NORTHERN DURHAM, LEXINGTON
TAKE TOP CHEERLEADING HONORS

FAYETTEVILLE - Cheerleaders from Northern Durham High School captured the Best Senior High Squad award at East Coast Cheerleading Camp held recently at Methodist College in Fayetteville.

Northern defeated representatives from over 60 schools to replace Westover Senior High as the best varsity squad in the five-state area serviced by ECCC. Westover of Fayetteville placed a close second while Lee County of Sanford came in third.

"Northern has the most talented team of cheerleaders I've seen in awhile," says Gwen Sykes, program director for ECCC. "Their routine was a flawless combination of precision movement, gymnastic ability and contagious enthusiasm."

Westover took top honors in the junior varsity division while Northern and Enloe of Raleigh came in second and third, respectively.

Kiser Junior High of Greensboro won the junior division, defeating second-place Carrington Junior High of Durham and third-place Westover Junior High of Fayetteville.

Lexington High School (N.C.) was selected Super Squad, an award given for outstanding attitude and effort.

Individual awards went to Dorrays Morris of Northern, Miss ECCC; Lisa Lyon of Northern, Most Spirited; Tommi Overcash of Northern, Best Senior High Cheerleader; Kay Miller of Kiser Jr. High, Best Junior High Cheerleader.

LANEY SOCCER STANDOUT SELECTS

METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE - Barry Shelley, captain of the Laney High School soccer team in Wilmington, will attend Methodist College this fall, according to Mason Sykes, Methodist's soccer coach.

Shelley, Laney's most valuable player for 1980, was selected to the All-Cape Fear Soccer Conference, the All-Southeastern Regional team, the USSF District Select team and the Wilmington City League All-Star team. The 5'7", 130lb. striker was named to the State All-Star team after the Wilmington League placed second in state competition.

"Barry is a complete soccer player," says Coach Sykes. "He approaches the game with excellent skill and a keen mental attitude."

Shelley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shelley of Wilmington and he played his high school soccer under Coach Ted Kort.

Shelley joins a strong Methodist team, seeking to capture the DIAC Conference crown they narrowly missed last fall. The second-place Monarchs boasted five players on the All-Conference team and lost only three players to graduation.

Methodist College is a four-year college of liberal arts and sciences located in Fayetteville, N.C. on a 600-acre campus overlooking the Cape Fear River. Methodist is a member of NCAA, Division III.

MONARCH SOCCER KICKS OFF WITH FIRST METHODIST TOURNAMENT

FAYETTEVILLE--Methodist College soccer gets underway on September 10-11 as the Monarchs host the first annual Methodist College Invitational Soccer Tournament with visitors Florida Institute of Technology, Pfeiffer College and Pembroke State University.

Coach Mason Sykes calls the tournament "a challenge to start what could be our best season ever." Methodist meets Pembroke State University in the 4 o'clock game on Wednesday while Florida and Pfeiffer kick off a 2 o'clock. Thursday's schedule will include the consolation game at 2 o'clock and the championship game at 4 o'clock.

FIT, coached by Mike Eldridge, sported a 6-6-1 record last year with key wins over Florida Southern, Stetson and Embry-Riddle. Pfeiffer promises to offer them a strong game with an 11-5-0 record last season under Coach Darryl Saunders. Wins over Miami, Guilford and Belmont Abbey highlighted that season.

PSU had a disappointing 1979 season with a 1-13-0 record, but Coach Dan Kenney looks for strong improvement in the Braves lineup. They will face a seasoned Methodist team who lost only three starters from the 6-4-4 team of last fall.

An added highlight for the Methodist Invitational is the 6 o'clock clinic to be conducted by former all-pro goalie Shep

Messing turned professional in 1973, when he joined the Cosmos, then based in New York City. After two years of less-than-sensational career with the then foundering N.Y. team, Messing was sold to the Boston Minutemen. In his year and a half with Boston, Messing led the league in goalkeeping with a .93 average-- that's less than one goal per game scored against the young goal-keeper.

