon. all right

Governor Terry Sanford was re-elected chairman of the Board of Trustees of Methodist College during the annual meeting of the Board at the Governor's Mansion in Raleigh, Tuesday, May 1. Other officers of the Board were re-elected as follows: J. O. Tally, Jr., Fayetteville, vice-president; the Reverend Jack Page, Fayetteville, secretary; and Frank McBryde, Fayetteville, treasurer. Members of the Board elected to the Executive Committee are J. M. Wilson, Fayetteville; Dr. Allen P. Brantley, Raleigh; J. Nelson Gibson, Gibson; Lenox G. Cooper, Wilmington; and W. Robert Johnson, Goldsboro.

Dr. L. Stacy Weaver, president of the college, gave a comprehensive report of the progress and development of the college during the past year. He pointed out that two small air-conditioned dormitories have been put into use this year and that an additional dormitory to house 80 women will be ready for September. Bids have been received for the construction of two permanent dormitories, one to house 160 men, the other, 150 women. These are planned for occupancy in September, 1963. Considerable equipment has been added to the classroom, science, and cafeteria buildings; and the library continues to experience a satisfactory growth with the addition of a minimum of 5,000 new volumes per year.

Weaver commented on the high quality faculty and administrative officers and pointed out that for the junior year beginning in September the faculty will be almost doubled.

Weaver stated that student enrollment continues to show an appreciable increase, with a total of 246 regularly enrolled this year. An additional 97 students have been enrolled in the evening school.

Concerning accreditation, Weaver noted that, in addition to previous recognitions, the college has recently been approved by the University Senate of the Methodist Church as meeting the requirements for the training of ministers.

Subject to approval by the U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency, authorization was given by the Board to award contracts to T. A. Loving Company for the construction of two dormitories and an entrance gate and center sign for the campus and to the Superior Mechanical Construction Company of Durham for boiler plant addition.

A proposed operating budget of $402,272.00 for the fiscal year 1962-63 was approved by the Board. Authorization was given for capital expenditures of $219,624.00, which includes the construction of the physical education building this summer from special contributions directed to this project.

Lenox Cooper of Wilmington, chairman of the Development Committee, reported that through special efforts of this committee approximately $220,000.00 has been raised through cash gifts and pledges for capital development.

Newton Robertson, Jr., president of the Fayetteville College Foundation, reported that to date collections total $1,034,333.98. During the first ten months of the current fiscal year, $101,547.60 has been raised. He also reported that since January, 1962, new pledges of $28,000.00 have been procured. He stressed the fact that the Foundation is striving to promote Methodist College in every possible way in the Fayetteville area. The Foundation is now making elaborate plans for the presentation of a Freedom Shrine to the college sometime next fall.

Dr. Allen P. Brantley, Executive Director of the North Carolina Conference Commission on Higher Education of the Methodist Church, reported that, as of May 1, $921,757.40 has been paid to Methodist College. He further reported that a second phase of the original campaign by the Methodist Church is being recommended to the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church which meets in June.

Those present for the meeting were guests of Governor and Mrs. Sanford at a buffet luncheon.

Methodist College Participates in Festival of Arts

Methodist College played a significant role in the "Festival of the Arts" for Fayetteville and Cumberland County during the first two weeks in May.

The Fayetteville Symphony orchestra under the direction of Dr. Willis Gates, professor of Music at the College, presented a brilliant concert in the College Union before an audience of over 400 people, Saturday evening, May 5.

On Wednesday evening May 9, in the Science Hall Auditorium, Dr. Harwell Hamilton Harris, internationally known architect and visiting professor of Architecture at N. C. State College, gave a stimulating, illustrated lecture on the subject "The Person and the House."

An impressive selection of paintings and drawings from junior and senior high schools of the area have been displayed in the College Union during these two weeks.

Louis Spilman, Jr., a sophomore at the college, was chairman of the $10,000 Cape Fear Coin Club display at the Southern National Bank during the Festival.

Several college students participated in the musical play "Brigadoon" sponsored by the Musical Arts Guild.

Methodist College has received approval of a $1,290,000 loan from the Community Facilities Administration in Washington, D. C. for the construction of two, three-story dormitories.

Announcement of this action was made through a telegram from Congressman Alton Lennon to Dr. L. Stacy Weaver, president of the college.

The College trustees, on May 1, approved a contract for T. A. Loving Company to construct the dormitories for a low base bid of $1,137,800.

