METHODIST COLLEGE ALPHA CHI

INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS

FAYETTEVILLE-The Methodist College chapter of Alpha Chi, a coeducational society whose purpose is to promote academic excellence and exemplary character among college and university students and to honor those achieving such distinction, recently inducted nine new members in a Hensdale Chapel ceremony on the college's campus. The North Carolina Mu chapter of Alpha Chi was established at Methodist College in 1976 and since then has annually inducted juniors who rank in the top 3% of the junior class and seniors who rank in the top 5% of the senior class.

Recent senior inductees included Mary Ellen Kelly and Bert Schroer, Jr., both of Fayetteville; William Holden of Roseboro; Betty Massengill of Dunn; and Anita Thompson of Willow Springs.

New junior members are Laura Kafka Kernek, Jean Lemke, and Margaret McBride, all of Fayetteville, and Juanita Thompson of Butner.

Assistant Professor of Business Administration Calvert Ray is the faculty sponsor of the Methodist College Alpha Chi chapter. He is assisted by fellow faculty members Dr. Ted Jaeger and J. Michael Rogers. Senior officers of the organization include Roger D. Pait of Bladenboro, president; Dorothy Hubbard of Stedman, vice-president; and Lisa Buck and Bianke Kroos, both of Fayetteville, secretary and treasurer respectively.

METHODIST COLLEGE OMICRON DELTA KAPPA

INDUCTS NEW MEMBERS

FAYETTEVILLE-The Methodist College chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, a national leadership honor society, recently inducted seven new members in an installation banquet held on campus. To be considered for membership, a student must be a member of the junior or senior class and have achieved minimum grade-point average of 2.7. In addition, students qualify for ODK membership being scored in five categories: scholarship; athletics and student government; religious music, and other arts. Selection is made by current ODK members, a faculty secretary and two faculty advisors.

Recent inductees are Bianke Kroos of Fayetteville; Mandy VanderRoest of Hope Mills; Joyce Elliott of McCain; Paul Smith of Cary; Juanita Thompson of Butner; Renny Taylor of Wilson; and Evelyn Derreth of Beaufort.

Won Un, a senior from Seoul, Korea, presided at the installation banquet. George Tatum, Cumberland County Register of Deeds, was the guest speaker.

Methodist College faculty advisors to the group are associate professor of history R. Parker Wilson and professor of religion Dr. Garland Knott. Faculty secretary of the Methodist College circle of Omicron Delta Kappa is Assistant Admissions director Tricia Turner.

CHERYL HONEYCUTT TO OPEN

SENIOR ART EXHIBIT

FAYETTEVILLE--Cheryl Honeycutt, senior art major at Methodist College, will open her senior art exhibit on Sunday, April 14 in the lobby of Horner Administration Building on the Methodist College campus.

Honeycutt has entitled her exhibit "Reflections" and she will include twenty works never before exhibited. Among them are oils, prints, drawings and sculptures, including Honeycutt's personal favorites "Happy Face" in oil and "Egg Reflection" in charcoal.

A transfer from Florida Southern College, Honeycutt is a Dean's List student at Methodist and a member of the Masque Keys theatre club. Honeycutt is a graduate of Midway High School in Sampson County (NC) and the daughter of Wiley C. Jackson and Willa Jackson of Godwin. Honeycutt resides in Godwin with her husband W. E. Honeycutt and their two daughters, Simone and Tracy.

Honeycutt classifies her style as abstract and cites Picasso as her favorite artist. All exhibited works will be available for sale. The exhibit is open to the public and can be viewed daily, Monday through Friday, from 8 o'clock until 5 o'clock.

HEATHER ROSS MILLER TO DELIVER

GRADUATION ADDRESS IN MAY

FAYETTEVILLE--Heather Ross Miller, North Carolina's Poet of the Year in 1983, will deliver the graduation address to approximately 75 members of the May graduation class at Methodist College on Sunday afternoon, May 5 at 2 o'clock in Reeves Auditorium.

Miller is no stranger to the Methodist College campus, having been a guest speaker during the Southern Writer's Symposium in 1984. A magna cum laude graduate of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro where she studied under Randall Jarrell, Miller also received her M.A. degree there prior to doing postgraduate work in modern drama and cinema at the University of London.

A Woodrow Wilson Fellow in 1961, Miller has won numerous awards for her works of fiction and poetry including the National Association of Independent Schools Award for her first novel The Edge of the Woods; the Sir Walter Raleigh Prize for Fiction for her second novel Tenants of the House; the Oscar Arnold Young Cup for her first poetry collection The Wind Southerly; and two creative writing fellowships from the National Council on the Arts.

Miller formerly taught at Pfeiffer College and currently serves as Writer-in-Residence at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, Arkansas. For her contributions to literature, Miller will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Letters degree from Methodist College during the graduation ceremony.

Formal Commencement Exercises will begin earlier in the day on Sunday, May 5 with Baccalaureate Services at 10:30 a.m. in Reeves Auditorium. The Reverend Vernon Cephas Tyson, minister of Edenton Street United Methodist Church in Raleigh, will deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon.

Tyson serves on the Methodist College Board of Trustees and is a graduate of Guilford College and Duke Divinity School. He has served parishes in Goldston, Raleigh, Sanford, Oxford, Wilmington, Fayetteville, and Chapel Hill in addition to appointments as chaplain of Oak Ridge Military Institute and superintendent of the Wilmington District of the North Carolina Conference.

A delegate to the World Methodist Council in Dublin, Ireland, Tyson has also attended as an official delegate to the Methodist Youth Fellowship World Conference in Cleveland, Ohio and the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conferences in 1964, 1976, and 1980.

Tyson serves on numerous boards and conferences of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, including the Methodist Home for Children, the General Board of Higher Education and Ministry, and the North Carolina Council of Churches.

For his "visionary leadership in the ministry of people," Tyson will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Methodist College during the Baccalaureate Service.

A third honorary degree will be awarded during the 1985 Formal Commencement Exercises at Methodist College. The Reverend Charles Alison Simonton, Jr., editor of The North Carolina Christian Advocate, will receive a Doctor of Divinity degree for "creative communication of Christianity throughout the North Carolina Conference and the Western Conference of the United Methodist Church."

An award-winning journalist, Simonton has held the position of editor-manager of The NC Christian Advocate since 1976. In 1982, the publication received the Award of Excellence in layout and design for all publications in United Methodism. Simonton also received the distinction of being selected the best in weekly newspaper editorials in United Methodism for 1982.