In mid-1976 Messing was brought back by the Cosmos, who at that point in the season, despite the presence of the great PELE on the team, were struggling to maintain an 8-6 win-loss record. After Messing joined the team, the Cosmos won seven games in a row including seven shut-out games. They ended the season with a 16-8 record.

Messing has the best lifetime goals-against average (1.29) of active North American Soccer League goalkeepers, and performed brilliantly in 1977 as a member of the NASL champions, Cosmos. He currently plays with the Rochester Lancers and is now in his second indoor season with the New York Arrows.

The clinic is open to the public at no charge.

SHEP MESSING, SOCCER PROFESSIONAL,
TO HOLD CLINIC AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE--Shep Messing, international soccer star, will hold a clinic at Methodist College on Wednesday afternoon, September 10 at 6 o'clock.

Messing who currently plays for the Rochester Lancers and the winter indoor league team, the New York Arrows, is regarded as one of the best goalkeepers in the booming sport of American soccer.

The 29-year-old Messing is a native of New York. He played soccer for the first time at Wheatley High School in Roslyn, Long Island. After high school he attended NYU, Nassau Community College and Harvard. He earned an All-American designation at both NYU and Harvard. Messing has a BS degree in psychology, and in his spare time he has attended law school at Fordham and New England Law School.

Messing has earned honors and acclaim since his earliest experience with a soccer ball. He was selected to represent the United States in the Maccabiah Games in Israel in 1969 and was voted Most Valuable Player of the two 1971 U.S. Pan Am Games in Colombia. Topping that off, he was voted MVP of the NCAA Finals in 1972 when he was a senior at Harvard. That same year Messing set two Olympic records at the Munich Games, the first one he would rather not talk about. In that one he allowed eight goals against

In that one he allowed eight goals against a West German World Class soccer team, the most ever allowed by a goalkeeper in Olympic Soccer Competition. In that same game, however, Messing broke an Olympic record with 63 saves, and also had his nose broken in the process.

RENNIE BEYER AWARDED

TOP CERTIFICATION

FAYETTEVILLE--Mrs. Rennie P. Beyer, assistant professor of music at Methodist College, has achieved professional recognition by the Music Teachers National Association (MTNA) as a teacher of piano.

Mrs. Rennie P. Beyer was recommended by the North Carolina Music Teachers Association on the basis of outstanding achievement and high professional standards in the field of music pedagogy. This includes musical competence, teaching preparation, and successful teaching experience.

The MTNA Certification Plan, adopted in 1967, is a national standard for the evaluation and recognition of qualified independent music teachers. Continuing education, performance, and professional involvement are significant features of this certification program.

MTNA was founded in 1876 and was the first professional music association in the United States. It has a membership of over 19,000, representing music teachers in studios, conservatories, music schools, private schools and institutions of higher learning. The primary goal is to raise the level of musical performance, understanding and teaching in America.

Mrs. Beyer directs the Community Music Program at Methodist College.

SHEP MESSING TO CONDUCT
SOCCER CLINIC AT METHODIST

FAYETTEVILLE--International soccer star, Shep Messing, who is conducting a series of free soccer clinics on college campuses throughout the country, sponsored by Skoal/Happy Days moist smokeless tobacco, will appear for a clinic at Methodist College on Wednesday, September 10, at 6 o'clock.

A veteran of soccer since 1973 when he was the Cosmos' famous goalie, Messing is now with the Rochester Lancers and the New York Arrows, an indoor league team.

"U.S. Tobacco is heavily involved in sports promotions," notes Messing, "and has a continuing involvement with college programs. Included are the annual $125,000 Copenhagen/Skoal College Rodeo Scholarship Award Program and the annual $68,500 Skoal/Happy Days Academic All-American Basketball Scholarship Awards Program."

Messing conducts the clinics with two teammates who work with the college soccer teams, demonstrating the basic skills of dribbling, shooting, passing, kicking and all the techniques of professional soccer.

