Graduation Speakers Announced by Methodist College

Jean Hutchinson, Assistant Director of Public Relations - 488-7110, Ext. 228

Speakers for the May 14-15 graduation activities at Methodist College have been announced by Dr. L. S. Weaver, president.

Dr. Wilson O. Weldon, editor of "The Upper Room," will preach the baccalaureate sermon in Reeves Auditorium, May 14 at 11:00 a.m. Dr. R. Wright Spears, president of Columbia College, will address graduating seniors at 10:30 a.m., May 15, in the auditorium.

Born in Camden, S. C., Weldon holds a B. A. degree from the University of South Carolina, a B. D. degree from Duke University and a Doctor of Divinity degree from High Point College. Active for many years in concerns of the N. C. Conference of the United Methodist Church, he has served as a delegate to numerous church conferences in the nation, has served on the General Board of Evangelism and is a member of the American Executive Committee of the World Methodist Council. He is a trustee of Greensboro College, Scarritt College, Duke University, the Methodist Home and Lake Junaluska Assembly. Author of several religious books, Weldon has been editor of "The Upper Room," published in Nashville, Tenn., since 1967.

Spears is a native of Clio, S. C. He received his A. B. degree from Wofford College, his B. D. degree from Duke University and the Doctor of Divinity degree from Wofford College. He served as chairman of the S. C. Commission on Higher Education Facilities and has recently chaired the Governor's Interagency Council on Mental Retardation Planning. He is a member of the General Board of Education of the United Methodist Church and has been a delegate to conferences of the church since 1956. On August 1, 1951, he assumed duties as president of Columbia College.

There are 154 candidates for degrees in the class of 1972 at Methodist College.

Other activities scheduled for the graduation weekend include a day of events for alumni on May 13. Sports events, musical entertainment and an informal dinner at the new campus amphitheater and a class of '67 fifth year reunion are planned.

Few names are known to more North Carolinians than that of Sam Ragan. That name will become even more familiar now that he has been appointed North Carolina's first secretary of art, culture, and history.

Samuel Talmadge Ragan's living has been made through journalism, but his interests have spanned the entire cultural spectrum. A native of Granville County, he rose from editor of a little paper in the tiny hamlet of Hemp through responsible positions with several larger papers to the executive editorship of the News and Observer and Raleigh Times. More recently he edited the Pilot, a paper in Southern Pines that will continue to be published by his wife, the former Marjorie Usher. He has been president of such journalism organizations as the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, the North Carolina News Council, and the Eastern North Carolina Press Association; director of the American Society of Newspaper Editors; and currently he is vice-president of the North Carolina Press Association. He is the author of books on a variety of subjects, such as Free Press and Fair Trial; The New Day, a study of the Sanford administration; Dixie Looked Away, an analysis of the 1964 elections; and two books of poetry, The Tree in the Far Pasture and To the Water's Edge. He is coauthor with Mrs. Elizabeth Stevenson Ives of Back to Beginnings, a book about Adlai Stevenson and his forebears in and connections with North Carolina. Even more prolific have been his articles in national and state journals. His "Southern Accent" column in the News and Observer was a widely read review of the literature and culture of North Carolina; and his current television program, "Sam Ragan Reports," is frequently devoted to these subjects.

In the midst of all his writing, Mr. Ragan has found time to teach university courses and to participate actively in cultural and historical affairs. He is a former vice-president of the North Carolina Literary and Historical Association and is currently a director of the Roanoke Island Historical Association. He has taken an active interest in the work of the Moore County Historical Association.

When Governor Scott looked for a person to head the state's new historical and cultural agency, he made an almost universal first choice—a man whose entire career has demonstrated that he is a "Friend of History."

Methodist Club Proud of Progress

By: Methodist College Staff
488-7110, ext. 228

The Methodist College baseball team plays at Elon College at 3:00 p.m. today. Leading the Dixie Conference and District 29, 7-1, the Monarchs are ~~k~~ rightfully proud of their club's progress in five years.

