METHODIST COLLEGE TO HOST ANNUAL MYF SESSION

FAYETTEVILLE - Over three hundred Methodist young people from eastern North Carolina will converge on the Methodist College campus Monday, July 21 for a week of inspiration, instruction and fellowship.

Coming to Methodist College for the fourth year is the Annual Conference Session (ACS) of The United Methodist Youth Fellowship. Delegates to ACS come from churches in the North Carolina Conference of The United Methodist Church. Each local church may send one delegate.

The program, which begins Monday afternoon and continues through Friday morning, features the Rev. William Finlator of Raleigh as speaker each morning.

Classes will be conducted during the week on the nature, purpose and mission of The United Methodist Youth Fellowship. Returning ACS delegates who have previously taken such classes will be offered specialized courses in self-understanding and world problems and the relevance of Christianity.

Each evening delegates will select one of ten topics ranging from studies of contemporary life on screen and stage to audio-visual previews of local church programs.

Among the week's offerings are the drama, "Fire on the Earth," to be presented Monday afternoon by the youth group from Centenary United Methodist Church in Smithfield. The film, "Becket," will be shown also.

Delegates will elect on Thursday the 1969-70 president of the 15,000 Methodist young people in eastern North Carolina.

Dear Phebe:

I am sure you have heard through Mrs. Longest and your secretary that our Administrative Board voted to invite the high school group for which you are responsible to meet in Reeves Auditorium on October 25. There will not be any charge for the use of the auditorium.

I don't see how our cafeteria will be able to feed 1,100 for lunch. Maybe we can work something else out.

If you wish to accept this invitation, please notify me.

Sincerely yours,

Bill Lowdermilk

Dear Bill:

How great it was this morning to receive your letter of invitation to the Future Teachers to hold their convention in Reeves Auditorium on October 25. Please express my sincere appreciation to your Administrative Board for its generosity in offering us the facility without charge.

I feel sure we can work something out about lunch without swamping your cafeteria. As much as we all like barbecue, to be sure we can manage to have some catered out there from someone in town.

Indeed we do accept the invitation and will continue to be grateful for the opportunity to hold our convention on your fine campus.

Cordially yours,

Mrs. Phebe H. Emmons