The structures will be located in the wooded area east of the science building. The women's dormitory will accommodate 150 students and the men's dormitory will house 160 students.

Construction will be of brick and concrete and both buildings will be fully air-conditioned.

A dormitory to house 80 women students during the school year beginning in September is now nearing completion.

Two other smaller dormitories will be allocated as men's housing during the next school year.

FAYETTEVILLE NURSERYMAN ESTABLISHES ARBORETUM AT COLLEGE.

A proposal by W. G. Butler, owner of the Butler Nurseries of Fayetteville to establish an Arboretum on the grounds of Methodist College was unanimously accepted and approved by the Board of Trustees at the November meeting of the Board.

In the formal proposal Butler expressed his intention to donate a collection of trees, shrubs, and other plants which shall be an aid in the instruction of botany students at the college, and others throughout the country who may avail themselves of these facilities.

"It is not my intention", said Butler, "in executing this planting, to promote the aesthetic arrangement of such plant material, but in the main to place the plants in as natural setting as may be practical for specimen growth. The plant material used shall be primarily plants that are indigenous to the locale of this state. Many plants found in other states shall be used where they are proven to be adaptable to this climate. Some few introduced plants may be used, only for students and others in identification work."

Butler will assume the responsibility of furnishing and installing all of the plant materials for the Arboretum. The college will assume the responsibility of maintenance such as, watering and caring for the plantings, clearing away of undesirable brush and other debris, and the construction and maintenance of roads and paths to and through the planting site.

Selective cutting of trees in parts of the initial planting area has already begun. This area lies southeast of the physical education field and Student Union and follows a stream bed and plateau between two lakes on the campus.

Butler has indicated that the varied elevations in the terrain of the Methodist College campus provides a perfect setting for one of the most outstanding Arboretums in the country.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

1962

On Monday, October 31, Methodist College at Fayetteville will observe Founders Day and Fall Convocation.

The formal service will be held in the auditorium of the Science Building from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The Reverend Vergil E. Queen, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Elizabeth City, and Chairman of the Commission on Christian Higher Education of the North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Church will give the main address for this historical occasion.

Queen, a native of Burke County, North Carolina received his A.B. degree from Catawba College and the B.D. degree from the Duke Divinity School. In addition to his present pastorate, he has served as pastor of the Methodist Church in Carrboro; Haymount, Fayetteville; and Duke Memorial, Durham. He has also served as District Superintendent of the Wilmington District and on the faculty of Duke University.

From 1956 to 1960, he was President of the N. C. Annual Conference Board of Education. It was during this time that Methodist College was chartered and the Conference-wide Financial Campaign was conducted to build two new colleges.

He was a charter member of the Board of Trustees of Methodist College and still serves on the Board. He served as Chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee 1956-59 and from 1956 to 1957 was Chairman of the committee to select a President for the College. It was his committee which selected Dr. L. Stacy Weaver who became the unanimous choice of the Board of Trustees.

Another feature of the Founders Day Program will be the reading of the charter of the College by Dr. L. Stacy Weaver, President of the College.

Special music for the occasion will be furnished by Dr. Willis C. Gates, Professor of Music and Violinist; and by the Methodist College Mixed Chorus.

The public is invited for this occasion.

At 12:30 p.m. a luncheon will be served in the dining hall of the Student Union for the Trustees and Executive Board of the Fayetteville College Foundation.

After lunch the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees and the Building Committee will meet in joint session to give further consideration to the building of resident facilities on the campus prior to the next school year.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

METHODIST COLLEGE, Fayetteville, North Carolina

Governor Terry Sanford, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Methodist College, Fayetteville, has called for a "vision that can develop Methodist College into a full-fledged institution of strength and depth in its scholarship and in the service that it will provide the people of this region."

Sanford's challenge came as he delivered the address for the second annual Founders' Day observance in the Student Union on the college campus at 11:30 a. m. Wednesday, November 1.

"The Founders of Methodist College, numbering literally in the thousands," said Sanford, "may observe today that many of their dreams have been realized."

"Higher education in North Carolina," said the governor, "has always been a partnership between the state and private sources, largely religious groups. Methodist College, promoted and supported by Methodist people, by private sources and community interest, is a good example of the kind of partnership about which I speak.

"Not only free minds, but an inevitable result of free minds--a commitment by students to Christian ideals, will be the bonus of the Founders' sacrifices. This involves all that is included in the quest for 'Americanism' and more too."

Sanford pointed out that, "Colleges like this one will provide their students a sense of commitment and not a cynical sense of self-
