FAYETTEVILLE--Miss Evelyn B. Bonner, a Methodist College senior art education major, is exhibiting her art work through Oct. 11 in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building on campus. The public can view the work weekdays between 8 a.m.-5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Miss Bonner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Bonner, 305 E. Lee St., Benson.

The exhibit, entitled "Expressions of Creativity," contains about 40 pieces of various media including oil, acrylic, graphics, pastels, and many others.

"With the competent instruction and guidance of Mrs. Eleanor Howell and Mr. Donald Green, both professors of art at Methodist, I have gained an extensive knowledge of art and a deep appreciation for art," Miss Bonner says. The 1971 graduate of South Johnson High School also says that she is interested in all forms of art especially painting, graphic art, and crafts.

Miss Bonner's first interest in art was the result of her father's influence along with the influence of Mrs. Frances Layfield who taught private art lessons in Benson several years ago. Although Miss Bonner never actually studied art until she came to Methodist in 1971, she says she has always had an interest and a love for art. Several of her relatives have also influenced her, but Miss Bonner's father, who has painted for several years, has always "been my greatest source of inspiration."

Miss Bonner says that her philosophy of art is that, "Art is for everyone. Actually my philosophy can only be described as it relates to education in the public school. I feel that art gives each student an equal opportunity for self expression as well as the development of creativity. It is also a very important means of motivation for each student."

ON CAMPUS

Methodist College

FAYETTEVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA

VOL. X, No. 2
Friday, Sept. 27, 1974

ADMINFO: In order to keep faculty as fully informed as possible on matters of an administrative nature, ON CAMPUS will begin with this issue the practice of citing pertinent actions taken by the Administrative Committee. (We have coined the topical abbreviation "Adminfo" to guide you to this "administrative information"!) Recent policy decisions include:

Convocations: Eight to be held each semester. Faculty and staff expected to attend. Library and snack bar to be closed this hour.

College Vehicles (Use): May be used by campus groups and organizations (faculty sponsors please note) WHEN AVAILABLE, on a first-come, first-serve basis IF THE ACTIVITY INVOLVED "IS IN KEEPING WITH THE PURPOSE FOR WHICH THE ORGANIZATION WAS ESTABLISHED." Certain staff needs and athletics department needs must be provided for, with priorities thereafter applied in order as follows: (1) a group going out to represent the college; (2) a professional group--art or music, or some service group such as sociologists engaged, for example, in a program of community service; (3) social organizations engaged in college-approved activities.

Special Programs: When college facilities are used for programs supplementing academic or cultural offerings of the college, all revenues in excess of the required expenditures will be used to help offset the operational costs incurred by the college.

Women's Athletics: In view of new federal regulations concerning equal treatment and opportunities, regardless of sex of students, Methodist College will move at once to the development of intercollegiate sports programs for women students.

FACULTY MEETS: Don't forget the next regular meeting of the faculty--Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 4:00 p.m., Science Bldg. Auditorium.

PERSONAL ITEMS: Mr. Parker Wilson and Mr. Ray Kinder will attend a Carolina History Symposium on British Studies, at Appalachian State University, Boone, N.C., on Oct. 12-13; Mrs. Jean Ishee is in New York today attending a meeting at the Manhattan School of Music (International House); . . . Dr. Sudhakar Gautam is in Chapel Hill this week-end attending a two-day National Symposium on the State of America's Drinking Water. . . . he had previously taken members of the Economics and Business Club to Chapel Hill for a session of the North Carolina Land Use Congress. . . Mr. Bruce Pulliam has been asked to represent Methodist College at a meeting at Fayetteville's City Hall on Tuesday night, Oct. 1, at which time plans for establishment of a Fayetteville-Cumberland County History Museum will be discussed. . . Mr. Arthur Frutchey, father of Mrs. Robert S. Christian, has been admitted to Cape Fear Hospital for examination and treatment. His specific illness had not been diagnosed at ON CAMPUS press time, although severe pain had been experienced in the back. Methodist College friends of the Frutcheys may wish to phone or send cards. The address (residence) is 5148 Hewitt Drive, Fayetteville. . . Mr. B. L. Crisp's topic for Ph. D. dissertation has been accepted (U. of South Carolina). He also has been elected president of the Methodist Collegechapter, N.C.A.E. Mr. Don Green had entries in the North Carolina Museum of Art exhibition last fall, which has led to sale of one of his works to North Carolina National Bank, noted as a patron of the arts. . . Dr. Fred McDavid has been selected for the honor of inclusion among "Outstanding Educators of America" for 1974-75. This recognizes individual contributions to the advancement of education and service to community. . . Mr. Earl Martin has been presented with an American National Red Cross Volunteer Award. . . Dr. L. P. Plyler has also been included among "Outstanding Educators of America" for 1974-75. . . . Mr. Alan Porter served as assistant coach of the "College Lake Pirates" baseball team during the past summer (his boys came in second)... in addition to serving as Director for the Methodist College chapter of Alpha Xi Delta fraternity, Mrs. Elaine Porter has been elected secretary of the Hay Street Methodist Church choir. . . . Mr. Parker Wilson has been named to the Board of Directors of the Fayetteville Little Theatre.