"The clinics are designed to encourage students who are already on teams and to help promote the sport on campus as well as in the local communities," explains Messing. "Soccer is the fastest growing and most heavily attended sport today and

He feels that college soccer offers students a chance to form teams in a sport that is not yet overwhelmed by collegiate "stars" and thus gives players more of an opportunity to get on a team.

"It's a prestigious game in Europe," points out Messing, "and of course the majority of professionals playing on teams here are foreigners but I hope within five years we'll have totally American teams represented internationally. That's one of the big reasons I am conducting these clinics: to help upgrade soccer, to make it more acceptable and to assist our upcoming young players to get the best training they can."

The Methodist clinic will be held in conjunction with the Methodist College Invitational Soccer Tournament to be held Wednesday and Thursday, September 10-11. The Methodist Monarchs will host Pembroke State University in the first round of the Tournament at 2 o'clock Wednesday while defending Carolina Conference champion Pfeiffer College takes on Florida Institute of Technology at 4 o'clock.

Messing's soccer clinic is open to the public at no charge. All events will take place on the Methodist College soccer field.

Methodist College Begins 25th Year

PRESIDENT PEARCE GIVE ATHLETIC FACILITY

TOP PRIORITY FOR 1980 ACADEMIC YEAR

FAYETTEVILLE--In a surprise closing statement during the Formal Opening Convocation at Methodist College on Wednesday, August 27, Dr. Richard Pearce called upon all members of the college community to "dream the biggest dream and make it come true."

Pearce, president of Methodist College, drew spontaneous and enthusiastic applause from the student body as he outlined plans for a new athletic facility on the Methodist campus which will include a modern gymnasium/physical education complex, eight new tennis courts, a swimming pool and relocation of the baseball field.

"It's time Methodist moved out of the biggest two-car garage in Cumberland County," remarked Pearce, referring to the current gymnasium located in a metal structure on south campus.

"It won't be this year," said Pearce, "but it will be in the next few years that this dream will come true for all of us."

Earlier in the convocation program student body president Lynda Womack had called for a campus-wide dedication to raising funds for a new athletic facility, calling upon clubs and organizations to plan a minimum of one project dedicated to the gymnasium fund.

As Methodist College begins its 25th year, the original plan for 18 buildings on the campus is complete with the exception of the athletic facility. The gymnasium is the final building in the

As Methodist College begins its 25th year, the original plan for 18 buildings on the campus is complete with the exception of the athletic facility. The gymnasium is the final building in the plan approved in 1956 by the United Methodist Church.

Pearce promised to take the pressing need for an athletic facility to the Board of Trustees at their next meeting, in November.

In other action, Pearce reported an enrollment increase of approximately 5 percent this year with the largest figure in ten years. Over 780 full-time students are enrolled with a number of part-time students taking classes in both the day and evening programs. This is the sixth consecutive year the college has recorded substantial increase in enrollment of both commuter and dormitory students.

Quoting a projected total of $500,000 in contributed funds this year, Pearce applauded the support of the Fayetteville community in giving $162,599 thus far, the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church in giving $225,000, alumni and out-of-town support in giving over $50,000 and various others. This endowment effort will help Methodist offset inflationary hurdles like the 28% proposed hike in Carolina Power and Light rates.

A recent conversion of the energy boilers at Methodist from only oil to either gas or oil will ease the pinch of increasing energy costs. Other improvements on the Methodist campus include a new organ, a music lab, a new language lab, a new van, an electronic scoreboard for the baseball field and the completion of the 440 track.

Academic Dean Fred Clark called the past academic year "a Dean's List year--good, but with room for improvement." He encouraged faculty and students to strive for "a 4.0 year."

"This is a year pregnant with challenge and opportunity," said Clark. "Let's go the one step further to make the difference in mediocrity and innovation."

Methodist students began classes on Tuesday, August 26.

'STRONG, COMPETITIVE FIELD'

METHODIST INVITATIONAL SOCCER TOURNAMENT

PITS PFEIFFER, FLORIDA TECH, PEMBROKE, METHODIST

FAYETTEVILLE--A strong four-team field will highlight the first Methodist College Invitational Soccer Tournament scheduled for September 10 and 11 on the Methodist College soccer field, according to Coach Mason Sykes of the Methodist Monarch squad.