Coach Bruce Shelley remembers when the baseball park was a cornfield. Constantly searching for talent, he said, "Within a couple of years the Monarchs will be capable of playing most of the colleges around."

In 1967 the Methodist College Student Government Association president and a group ~~of~~ of interested athletes drew up a petition asking for a baseball team, passed it before the student body, and presented it to the board of trustees. The trustees passed it and the M. C. baseball program began.

One of the first problems was getting a ~~fix~~ field for the first season. With the help of the college's maintenance department, the baseball team built a temporary playing field and the first season got underway. The results of the first two years were hard for Shelley to accept, as his club won only four games during this ~~ix~~ time. Methodist College faced real challenges, playing established clubs -- Pembroke, Campbell, Guilford, Elon and others.

The third year brought some improvement. The Monarchs built a permanent field, supervised by their hard-driving, talented coach. Now they have a "suitable park" in which to play. Recruiting began to pay off; the club won seven games and lost fifteen in 1971. (Seven games were lost by one run.) Several junior college players were brought in, giving the new team ability and experience needed.

Shelley pointed out that the progress of the Methodist Club was the result of recruiting. Almost every player on the team was actively recruited. He is rapidly building Methodist as a contender by recruiting several good junior college men each year and bringing in the best freshmen he can find.

The formula seems to work, as the Methodist record shows:

	Wins	Losses
NAIA District 29	7	1
DIAC Conference	7	1
Overall play	10	5

Shelley feels that the spirit and attitude of the club has been a big factor in its success. He said, "The fellows pick each other up when someone makes an error or a mistake...and they are a close-knit group." He stressed, "Methodist doesn't have any one big star but a group of young men who are dedicated, hustle and want to play baseball."

The Methodist Coach gave a quick introduction to his club:

A Catcher: Buster Sanderford from Zebulon, Louisburg College transferee, co-captain, All-Conference Player last year, "excellent receiver, good quarterback."

First base: Jerry Neal from Durham, "good potential, good defense, swings the bat well."

Second base: Dick McInnis from Fayetteville, ~~good defense~~ ~~co-captain~~, "good defense, a lot of hustle."

Short stop: Jimmy Dean from ~~Clayton~~ Wendell, "lead off man, can ~~get on~~ run bases well."

Third base: Larry Philpott from Norfolk, Va., Chowan College transferee, "helped tighten up infield, good range and good bunter."

Left field: Fletcher Poulk from Stedman, "has experience, hitting the ball well, wants to play."

Center field: Ken Womack from Durham, "excellent outfielder, covers a lot of territory, capable hitter."

Right fielder: Frank Layton from Rocky Mount, Southwood College ~~xxxxxx~~ transferee, "good hitter, playing a new position."

Pitchers:	Wins	Losses
Barry Willard (Charlottesville, Va.)	4	0
Phil Mullen (Raleigh)	4	2
Glem Hinnant (Wendell)	2	2
Fletcher Poulk (Fayetteville)	0	1
Gary Lewis (Marshallberg)
David Byrd (Erwin)

Other players on the team are Pete Dowd, Bricktown, N. J., second base; Howard Boyer, Laurel, Md., outfield; Craig Knight, St. Petersburg, Fla., outfield and infield; and Don Leatherman, Kinston, catcher.

~~After~~ After Elon, Methodist faces Lynchburg College here, May 25, doubleheader, 1:00 and 3:00 p.m.; UNC-Wilmington there, May 28, 7:~~4~~30 and p.m.; Lynchburg there, May 1, 1:00 and 3:00 p.m.; Pembroke there, May 2, 3:15 p.m.

Shelley, who likes to be a winner in all he does, said that he has to be pleased with the progress of the program, but he is not satisfied. So the search for more and better talent goes on.

METHODIST COLLEGE BASEBALL PROGRAM IS MATURING

Five years ago Eddie Barber (S.G.A. President) and a group of interested athletes drew up a petition asking for a baseball team, passed it before the student body, and presented it to the board of trustees. The trustees passed it and the M.C. baseball program was started. was getting a field for the first season.