HOME COMING'S COMING! Watch your calendar of events provided by Bob Turner for details. The initial plans included special events on October 4 and 5--the 'Miss Boiler Plant' pageant, cultural highlight of the year, has been eliminated from the schedule. . . but a soccer game. . . a picnic. . . a varsity-alumni basketball game. . . sidewalk art. . . and musical specials are all on a rich bill of fare.

MUSIC WORKSHOP: The Music Workshop conducted on campus last week by Mrs. Grace Nash, nationally known authority in music education, drew an attendance of more than 80 public school teachers of the Fayetteville and Cumberland County systems, as well as more than 20 Methodist College students. It was an outstanding success. Major credit goes to Mrs. Jean Ishee for the planning and arrangements.

REPORTS, REPORTS: Some faculty still need to turn in: (1) their Annual Report to the Dean; (2) a report on the status of their class attendance policies for the current year; (3) a report on any changes in syllabi for courses now being taught--and if no change is involved, a report to that effect. Please!

THE BELLS, BELLS, BELLS! It would be Poe sportsmanship not to let the faculty know that the long-awaited bells for the projected Handbell Choir have now arrived and are being put to use, use, use. Within a few hours after their unpacking the bells were in the hands of talented student members of the Choir and were ringing merrily away in the lobby of Reeves Auditorium, under the spirited direction of Director Edgar Alan Porter! (Ed.-our apologies for taking liberties, Mr. Porter!) The first appearance of this new musical aggregation in concert is being eagerly awaited.

METHODIST HOLDS HOMECOMING

FAYETTEVILLE--Miss Mary L. "Dusty" Woodbury is the 1974 Homecoming Queen of Methodist College.

The flaxen-haired beauty was crowned in halftime ceremonies during Saturday afternoons soccer game with Lynchburg College. A special feature of the halftime shows was the appearance of all nine previous homecoming queens.

Dusty, a senior elementary education major, is a native of Jacksonville. She is captain of the cheerleaders, a Dean's List student, and a member of the College Chorus and English Handbell Ensemble.

Members of Dusty's court are: Brenda Hester, first runner-up; Suzanne Grubb, second runner-up; Sylvia Landis, third runner-up; and Laura Sullivan, fourth runner-up.

Homecoming weekend actually began Thursday evening with a bonfire, pep rally, and concert featuring folk singer Donna Beasley.

The bonfire was actually bonfires ie. there were two-one built by the freshmen and one built by the upperclassmen. The upperclassmen began stacking their wood Wednesday afternoon in order to get a head start. Inexplicably, their pile "accidentally" caught fire Wednesday night. They started anew Thursday morning but could not overtake the freshmen. Thus, the frosh ended up having the largest fire Thursday night.

Friday was "Spanish Day" as the Spanish Club sponsored a taco sale in the Student Union at noontime.

Saturday's activities began with the Sidewalk Chalk Drawing contest around the Yarborough Bell Tower. The $50 first prize was won by Arthur Ferguson; the $25 second prize was won by 10-year-old Greg Porter, son of Prof. and Mrs. Alan

Saturday's activities began with the Sidewalk Chalk Drawing contest around the Yarborough Bell Tower. The $50 first prize was won by Arthur Fergison; the $25 second prize was won by 10-year-old Greg Porter, son of Prof. and Mrs. Alan Porter; the $10 third prize was taken by Steve Holland; and five-year-old Kristen Church, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buz Church, both alumni from the class of '67, received an honorable mention.

Sanford Hall won the Dorm Decorating Contest. Judges were Mrs. Appie Bolton, '69, and Mrs. Verna Hash, both art teachers at Pine Forest Senior High School.

The alumni won an exhibition game over this year's baseball team 6-5 in an extra inning Saturday morning. Phil Mullen, '74, now a pitcher in the White Sox organization was credited with the win.