Pfeiffer, current Carolina Conference champions, will face Florida Institute of Technology in the kick off game Wednesday at 2 o'clock. Coach Darryl Saunders' Pfeiffer team boasts the best 1979 record coming into the pre-season tourney with 11-5-0. Key victories were over Miami, Guilford and Belmont Abbey.

"We lost six seniors, five of them starters," says Coach Saunders. "We've really had to shore up our interior since they were mid-fielders."

Saunders looks for a much faster team this season, depending on a strong sophomore group for experience since there are only six seniors on the team. Senior captain Robbie Church of Greensboro who scored 8 goals for the Falcons at the inside position last season will lead the Pfeiffer against FIT. Forward Joe Lorenz of Stafford, VA, and fullback Brad Wilson of Middletown, MD, are strengths of the Pfeiffer team.

"The sophomores will be the key to victory for us, though," predicts Saunders.

Sporting an enviable 6-6-1 record against tough competitors, Coach Mike Eldridge's Florida Institute Engineers will depend on defensive sweeper Mario Kuhar of Cleveland, OH, and fullback Jim Ness of Andover, MS, in their bid for the tournament championship. Forward Jerry Henderson of St. Martin Island and Mid-fielder Tom Carlie of Colchester, CT lead the attack for the Melbourne, FL, team.

"We look for some fresh talent from our newcomers," says Coach Eldridge. "Tony Fernandez of South Africa brings strength to the mid-field while freshman goalkeeper Greg Johnson shows promise in the goal."

Johnson was named to the Florida Select Team last season while playing for Boone High School, runner-up to the state champion in Florida.

Host Methodist College meets regional rival Pembroke State University in the second game on Wednesday, at 4 o'clock. The Pembroke Braves have a new coach in Mike Schaffer, formerly of Providence Day School in Charlotte, NC, where he posted a 42-13-3 record.

"I have 10 returning players, 15 newcomers and 5 foreign players," says Coach Schaffer. "These guys are going to make a tremendous effort to turn last season (1-13-0) around."

Schaffer projects that Pembroke will field a much-improved defense and a small, fairly quick front line. He is eager for the challenge of making his college debut in "a tournament that offers strong competition."

The Monarchs of Methodist College are out to avenge a heartbreak second-place finish in the Dixie Conference last season with a 4-1-2 conference record (6-4-4 overall) and hope to start with key wins in their home tournament. Coach Sykes feels confident about his scoring potential but sees a problem with lack of fullback experience.

BILL FIELDS NAMED 'ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE'

FAYETTEVILLE--William C. Fields, renown portrait painter, will serve as Artist-in-Residence at Methodist College for the current academic year, according to Dr. Fred Clark, academic dean.

Fields is a native of Fayetteville, N.C., and a graduate of the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill with the degree of B.A. in Fine Arts, the first graduate to receive this degree. After his graduation in 1938, he became director of the Federal Art Project Center in Sanford, N.C., where he remained until 1939, when he became director of the Federal Art Project Center and North Carolina State Art Society Gallery in Raleigh.

In 1940 he was named Assistant State Director of the North Carolina Federal Art Project. Resigning these posts in 1942, he was awarded a full tuition scholarship by the School of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, where he continued his studies for two years under Karl Zerbe.

Since 1944 Fields has painted portraits professionally in the eastern United States and Europe, having maintained a studio in New York from 1945 until 1962. Most of the years 1950 through 1952 were spent in Europe, chiefly in Italy, where he painted portraits of many notables, including the late Pope Pius XII.

Fields has had one-man shows in Rome, N.Y., and North Carolina and participated in numerous group shows in eastern galleries. Since 1955 he has spent a large portion of his time in his native state, with headquarters at his home near Fayetteville, and has done portraits of many North Carolinians. Among these are Mrs. Terry
