Ishee To Serve As Association Officer

Fayetteville---Jean Ishee has been elected to serve as Vice-President for publicity for the N.C. Music Teachers Association during the 1977-78 academic year.

Mrs. Ishee, assistant professor of Music at Methodist College, was installed during the associations' convention in October.

The N.C. Music Teachers Assn. has a membership of over 500 music teachers throughout the state. It is a professional organization for teachers at college, private schools and in private studios. It includes teachers of piano, organ, voice, harpsichord, theory-composition, strings and other orchestral instruments.

Activities of the state organization include auditions for students on the high school and college levels with the opportunity to advance to divisional and national competition. The NCMTA also sponsors spring contest-festivals in piano, organ, voice, and composition, with approximately 500 students participating. They also hold fall piano workshops and spring master classes for string students.

The NCMTA was founded in 1959 with the primary goal of raising the level of musical performance, understanding and teaching in the state.

Mrs. Ishee currently holds a certificate of Professional Advancement awarded by the Music Teacher's National Association. The Sanford native also is listed in the International Who's Who in Music, 1977.

A graduate of Greensboro College and UNC-GH. Mrs. Ishee has engaged academic year.

Chairperson Session
Coordinates Efforts In Mission Work

Fayetteville--Responding to a mandate from the N.C. United Methodist Conference, representatives from 12 districts met to "coordinate the efforts for the total church in Mission work," according to Clyde Dunn, District Chairperson for Missions.

The session, held at Methodist College on October 21-22, was attended by Chairpersons of Education, Chairpersons of Missions, and Coordinators of Global Concerns of the United Methodist Women.

"A lack of coordination with all three groups on the district level prompted the meeting," explained Betty Dunn of Farmville.

"This session was designed to unify all of our efforts in the field of Missions."

Led by Belton Joyner, District Chairperson for Education, along with Clyde and Betty Dunn, the two-day conference was highlighted by showing of the film "A Part Of Something Big."

Other program features included "What is a Mission Saturation Event?," "Mission Studies" and "Missional Priorities."

ACC TEAMS, METHODIST HIGHLIGHT
3RD ANNUAL GOLF INVITATIONAL

FAYETTEVILLE -- Three Atlantic Coast Conference teams headline the entries for the Third Annual Methodist College Invitational Golf Tournament at Cypress Lakes Golf Course, Nov. 3-4.

Defending ACC champion North Carolina is among the teams entered in the two-day event as well as Duke and North Carolina State. The Wolfpack won this tourney last year and is making its second appearance in the Methodist invitational. It will be the first trip to the tournament for the Tar Heels and Blue Devils.

Fourteen other schools are in the action including the host Monarchs, defending Dixie Conference tournament and regular season champions. East Carolina University will field two teams, other top clubs being Campbell College, the College of William & Mary, High Point, and Elon College, winner of the first tournament two years ago. The rest of the field is made up of Coastal Carolina, Fayetteville State, Greensboro College, Guilford College, North Carolina Wesleyan, UNC-Wilmington, Pembroke State, and South Carolina State.

Van Fletcher, who fired a two-day total of 151 to capture medalist honors in the Dixie Conference tournament last spring, will lead the host team. Others seeing action for Methodist are Jack McCormic, an All-Conference selection last year, John Rea, Rex Fletcher, Kelly Boles, and Rett Carpenter.

Tee-off time is nine a.m. both days. Admission is free.

SYKES RECEIVES OUTSTANDING ALUMNUS AWARD FROM METHODIST

FAYETTEVILLE-- Gwen Sykes '68, received the Methodist College Alumni Association Outstanding Alumnus Award at the annual banquet held on October 8 in the Alumni Dining Rooms on the Methodist campus.

MCAA president Mike Alloway presented the plaque bearing the award inscription to Sykes during the Saturday evening event.

"Having been the recipient of this award, I know how meaningful it is. It is a special honor for me to present this plaque to the person who, two years ago, presented one to me," stated Alloway.

Sykes currently serves on the MCAA Board of Directors and has held numerous positions on the board since 1970.

Her first election to the Board was as MCAA secretary in 1970-71 and 1971-72. Serving under former MCAA president Tommy Yow, Sykes was instrumental in implementing the committee structure still in use within the association.

