Subject: Teacher Education Program Accreditation
Charles K. McAdams, Director of Public Relations
Barbara H. Bryan, Assistant Director of Information Services

Methodist College has been granted the highest possible accreditation for its teacher education program through recent action of the State Board of Higher Education.

This approval supplies Methodist College with all accreditations necessary to the success of its current program, according to Dr. L. Stacy Weaver, Methodist College President.

Beginning with this 1967-68 school year, the approved program approach to teacher education and certification is effective on the undergraduate level in the following areas: elementary education, English, French, Spanish, mathematics, music, science and social studies.

Only when Methodist College became a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools on Nov. 30, 1966, was the institution eligible to request inspection by the State Board of Education for approval of the teacher education program.

Graduates of 1964-1967 had been certified to teach under a special ruling of the Board which formerly certified the successful completion of specified subjects.

Following an April inspection of the teacher education program by the State Board, Methodist College made application for accreditation of this phase of instruction.

The full request was unconditionally accepted for a five-year period ---the highest approval possible.

Graduates of the Methodist College teacher education program now will be certified upon graduation. The new program approval will have a bearing on a student's application to teach in other states.

FAYETTEVILLE - On Monday morning 32 student teachers from Methodist College reported for practice teaching duties at 10 different high schools.

Nine of the 10 schools are in Cumberland County with three of them in the city system. The remaining school is in Guilford County, near Greensboro.

Fourteen of the interns will do their practice teaching in the field of English, three in mathematics, two in biology, three in Spanish, three in French and seven in social studies.

Student teachers will work in their respective locations during the remainder of the college semester, approximately eight weeks. They will teach classes for at least 90 hours. Periodic seminars are slated at Methodist College for exchange of ideas and experiences as work proceeds.

Various members of the Methodist College faculty, specialists in the subject areas represented in the group, will assist in the supervision of the interns and in the evaluation of their work as student teachers.

These cooperating staff members are Professors Robert B. Ambrose, math; A. R. Barker, English; Pauline Longest, biology; Bruce R. Pulliam, social studies; and Charles G. Rowe, modern languages.

In the group of 32 student teachers are three college graduates. The interns, their permanent residences, subject area and school in which they will teach are as follows:

Fayetteville Senior High School: Gloria Autry and Mary Fermanides, both of Fayetteville, Spanish; Allen Hayes, a graduate of Burlington, biology; and Eugene B. Smith of Fayetteville, mathematics.

Horace Sisk Junior High School: Linda Bunce of Stedman, Rt. 1, and Aileen Jackson (Mrs. Charles F.) of Fayetteville, English; and Nancy McDuffie of Fayetteville, Spanish.

Alexander Graham Junior High School: William Council of White Oak, biology; Margaret Heliotis of Fayetteville, English; and Larry Tew, a graduate of Fayetteville, social studies.

Sumner High School (Guilford County): Jean Sheppard (Mrs. E. M.) of Wade, Rt. 1, English.

FAYETTEVILLE -- "I am thankful for the men who are today in Viet Nam," said Dr. L. Stacy Weaver, president of Methodist College during the Thanksgiving chapel service at the college Wednesday.

"I don't know what the answer is to the present situation but one thing is clear to me and that is that the time for protest is past. We are now in the conflict.

"If we were going to protest it should have been (1) when John Foster Dulles put the United States into SEATO. If we wanted to be isolationists and cut ourselves off from the rest of the world we should have said so then. (2) When President Eisenhower sent military advisors to Viet Nam. (3) When President Kennedy put arms into the hands of these men and told them if we were shot at to shoot back.

"Now that we are sending drafted men into Viet Nam to face bullets, I, for one, am not going to do anything to increase their difficulty. I will support them in every way that I can."

Commenting further on the Thanksgiving observance, President Weaver reminded his audience that our affluence today is detracting from our gratitude. "Thanksgiving," he said, "was born and proclaimed in times of adversity."

He also expressed his thankfulness for the spiritual foundations of America; the freedoms which we enjoy, especially the freedom to govern ourselves; for the great men of the past and the present; for friends and for parents who at times were not afraid to say no. He reminded students that when they have children of their own they will appreciate this last point.

