FIRST ELIZABETH WEAVER
SCHOLARSHIP AWARDED

Jill L. Thompson, junior accounting and business administration major at Methodist College, has been awarded the first Elizabeth H. Weaver Scholarship.

Elizabeth H. Weaver is the wife of President Emeritas L.S. Weaver and currently resides in Lakeland, Florida. Upon the retirement of her husband, Mrs. Weaver was honored by the Methodist College Women's Club with the establishment of a scholarship in her honor.

"In introducing his wife, Dr. L. Stacy Weaver never failed to mention her inestimable influence upon his life- a man who was commended by the N.C. House of Representatives and Senate for his fifty years of distinguished service to N.C. education. It is for this and many reasons that we chose to so honor Elizabeth Weaver," says Ms. Norma Womack, scholarship coordinator.

'INSIDE - OUTSIDE' OFFERS UNIQUE LOOK ON CAMPUS

"INSIDE - OUTSIDE -- OUR LIVES AS CHRISTIANS" is the name of a Tuesday evening student group at Methodist College that is exploring what it means to live a Christian life in today's world. The basic theological assumption of the group is that God is to be experienced and expressed in many different circumstances. Thus, the group is looking inside itself for its basic roots of faith and ways of expressing that faith. And it is looking outside of itself to the community of Fayetteville to discover the presence of God's love in the lives of other people and the ways in which that love is being expressed. The difficult questions that are never completely answered but that provide the impetus for growth are "How can I discover God's presence and activity outside of my own self and my own group?" and "How can I express my faith and God's love in me in the world?" It is in sharing this faith and in struggling for answers to these questions that the students are experiencing what it means to live as Christians.

The "inside" part of the group has consisted of a study of the book of Hosea, with an effort to understand not only the message of the prophet for his time, but also how the basic truth of that message can be appropriated to the present. A second part of the inside experience has been an advent season study entitled "Rejoice in Your King." This study focused not only on the first Christmas, but also on what it means for God to reenter our lives today and to

This study focused not only on the first Christmas, but also on what it means for God to reenter our lives today and to become new to us again.

The "outside" part of the group experience has turned to four Christian helping agencies - Fayetteville Urban Ministry, Contact Ministry, The Salvation Army, and Hope Harbor. Through discussions with representatives of each of these agencies, the students have learned of a number of different expressions of God's love happening today in Fayetteville. They have learned that the first requirement of helping another person is humility for we are all equal in our need of God's love and God's grace. In addition to dialoguing with outside speakers, the students have participated in a 10-mile CROP Walk to raise funds to combat the problem of world hunger, and have participated in a Methodist College field day for mentally retarded children. Through their contributions at Sunday worship, they have supported Heifer Project International, by placing a pig in the Mexican project and have contributed to the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia. During the Christmas season, these students are co-ordinating a campus-wide effort to support a needy family that would otherwise not be able to experience the fullness of Christmas.

Organizational efforts are co-ordinated by the Reverend Milton Sluder-Jordan, campus Minister at Methodist.