Sykes was elected to a three-year board seat in 1972, but ran for president of the association after serving only one year of the term.

After winning the MCAA presidency in 1973, Sykes served two terms in the MCAA's highest office. Her presidency was highlighted by an increase in alumni participation at homecoming events and expanded communication

During her tenure, the Alumni Loyalty Fund increased in both contributors and monetary totals impressively.

After serving one year in the past president seat of the MCAA Board, Sykes was elected to another three-year term which expires in 1979.

The Gastonia native has served on various committees during her work with the MCAA including nominating, Social, Liaison, Finance, Recruitment, and Reunion.

JOINS COLLEGE STAFF

In addition to being an active member of the MCAA, and a faculty wife to M.C. soccer coach Mason Sykes, Gwen has accepted a position as Director of the News Bureau and Coordinator of College Publications at Methodist College.

She assumed the duties of the News Bureau on September 11, after resigning from Pine Forest Senior High School where she had taught for seven year previously.

"This position offered me the best of both worlds in my profession--a chance to work with publications on a college level and an opportunity to work with students outside the academic framework of a classroom," Sykes states.

"It has been really good for me--now instead of teaching the techniques of media writing, I must put my own talent to the test. Everyday is challenging and different!" Sykes enthused.

Her responsibilities include advising student publications--SMALL TALK, CARILLON, and assistance to TAPESTRY when need--issuing of all news releases from campus to media, the publishing of all other college publications in recruitment, alumni and admissions, and the coordinating of all advertising issued from the college.

Gwen and Mason reside at 444 Morningside Drive in

COLEMAN ASSUMES DUTIES AS METHODIST DEAN OF MEN

FAYETTEVILLE -- Richard Coleman has assumed the position of Dean of Men and Director of the Student Union at Methodist College.

Coleman, a Hope Mills native, replaces Gordon Joyner who now serves as Dean of Students at Methodist.

After graduating from Pembroke State University with a B.S. in art, Coleman was employed as an art teacher in the Cumberland County School System.

Coleman's responsibilities include supervising the males students on campus and conducting monthly room checks in the dormitories in conjunction with the hall counselors. These fall under his title of Dean of Men.

As Director of the Student Union Board, Coleman coordinates the use of the student union for clubs and schedules dances, movies, and bands for the college.

The construction of the new snack bar facility now taking place is one of the changes advocated by Coleman.

"I am working very hard on that project," states Coleman.

"I have no definitive projection of completion date, but we hope to be using the new snack bar by second semester."

DIVISION OF EVANGELISM
MEETS TO IMPLEMENT
CONFERENCE PROGRAMS

FAYETTEVILLE--The Division of Evangelism for the North Carolina United Methodist Conference met at Methodist College on October 19-20 to plan strategy and implement priority of evangelism which the general conference had adopted.

The Rev. Jack Hunter, chairman of the Southeastern Jurisdiction Association of Annual Conference Leaders in Evangelism, conducted the two-day session.

"Our purpose here is to plan the quadrennial emphasis on evangelism through 1980," Hunter states.

"In addition, we are establishing new priorities for 1979 and setting the budget through 1979."

Evangelism is the "proclaiming of the good news by word and by deed," according to Hunter. The North Carolina United Methodist Conference will be called on to accept the challenge of the Council of Bishops "to enlist a million new members by 1984."

The session sought to establish practical guidelines for the approved programs for local churches. These include:

- Covenant Sunday, January 8, 1978
- Community Survey, February 12, 1978
- Evangelism Week, February 19, 1978

"Our new thrust in the growth process is to reclaim inactive members and gain new converts," states Hunter.

The theme for Evangelism in the South East is "Committed to Christ, Called to Minister."

SPORTS INFORMATION

Methodist College, Fayetteville, North Carolina

FAYETTEVILLE--Three years ago, Methodist College started a varsity volleyball program from which one player to participate on this year's squad. This year the squad returned from the Division III NCAIAWV Volleyball Championships with "#1" written on the van windows of the returning champions.

