Methodist College has won honorable mention for "the best bill presented to the North Carolina Student Legislature from a small school."

Announcement of the award was made this past weekend in Raleigh at the NCSL State Convention.

According to Methodist College senior, Miss Alice Stuckey of Raleigh, the bill presented by the Methodist delegation called "for the abolishment of corporal punishment in public schools."

Miss Stuckey, secretary of the Methodist College SGA Senate, also explained "our delegation presented the USA(United Student Appeal) Resolution, which passed by acclamation in both houses at the convention. The USA will be a yearly fund drive(hopefully nationwide) on college campuses. This year's charity is the cancer society. We hope each college will collect 25¢ from every student and in turn, send the collection to us at Methodist College. When the drive is completed, we will present the checks to the Cancer Society."

Members of the Methodist delegation included: Mike Casey of Williamsburg, Va., president of the Methodist SGA Senate and attorney general for the State NCSL; Miss Stuckey; Jim Hundley of Richmond, Va., chairperson of the Methodist delegation and also State Chaplain for NCSL; Gail Roberts of Goldsboro; Ken Daniels of St. Pauls, Brenda Hester of Bladenboro, Al Hare of Somerville, N.J., and Danise Dodd of Wilmington, N.C.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE WITH PHOTOGRAPH

FAYETTEVILLE--

William P. Lowdermilk, a native of Norman, has been named assistant to the President of Methodist College in Fayetteville.

In announcing the appointment today, Methodist College President Dr. Richard W. Pearce said "I know of no one better qualified for the work which has to be done. Lowdermilk is widely known in the Methodist Church(both on the local and Conference levels); in Fayetteville and on the Alumni Councils. I'm sure everyone will be as pleased with his appointment as I am."

Son of Mrs. Jennie W. Lowdermilk of Norman, and the late Dallas Lowdermilk, the new assistant is a graduate of Emory University and of Duke University Divinity School.

Lowdermilk joined the Methodist College staff as assistant director of public relations in 1963, having previously served for five years as minister of Culbreth Memorial United Methodist Church in Fayetteville.

Until his new appointment, Lowdermilk had served as director of public relations at the college since 1968.

He is included in "Who's Who in The Methodist Church" and "Who's Who in American College and University Administration." Lowdermilk is a member of the Communications and Annual Conference Entertainment Committees of the North Carolina Conference of The United Methodist Church.

ATTENTION: Public Relations Director

BOARD OF ADVISORS

Dear Sir:

The educators from your college who are named on the enclosed News Release have been selected to appear in the 1974-75 edition of OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS OF AMERICA.

Nominated earlier this year by the administrators of your college, they have been honored for their exceptional academic accomplishments and civic contributions.

Your educators' complete biographical sketches will be featured in the annual awards volume, OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS OF AMERICA, which includes special introductory messages from prominent Americans. Last year's introductory message, given by Professor Arthur Bestor of the University of Washington, spoke of teaching as "mankind's oldest art." That of "every element of intellectual power that mankind today possesses...most has, in fact, been deliberately taught!"

As inclusion in this Awards Volume is a distinct national honor for these educators, we suggest that your college news bureau send the enclosed release to your nominees' home town newspapers. You might also want to feature these educators in your alumni publication and campus paper.

I would appreciate receiving clippings of articles that appear in your school or alumni publication.

Sincerely,

Those named above have been chosen Outstanding Educators of America for 1974, according to Methodist College. Nominated earlier this year, they were selected for this honor on the basis of their professional and civic achievements.

Outstanding Educators of America is an annual awards program honoring distinguished men and women for their exceptional service, achievements, and leadership in the field of education,

Each year, those chosen Outstanding Educators are featured in the national awards volume -- OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS OF AMERICA.

Nominations for the program are made by the officials of colleges and universities including presidents, deans and department heads. Their selection guidelines include an educator's talents in the classroom, contributions to research, administrative abilities, civic service and professional recognition.

