METHODIST PROFESSOR RECEIVES DOCTORATE

Robert S. Christian, assistant professor of English and coordinator of the English Department at Methodist College, received the Ph. D. degree in English December 21 from the University of South Carolina. The title of his dissertation is Eclipse and Resurgence: A Study of William Wordsworth's English and American Literary Reputation from 1822-1851.

Christian has been a member of the Methodist faculty since 1968. An ordained minister, Christian was pastor of Wesley Methodist Church in Paterson, N.J. before coming to Methodist. He received the bachelor of arts degree from Western Maryland College, the master of arts degree from the University of Connecticut, and the master of divinity degree from Drew University.

Teaching responsibilities of Christian include composition, introduction to literature, victorian literature, and Shakespeare. His areas of specialization are 19th century British Literature and Shakespearean studies.

Christian is a member of the Methodist College chapter

BICENTENNIAL SPECIAL TO BE PRESENTED AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE--"Nuts in May," a "revolutionary bicentennial special" from New York's Laurel Theatre Productions, will be presented at Methodist College's Reeves Auditorium Thursday, January 15 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for students and may be purchased at the door.

Before the performance, the actors will conduct a workshop for area high school drama and English classes, to be held from 3-5 p.m. in Reeves Auditorium.

The producers call "Nuts in May" "an American Vaudeville in 200 Acts (more or less)." By that they mean that the show uses the format of a vaudeville to tumble through two hundred years of American history--and hysteria. Selections from the works of John F. Kennedy, Emily Dickenson, W. C. Fields, Stephen Foster and many others provide the "acts." The show runs about an hour without intermissions and is performed by a professional cast from New York City.

This will be the show's only scheduled performance locally as it continues its national tour. "Nuts in May" is being seen by thousands of people throughout a thirty-six state area.

Its traveling shows carry all their own costumes, scenery and even lighting and sound equipment all ready to set up in just a few hours. In 1973, an earlier program, "The Tiger and The Typists," was selected by the National Entertainment Conference for their "Live Theatre on Campus" project.

Featured in the cast are two professional actors: James McMahon and Donna DiRienzo. Mr. McMahon has performed with the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Conn., and with Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival in such plays as "Macbeth," "As You Like It," "Troilus and Cressida," and "Twelfth Night." He has appeared Off-Broadway in "Public Insult" by Peter Handke and "Love Suicide at Schofield Barracks," both directed by Herbert Berghof and in the all-star revival of "The Madwoman of Chailot" with Blanche Yurka, Peggy Wood and Jacqueline Susann.

Miss DiRienzo appeared in "The Winter's Tale" directed by Albert Takazauckas and recieved rave reviews for her performances in "Psyclatron" and "Haunting of Hill House." In summer stock she has played leading roles in such plays as "Showboat," "West Side Story" and "Any Wednesday."

Albert Takazauckas, director of "Nuts in May," received rave reviews from New York Times critic Howard Thompson and others for his revival of Victor Hugo's forgotten masterpiece, "Hernani." The Washington Post's Richard L. Coe called his production of Robert Frost's "A Masque of Reason" "impressive," and the Star-News found it "original...amusing... and challenging." On the New York stage his directing assignments include "Troilus and Cressida," "The Winter's Tale," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," as well as operas such as "Don Giovanni" and "Hansel and Gretel."

O'HANLON TO LEAD

MC LOYALTY CAMPAIGN

I. H. "Ike" O'Hanlon, well known Fayetteville civic and business leader, has been named chairman of the 1976 Methodist College Foundation Loyalty Campaign.

The Methodist College Foundation consists of 32 Fayetteville and Cumberland County residents. Robert G. Cole, director of development at Methodist, is executive secretary, and Wilson F. Yarborough Jr. is president.

O'Hanlon, a native of Fayetteville, is president of Antex Exterminating Co. Inc. He is a director of the foundation, a trustee of Methodist College, and a member of the Knights of Pythias, Kiwanis, Tuberculosis Society, Chamber of Commerce, Young Mens Christian Association, North Carolina Pest Control Association, and the North Carolina Structural Pest Control Commission, and serves as president of the South East Speech and Hearing Center. He is an honorary member of the Fayetteville Light Infantry.

He is a graduate of Wake Forest University, and is a member of St. Johns Episcopal Church. O'Hanlon served as a member of the North Carolina State Assembly in 1953, 1955, 1963, 1965, and 1967.

"We at Methodist College are delighted at Ike's acceptance," said Dr. Richard W. Pearce, president of the college. "His infectious enthusiasm and long-time support of the college, I know, will serve us well in the annual campaign."