A 15-9, 15-10 win over Shaw University climaxed an unbeaten tournament competition in which they defeated Winston-Salem State, 15-5, 15-2; North Carolina A&T 9-15, 15-12, and 15-3; and Shaw University in the opening round of the tournament held at Meredith College in Raleigh.

Shaw was the only blemish on Methodist's 22-1 Division III mark during the regular season, but the two wins over the Bears in the tournament gave the Monarchs a 3-1 series record against Shaw for the year.

For the Monarchs, who finished the season with a 24-6 overall record, the state championship is the end of the road as far as post season competition goes. There is no national tournament in volleyball in the NCAIAW.

"Our girls deserve to win", states Mary Jane Hunley, coach of the Monarchs, upon their arrival to the Fayetteville campus. "We were the best team out there. We possess the best skills, attitude, and were the best liked of the teams. We had about 50 students from the school come up to support us and we also gained some of the other schools' supports."

"We won the tournament because we fought back after being behind," Hunley continued. "We maintained our cool and backed each other up throughout the tournament." That comeback ability was demonstrated in the Monarchs' 17-15 win over North Carolina A&T after being down 9-14 at one point in the game. "They played their best game ever against A&T. Our sets and spikes were good and we had a good team spirit."

Susan Ipock, the only senior on the squad and the only player back from the original squad of three years ago, was already looking ahead for the girls of next year after the defeat. "We worked together so well--it was a team effort. No team will be able to beat us next year. We should win the title again next year."

"We've worked hard all season long to win this tournament", said Peggy Pittman, who has been out throughout the last half of the season with a hand injury. We started off three years ago never having played volleyball before--now three years later, we're the state champs."

Methodist College does not offer scholarships to its athletes, but they rather participate on their own interest and desire...and their desire is to win...and they do.

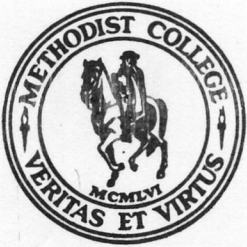

Besides being champion volleyball players, these girls are all around athletes participating in at least one other woman's athletic event at Methodist. Five of the girls are triple-sport athletes participating in basketball and softball.

E1 Elaine Adams, the only All-Tournament selection from the team of seven slots, Janet Doss, Hilda "Puddin'" Miles, Susan Ipock, and Lois McPherson participate in those two sports.

Of the five players that returned to Fayetteville from the tournament on Saturday night, Adams, Doss, and Patricia White began women's basketball practice at 5:30 the next day.

In three short years, the Monarchs have added a championship trophy to their case. If these same athletes demonstrate the same skill and determination in their other athletic events, Methodist could have two more.

BUNN, PELLOM EARN

ALL AMERICAN HONORS

FAYETTEVILLE-- For the second year in a row, Methodist College has had two of its baseball players selected as All-Americans.

Earl Bunn and Audwin Pellom were chosen for first team honors by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches. Bunn, who has now graduated, was a pitcher. Pellom, a junior, is a second baseman.

This is the second straight honor for Bunn, who was also a first-team pick a year ago. He was joined as an All-American then by his batterymate, David Roller, the now graduated Monarch catcher.

Bunn posted a 1977 record of 13-4 during the regular season and notched the most wins of any NCAA Division III pitcher.

He hurled 124 and two-thirds innings, recorded 80 strikeouts and compiled an earned run average of 2.02. Bunn graduated from Methodist in August and now resides in Parkton.

Bunn seemed tireless during his Monarch career and was an honest-to-goodness workhorse, pitching often with little rest and even hurdling both ends of doubleheaders on occasions.

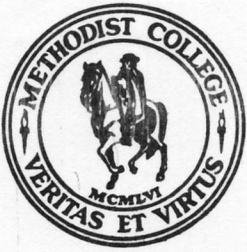

Pellom, who possesses great speed, is a native of Leland and a graduate of North Brunswick of North Brunswick High School. Using a fine bat control and nifty bunting ability to take advantage of his speed, he batted .398, stole 14 bases and struck out only twice in 104 official at-bats.

New Methodist coach Mark Bonn is already impressed with Pellom and said, "I expected Audwin to have another good year this spring. He had an excellent fall, especially against the better teams we faced."

Methodist, under the direction of now departed Bruce Shelley, finished 27-10 last year.