Arthur Bestor, Professor of History, University of Washington in Seattle, writes in the introductory message for the 1973 edition of OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS OF AMERICA, "Of the millions of persons who together possess the knowledge and skill that sustain civilization, only a handful were alive a hundred years ago ... every element of intellectual power that mankind today possesses has had to be learned anew by the persons now alive ... we can heartily wish to the educators named in this volume, and to their colleagues everywhere -- a lifelong enjoyment of the rewards that should, and the satisfactions that do, go with teaching."

Heading the Outstanding Educators Board of Advisors is Dr. V. Gilbert Beers, Director. Serving with him are O.J. Byrnside, Jr.,

METHODIST'S JIMMY DEAN CHOSEN
DISTRICT 29 "BASEBALL PLAYER OF WEEK"

PEMBROKE--Jimmy Dean, Methodist's third baseman who won two games for the Monarchs last week with his clutch hitting, has been chosen NAIA District 29's first "Baseball Player of the Week" for the 1974 season.

Dean, a senior from Clayton, doubled in the first run as Methodist shut out Wake Forest 2-0 in the first game of a doubleheader.

Later in the week against Salisbury State, he singled with the bases loaded in the fourth inning to bat in two runs--and hammered a one-run single in the fifth frame. This accounted for three runs in Methodist's winning 5-1 performance.

An All-Dixie Conference shortstop last season, Dean was moved to third base this season. He has responded with a .340 batting average and nine RBIs. Last week he hit at a .400 clip.

UNC-Wilmington's lefthander, Paul Fulton, a junior from Jacksonville, N.C., also had a fine week, stopping Guilford 7-1 on a six-hitter in which he fanned seven and also hurling a 12-3 win over Yale in which he scattered 12 hits. Fulton has a 2-0 record for the campaign.

Atlantic Christian's Richard Arthur, a freshman from Beaufort, hurled a five-hitter as the Bulldogs nipped St. Andrews 2-1 in a District 29 game. He fanned four and walked one. Arthur retired the last eight batters in order and yielded only two hits in the last five innings.

Overall, the district got off to a rough start, the 12 teams having a combined overall record of 17-28.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

FAYETTEVILLE--

A USA Program will be launched Wednesday, March 20 at Methodist College.

According to Methodist College junior, Fred Paddock, chairman of the program along with junior Mike Casey, "USA stands for United Student Appeal. The program was initiated earlier this month through a resolution submitted by the Methodist College delegation to the State Convention of the North Carolina Student Legislature, held in Raleigh."

"Our aim during the drive is to collect 25¢ from each student at Methodist College. Once we have reached our 100 per cent goal, we will present a check for the total amount to this year's chosen charity, the American Cancer Society."

"Each succeeding year, a different college and a different charity will be selected for the United Student Appeal. We hope the idea of the USA will grow into millions of dollars to help the country. We are encouraging all colleges, whether large or small, to participate."

The Methodist College booth will be located in the college's Student Union. Hours of operation will be from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday. The Methodist USA program will end at noon Friday, March 29.

At 6:30 p.m. March 29, a check will be presented by the students to representatives from the American Cancer Society. North Carolina Gov. James Holshouser and Lt. Gov. James Hunt are expected to attend.

FAYETTEVILLE--

Soni Martin, a senior painting major at Pembroke State University, will have a one-woman show from March 25 through April 6 in the Lobby of the Fine Arts Building at Methodist College.

A reception Sunday, March 24, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Lobby of the Fine Arts Building will open Miss Martin's show of "paintings and drawings of secret places and other cryptic things."

Some pieces exhibited will be offered for sale.

Miss Martin says her interest in painting was influenced by five different people. "My parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Martin of 717 Hay St., are both self-employed interior decorators. Although I didn't receive any formal art training before college, my parents' occupation has had an indirect influence on a few rudiments such as basic design, balance and color."

"A former painting instructor at PSU, J.D. Kelly, was the first person who actually introduced me to painting," the artist explained. "Through his patience, I was able to develop an insatiable love for art and began to develop my own ideas about the nature of artistic integrity."