Also, Saturday morning, John Young finished first in a time of 28:13 to lead Methodist to a Homecoming cross country victory over St. Andrews by a score of 24-31. The win lifted Methodist to 3-0 for the year.

Karoly Molnar was Methodist College's Most Valuable Player in the 2-0 soccer game loss to Lynchburg Saturday afternoon. Methodist is now 2-4 in soccer while Lynchburg is 5-0-1. Judges for the MVP trophy were Terry Boose, captain of the 1966 team; Carl Ford, captain of the 1967 team; and John Brown, captain of the 1968 team.

The Johnson Murray Memorial Basketball Game, in which alumni were pitted against alumni was won in the final seconds with a clutch free throw by Butch English '73. Athletic Director Gene Clayton coached the winning team while the losing team was coached by former head Monarch Ernie Schwarz. The final score was 57-56, and English also had the most points in the contest with 22.

Homecoming concluded Sunday with a worship service and noon luncheon.

ROGERS APPOINTED
MC ATTORNEY GENERAL

FAYETTEVILLE--The appointment of Royal P. Rogers, Jr., of Fayetteville to the important post of attorney general of the Methodist College Student Government Association has been announced by SGA President Fred Paddock.

Rogers, a 1960 graduate of Oak Ridge Military Institute, Oak Ridge, NC, is a captain in the U.S. Army completing his undergraduate training at Methodist under the Army's Degree Completion Program.

The senior is the son of Mrs. Clellie Costa of Wake Forest. He plans to graduate with a double major in business/sociology and a minor in psychology.

His position as "chief lawyer" for the SGA requires that he indict and prosecute those who violate the student-adopted constitution.

While attending Methodist, Rogers has been a Dean List student, and he was a charter member of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

SWOPE AND WILSON INSTALLED AS MC FOUNDATION DIRECTORS

John H. Swope and James H. Wilson were installed as directors at the October meeting yesterday of the Methodist College Foundation. The new directors were installed by Dr. Charles M. Speegle, president of the foundation, at a noon luncheon on campus.

They join 31 other Fayetteville citizens who serve on the Board of Directors which meets monthly to provide and promote support of the college.

Swope is executive director of the Fayetteville Area Industrial Development Corporation. Wilson is president of Rankin Brothers Manufacturing Corporation.

At the meeting, Treasurer Ray A. Muench, Jr., reported that $73,542.80 in pledges and contributions has been raised during this calendar year.

Dr. Richard W. Pearce, Methodist College president, spoke on the gifts of appreciated property and insurance as two means of undergirding the financial structure of the college.

OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS OPENS AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE--The opening of a new Office of Veterans' Affairs on campus has been announced by Dr. Richard W. Pearce, president of Methodist College.

The office, which is located in the Horner Administration Building, is under the direction of Major Ernest Butler (ret.), veterans' education and training representative.

"My job is to assist veterans in resolving any problems that inhibit their receiving educational benefits to which they're entitled," Butler said. "I also counsel qualified veterans on other benefits they may be entitled to such as housing loans, insurance, other compensation, and medical and dental care."

Butler's hours on campus are 8-12:30 Tuesdays, 8-11 on Wednesdays, and 8-11 on Fridays. In addition, he has two veterans who are attending Methodist full-time, Alan M. Jones and George R. Beldon, assisting him.

Although Butler is on campus only part-time, the office's telephone is manned from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. The telephone number is 488-7110 ext. 266.

FAYETTEVILLE--The opening of a new Office of Veterans' Affairs on campus has been announced by Dr. Richard W. Pearce, president of Methodist College.

The office, which is located in the Horner Administration Building, is under the direction of Major Ernest Butler (ret.), veterans' education and training representative.

"My job is to assist veterans in resolving any problems that inhibit their receiving educational benefits to which they're entitled," Butler said. This semester, Methodist has 117 student who are receiving Veterans' Administration benefits. "A qualified veteran attending school full-time receives $220 a month if single, $261 a month if married, $298 a month if one has a spouse and one dependent, and an additional $18 per month for each additional dependent. Educational benefits can be paid for a maximum of 36 months," said Butler. While in school, if the veteran so desires he can also hold a job without loss of benefits.

In addition, MC has 35 "Bootstrappers." These are military personnel presently serving in the armed forces who have qualified to use their VA benefits before they leave active duty. Since they continue to receive their military pay, VA compensation is $220 a month or tuition and fees--whichever is less.