Thanksgiving holidays began at the college at 5 p.m. Wednesday. Classes will resume at 8:30 a.m. Monday.

THE NORTH CAROLINA CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

For immediate release

Sunday afternoon, November 26, was another significant day in the development of Camp Rockfish at Parkton and located in the Fayetteville District of the North Carolina Conference of The Methodist Church.

It was on this date that three buildings were formally dedicated in services held on the grounds at 3 p.m. The three buildings dedicated were The Benjamin P. Robinson Lodge, The Florrie Upchurch Cameron Cabin, and The Ruth Sedberry Olive Cabin.

The Service of Dedication was presided over by The Reverend Graham S. Eubank, District Superintendent of the Fayetteville District. Other ministers participating in the service were Dr. C. P. Morris, Executive Secretary of the Conference Board of Education; The Reverend Brooks Patton, pastor of the Jonesboro Heights Methodist Church, Sanford; The Reverend W. J. Neese, pastor of Haymount Methodist Church; and Dr. C. D. Barclift, pastor of Hay Street Methodist Church.

Following the dedication service inside the Benjamin P. Robinson Lodge, the group moved out of doors for the unveiling of the dedicatory plaques which had been erected on each of the three buildings.

Joe Beth Allen, daughter of Bob Allen and great granddaughter of The Reverend Mr. Robinson, unveiled the plaque designating The Benjamin P. Robinson Lodge as the gift of the D. R. Allen family in loving memory of The Reverend Benjamin P. Robinson.

Mr. Robinson was born in Cumberland County August 27, 1880, and died in Raeford, November 26, 1952. He served for 40 years as pastor in the North Carolina Conference. He is survived by the following children:

Mrs. D. R. Allen, Mrs. Frances Davis, and B. O. Robinson of Fayetteville; Mrs. James E. Harkins, Pekin, Illinois, and E. H. Robinson of Seattle, Washington.

The unveiling of the dedicatory plaque for The Florrie Upchurch Cameron Cabin was done by a granddaughter, Diane Upchurch, daughter of Clyde E. Upchurch, Jr., of Raeford. This cabin is the gift of the Upchurch Milling Company of Raeford and honors Mrs. Florrie Upchurch Cameron who was present for the dedication.

Mrs. Cameron was born in Moore County May 19, 1892, the daughter of the late Thomas Benton and Mollie Johnson Upchurch. She married Hugh Archie Cameron, and they had six children: Thomas Upchurch, Hubert Alexander, Donald Bennett, Mollie Johnson (Mrs. David Tuttle, deceased), Sarah Marie (Mrs. Vernon Brown, Jr.), Florence Louise (Mrs. James Weaver), all of Raeford, North Carolina. There are 14 grandchildren and 4 great grandchildren. Mr. Cameron died November 7, 1949.

"Miss Florrie" contributed her time and abilities unselfishly in directing the work connected with dinners and other projects helping to raise money for the building of the present Methodist Church in Raeford. She has served as Sunday School teacher, member of the Official Board, president of the WSCS and chairman of many important committees. She was the first president of the Raeford Woman's Club, has served as president of Hoke County P.T.A. Council, vice-president of Hoke County Red Cross, chairman of the Welfare Department and worked for the children of the county through and with the Health Board. During World War II she organized two USO units in the county. In 1963 she was Hoke County's Mother of the Year.

The Ruth Sedberry Olive Cabin is the gift of Dr. Clarence Sedberry Olive of Fayetteville in memory of his mother. The dedicatory plaque was unveiled by Dr. Olive's daughter Tresse.

Mrs. Olive was born in Fayetteville November 5, 1894 and died September 29, 1965. She was the daughter of Clarence and Fanny Sedberry. She married Dr. Robert M. Olive of Fayetteville. They have three children: Dr. Robert M. Olive, Jr., Dr. Clarence S. Olive and Mrs. Ruth Olive Neittman.

Mrs. Olive was a lifetime member of the Hay Street Methodist Church where she was active through the years in the Women's work in the church.

Following the dedication services a reception was held in the Benjamin P. Robinson Lodge where refreshments were served by Mrs. Gene Clayton and Mrs. Robert Reed. Mr. Clayton is Director of Camp Rockfish and Mr. Reed is Superintendent of Camps.
