FORT BRAGG RESIDENTS

GRADUATE FROM METHODIST

FAYETTEVILLE--Several Fort Bragg residents were awarded degrees in the annual spring commencement ceremony at Methodist College, held Sunday afternoon, May 5, at 2 o'clock in Reeves Auditorium. Heather Ross Miller, North Carolina's Poet of the Year in 1983, delivered the graduation address.

Receiving Bachelor of Arts degrees were Christian A. Abbott, Anthony S. Lamanna, Jr., and Michael G. Manning. Lamanna also received a Bachelor of Applied Science degree.

Associate of Arts degrees were awarded to Steven P. Bohlin, Terry L. Cowman, Christopher J. Findler, Asa F. Harris, Douglas P. Krenik, Ricky E. McKenzie, Mariano Martinez, and Andrew Hall Williams.

A total of eighty-one graduates received degrees at the Graduation Exercises.

MILLER, SIMONTON AND TYSON

RECEIVE DEGREES OF HONOR

Tyson was awarded a Doctor of Divinity degree for "enthusiastic service to God and Man as a minister of the Gospel of Jesus Christ." A member of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, Tyson has served numerous pastorates as well as the Wilmington District as superintendent. He is the minister of Edenton Street United Methodist Church in Raleigh.

Simonton was applauded for successfully merging his degrees in journalism and divinity as editor of THE NORTH CAROLINA CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE. Under his leadership, the ADVOCATE received top honors in United Methodism in 1982 and his editorials were judged the best in 1982. "For the creative communication of Christianity to North Carolinians," Simonton received a Doctor of Divinity degree.