"Generally, to be eligible for VA compensation, one has to have served a minimum of 181 continuous days of active duty and have an honorable discharge," Butler said.

Butler, a native of Mobile, AL, mentioned that two little-known provisions of the VA Act are Chapters 31 and 35.

Under Chapter 31, a serviceman with 30 per cent or more disability may be eligible to receive training or educational benefits completely funded by Veterans Administration.

Chapter 35 applies to dependents of veterans with 100 per cent disability or survivors of servicemen who died while in the military, or from service connected disability. Under this program, the spouses and children may be eligible for $220 a month while attending school.

Butler, who now resides in Fayetteville with his wife and son, entered the U.S. Army as a private in August, 1948, and retired with the rank of major in January, 1972. Butler served two tours of duty in Southeast Asia during the Vietnamese War. While in the military, he attended the Defense Language Institute at Monterey, CA, and is a graduate of the U.S. Department of State Foreign Service Institute, and studied at the Brookings Institute in Washington, DC.

At present, Butler is studying for the M.S. degree in Adult and Community College Education at North Carolina State University. He holds the B.A. degree in sociology from Fayetteville State University, the North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station

MC RECEIVES

RESEARCH GRANT

A Methodist College research project entitled "Urbanization--Grow Or Not To Grow?" has received a grant of $3,170 from the North Carolina Committee for Continuing Education in the Humanities, according to Dr. Sudhakar Gautam, professor of economics at Methodist.

The economics, population, and cultural growth of Cumberland County will be examined during the four programs. Each one will aim at preparing citizens of this area to better understand and make judgements on practical questions about growth, such as the use of land, or the lack of recreational and/or intellectual resources, according to Dr. Gautam, project director.

The topics for the four programs include: "Urban Growth: Have We Had Enough?"; "Urban Growth: Who Is Calling The Shots?"; "Urban Growth: Who Wins And Who Loses?"; and "Urban Growth: What Does Good Growth Look Like?" Speakers for the program will include a mixture of visiting authorities and local persons who have complementary expertise and background in growth subjects.

The first program will begin by asking whether or not we have had enough growth. The fourth program will consider models for the future including policies needed and qualities which should be encouraged.

Cumberland County, with its unprecedented growth, must consider what are its options and what are the advantages and disadvantages of each along with who decides which of the alternatives will be followed.

METHODIST HOSTS FIELD DAY

FOR EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN

Methodist College was host last Saturday for the third annual field day for exceptional children.

The field day on campus was sponsored by Ethos (Sociology Club) and the Adaptive Physical Education Class. Guests included 50 Hillsboro Street School students and 13 members of the Hillsboro staff, 16 juveniles referred by the Counseling Section of the 12th Judicial Court, and 10 children from lower income families.

Four MC faculty, Mrs. Sondra M. Nobles, Miss Dona L. Davis, Mr. Clifton M. Lecornu, and Mr. Earl D. Martin, and 47 MC students were on hand to help with activities such as parachute play, trampoline, balloon relay, bean bag relay, circle ball, wonder ball, and a nature walk. Carl C. Chandler, Ethos president, was Field Day Coordinator.

The events, which ran from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., broke at 11:30 for a picnic lunch and cookout at the O'Hanlon Amphitheatre.

Prof. Martin, assistant professor of sociology and Ethos adviser, noted, "This experience moved our students beyond the textbook. Many found an identity they did not believe possible. Often they found themselves holding hands or embracing the children for whom personal responses mean so much."

And several MC students backed up Martin's observation. "They give 100 per cent of all they have to everything they do. Some fell asleep during our afternoon entertainment in the amphitheatre. But they woke up when the cheerleaders came on with their cheers and screamed as loud as anyone," one student said. "These children appreciate little things, the things most of us consider inconsequential," another noted.

Mrs. Olivia Smith, head teacher at Hillsboro, concluded, "I can truly say this is the best event we at Hillsboro Street School have ever participated in."

In the spring, the club will have an outing for older adults, drawing participants from the rest homes of Cumberland County.

The club's next activity is the sixth annual Christmas Tour of hospitals, rest homes, schools for metally retarded children, and the Day Care Center for the Mentally Retarded, in early December. Students usually take gifts to the residents of each agency visited.

'INTERNATIONAL NIGHT' SET FOR THURSDAY AT METHODIST

FAYETTEVILLE--Performing arts, music, and costume displays from around the world will be featured at an "International Night For Performing Arts" Thursday, Oct. 24, in Methodist College's Reeves Auditorium. Admission is $1 for adults and 50¢ for students, and tickets can be purchased at the door the night of the performance. The two-hour show begins at 8 p.m.