Miss Martin says the person who has had the greatest direct influence on her is Tom Speck, the immediate painting instructor at PSU. "He laboriously instructed me the relationships between idea, image, technique and form. Mr. Speck, teacher and innovator in the field of painting, probed each student to search for their personal idiom: the artists' aim, making a painting unique and what gives it expressive power."

The final person is Rock Kershaw, an art department faculty member at PSU. "He influenced me to seek outside knowledge through constant researching."

Miss Martin still considers her art to be "imitative of too many photographic images. Yet, ironically members of the painting profession have an emotional need to study pictures. Sometimes, the painter finds that information of which he has no consciousness will have filtered into his lower mind and dictate the performance of the brush. This is all necessary in the painters' search for self."

"My transformation of ideas on a canvas usually includes the figure which I have a genuine need to develop as far as possible although representational, my figures are a symbol of a spiritually love race of humans-creatures seeking salvation but never finding it," the artist explained.

Miss Martin says although she uses both acrylic and oil, she has a fondness for acrylic. "I am better able to execute a vigorous brushstroke which tattle-tales on my impatient nature."

She sees herself as an angry artist as "women are not taken seriously. A feeling does exist that women aren't expected to achieve much beyond a corporate image or in my case- a hobby painter. It is difficult enough for any artist to work consistently and if the artist faces a constant lack of expectation, then motivation can be seriously dampered."

METHODIST'S SAM TOLER
WINS "BASEBALL PLAYER OF WEEK"

PEMBROKE--Sam Toler, a Methodist College sophomore from Hope Mills, hurled a no-hit, no-run game against Lynchburg Saturday to win NAIA District 29 "Baseball Player of the Week" honors in the 12-team district.

The victory for Toler was his third against no defeats this campaign. He struck out five and walked three. He blanked Lynchburg despite the fact that his teammates committed three errors behind him.

Toler's pitching has helped Methodist get off to the fastest start of any district team with a 2-0 district record and overall 8-3 mark.

Virginia Wesleyan, which has a 5-1 record, was led to three wins in four tries during the week by center fielder Earl Jordan. He had seven hits in 13 appearances for a .539 average, driving in two of Virginia Wesleyan's three runs in the sweep of a twin bill against N. C. Wesleyan and also having an RBI against Virginia State.

UNC-Wilmington won five of six during the week. One of its stars was right fielder Bo Pittman who hit a grand slam homer and double to drive in five runs as the Seahawks beat Dartmouth 8-2 Friday.

Atlantic Christian, capturing three of four during the week, was led by left fielder Larry Moser with six hits in 13 appearances for a .462 average. One of those hits was a double. He had three RBIs during the week. Another Bulldog player, catcher Donnie Koontz, hammered three doubles and a triple for a .333 hitting week and drove in five runs.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Five $20 cash prizes along with five honorable mentions have been awarded in the First Annual Spring Art Festival at Methodist College's Student Union.

Judging for the exhibit, which continues until Saturday, March 30, took place Monday afternoon.

Awarded blue ribbons and the $20 cash prizes were Terry Franks, a Methodist student, for "Untitled", wood; Gwen Howell of Fayetteville for "Fleeting Moments", pencil; LeAnna Buchanan of Ft. Bragg for "Stonehenge", batik; Mrs. Gerri Tomaselli of Fayetteville for "Glorious ly True", oil; and Jim Anderson of Ft. Bragg for "Mountain Man", clay.

Receiving honorable mentions were Mrs. Susan Francis of Fayetteville for "Apples", oil; and Methodist students, Lee Warren for "Salvation From A Sidewalk", oil on wood; John Elkins for "The Wedding, photography; Mrs. Janet Stotts for "Untitled", blockprint, and for "Sea Shells", oil.

According to Donald Green, assistant professor of art at Methodist, "the judges picked their five favorites. This was a new approach to judging... getting away from prizes for specific categories."

Judges were Syed Yunus, art instructor, Fayetteville State University; Jack Mitchell, art instructor, Terry Sanford Senior High School; and Mrs. Marilyn Hartness, Fayetteville School of Art.
