METHODIST COLLEGE FINE ARTS FESTIVAL
WILL HONOR SOUTHERN WRITER JAMES AGEE

FAYETTEVILLE--Southern writer James Agee will be the focus of the 1982 Methodist College Fine Arts Festival scheduled for April 5-18.

Agee, Tennessee poet, writer, film critic and screenwriter, died in 1955 after producing screenplays for several notable films including the Academy Award winning "The African Queen" with Katherine Hepburn and Humphrey Bogart. His autobiography A Death in the Family was adapted into the play "All the Way Home" by Tad Mosel.

Methodist College theatre department will present its own production of Mosel's Pulitzer Prize winning play "All the Way Home" as the headline event of the 1982 Fine Arts Festival. The play will be performed on the stage of Reeves Auditorium at 8 o'clock on April 15, April 16, and April 17. The three-act drama deals with the impact of the death of Agee's father on both the seven-year Agee and his mother. Methodist College senior Walter Stark of Morehead City, NC plays the father while Methodist junior Marilyn Richmond plays the mother. Jamie Sykes of Fayetteville plays the part of the young Agee.

Film

James Agee's most notable contributions were in the realm of film and it is these works that will be celebrated in the Agee Film Festival during April 5-18. Specific dates and showings of Agee films are as follows:

April 5	"The African Queen"
April 7	"The Quiet One" and "In the Street"
April 12	"Face to Face"
April 14	"Night of the Hunter"
April 16	"Agee"

All films will be presented in room 239 of the Classroom Building on the Methodist campus at 3:30 each afternoon and 7:30 each evening, with the exception of "Agee" which will be shown at 10 o'clock in the morning in Reeves Auditorium.

"Agee" was nominated in 1981 for the Academy Award for Best Feature Documentary. PBS has aired the film which was produced and directed by Ross Spears with musical composition by Kenton Coe. Both Spears and Coe will be present during the showing of "Agee" and will provide discussion afterwards.

Spears will conduct a Film Workshop on Friday, April 16 at 4 o'clock in the Ensemble Room of the Fine Arts Building. His latest film "The Electric Valley" is scheduled to be released this summer.

Music

Kenton Coe will highlight the musical interpretation of Agee's works with a Music Workshop on Monday, April 12