Performers are being drawn from the 5,000 member international community of Cumberland County. Eighteen different acts and displays representing the Phillipines, Vietnam, India, Japan, Mexico, Great Britain, and Samoa will be featured in the lavish production. Some examples of the acts are a Fire Knife Dance from the South Seas, a Vietnamese Hat Dance, and the Katthak (Classical dance from India).

International Night, marking United Nations Day, is sponsored by OFICE (Organization for International Cultural Exchange), the Methodist College Economics and Business Club, and the Fayetteville Arts Council.

School children from the sixth grade are being especially urged to see the production, as will as arts and dance classes. The sixth grade concentrates on world geography.

Proceeds from the program will be used to underwrite other OFICE and Arts Council Programs. Memberships in OFICE will be available.

OFICE plans to begin a series of cultural programs, film festivals, educational exchanges, meals, and services to families from overseas.

MC HOSTS WORKSHOP

FOR PUBLIC TEACHERS

Methodist College was host to approximately 25 supervising teachers and principals of MC student teachers at a workshop Saturday morning.

In addition to getting acquainted, the group, which also included the 24 MC students in the Teacher Education Program who are interning this semester, heard a panel discussion entitled: "Roles of persons Involved in Student Teaching in Establishing Rapport, Strengthening Communications, and Effecting Cooperative Interaction."

Panelists included: Dr. Fred C. McDavid, monerator; Bob Crisp, director of student teaching; Mr. Raymond Conley, college coordinator; Mr. Harold Warren, Principal of Pine Forest High School; and Mrs. Mary Wilmers and Mrs. Jacqueline McNeil, cooperating teachers, Terry Sanford High.

After the panel discussion, Crisp gave a short talk on "Review of Standard V--Professional Laboratory Experience (Student Teacher Hanbook)."

Saturday's program was conducted by Dr. McDavid who is chairman of the Division of Education at Methodist. Public school teachers participating in the program may earn one unit of credit toward renewal of teaching certificates.

81-YEAR-OLD LOCAL ARTIST TO EXHIBIT AT METHODIST

Mrs. Sudie Culbreth, an 81-year-old local artist, will open an exhibit of her oil paintings Sunday, Oct. 27, with a public reception in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building at Methodist College from 2-4 p.m. The exhibit will continue weekdays through Friday, Nov. 8. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The exhibit will include work done at Buie's Creek Academy, when Mrs. Culbreth was a student there in the early 1900's, and continuing up to Mrs. Culbreth's most recent works which are primarily landscapes. There will be some flower paintings.

Some of Mrs. Culbreth's exhibit will include paintings done from reality while a good number of her pieces are done from imagination. Quite a few of her paintings are of days gone by, such as Mrs. Culbreth's grandfather's farm.

"Her paintings evoke seasonal moods. Essentially, Mrs. Culbreth's work shows evidence of happiness within, which gives all of her work a warm quality. Some of her scenes are taken from around her home. She is perceptive to beauty everywhere but particularly in nature, and she continues to incorporate beauty in all of the paintings that she produces," says Mrs. Eleanor L. Howell, assistant professor of art, and exhibit coordinator.

Mrs. Culbreth's work has been exhibited locally as well as in other areas, and she has won numerous awards for her paintings.

flowers, sewing, and doing all of her housework. Mrs. Culbreth enjoys stitchery which she likes to do when she is not painting.

Besides being a student at Buie's Creek, Mrs. Culbreth has been a teacher and housewife. She resumed painting some years ago, and much of her time now is devoted to painting.

"A sense of aliveness is inherent in all of Mrs. Culbreth's work. This quality is a very real part of Mrs. Culbreth who lives each day to the fullest." says Mrs. Howell.

PLANKING RACE SCHEDULED

AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE--Methodist College will be the site of the first planking race in the Eastern United States according to Fred Paddock, Student Government Association President.

Planking, for those of you who don't keep up with college fads, is the latest college fad sweeping the nation's campuses.

Minimum requirements for a planking race are a minimum of 24 legs (there are six men to a team), and four wooden planks 10' x 2" x 6". Each six-man team straps on two planks to their feet. With much coordination, the teams then race around a quarter-mile course.

"Since we're the first East Coast College to conduct a race, the time we set will be the East Coast record," said Paddock. He said that he expects between six and 10 teams to race Nov. 9 at 3 p.m. at the Southside Athletic Field.
