HANDBELL CONCERT SLATED FOR SATURDAY AT METHODIST

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Methodist College is hosting a church handbell festival this weekend, which will end with a free concert Saturday, Feb. 28 at 3 p.m. in the Student Union.

Sponsored by the N.C. Conference of the United Methodist Church, the two-day festival is expected to draw at least 20 handbell choirs from churches in central and eastern North Carolina. Howard Starks of Florence, S.C. is serving as guest director of the festival.

A native of Erie, PA, Starks has played trumpet with professional dance bands, the U.S. Marine Corps Band, and the Atlanta Symphony. He holds a B.S. degree in music education from Indiana University of Pennsylvania and a Master of Sacred Music degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, KY.

For the last 21 years, Starks has served as minister of music at Calvary Baptist Church in Florence, S.C.

J. P. RIDDLE GIVES METHODIST $500,000

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Dr. M. Elton Hendricks, president of Methodist College, announced today that Fayetteville businessman J. P. Riddle has contributed $500,000 toward the college's "Come of Age" capital campaign to build a Physical Activities Center.

Riddle has been a Methodist College trustee since 1979. In 1978, he received the Entrepreneur of the Year award, an award the college gives annually to "risk takers" whose new enterprises have enhanced the Cumberland County economy.

"It's the Cumberland County entrepreneurs who are making this campaign a success and helping Methodist College reach its potential," said Dr. Hendricks. "It's gratifying. I love Fayetteville's spirit."

Riddle's gift brings the total amount raised for the new building to $2.3 million--approximately 65 percent of the $3.5 million goal. The college launched the "Come of Age" capital campaign last October.

The 46,000-square-foot Physical Activities Center will house a 1,000-seat arena, an Olympic-size swimming pool, racquetball and handball courts, classrooms and offices. It will complete the original campus plan and replace a metal building used as a gymnasium since 1963.

The "Come of Age" campaign to raise $3.5 million is the first capital fund drive for Methodist College since 1960, when the Methodist College Foundation concluded a drive to raise $2 million to begin construction of the college.

GEORGE STEWART TO CHAIR COLLEGE CAMPAIGN

Bill Billings
News Bureau Director

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Fayetteville businessman and civic leader George Stewart will chair the Methodist College Foundation's COME OF AGE LOYALTY FUND CAMPAIGN for 1987.

Stewart will direct the college's largest fund-raising effort in 30 years. More than 200 volunteers will canvas the Fayetteville community Feb. 24-27, seeking $175,000 in sustaining pledges and $700,000 in pledges toward construction of a $3.5 million Physical Activities Center.

"This is our opportunity to give back to an institution that gives to us daily--through its academic, spiritual, athletic and cultural influence," said Stewart. "I can think of no other area institution that has made quite the same impact on our community through the years as has Methodist College."

A native of Selma, Ala., Stewart has lived in Fayetteville for 32 years. Reared in a military family, he graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1945. In 1957, he opened Stewart Oldsmobile-Datsun in Fayetteville, now known as Stewart Oldsmobile-Nissan.

Stewart has served his church and community in many ways--as president of the Fayetteville Area Chamber of Commerce, president of the board of trustees of Highsmith-Rainey Hospital, and president of the Braxton Bragg AUSA. He is past president of the Fayetteville Area Automobile and Truck Dealers Association.

Now retired from the automobile business, Stewart has been active in the United Way, is a Kiwanian, and serves on the Parish Council at St. Patrick Catholic Church. He led the fund drive to build the St. Patrick Education Center on Village Drive. Last year he was named a Knight of St. Gregory by Pope John Paul II; this is the highest award a Catholic layman can receive.

Stewart recently returned from a trip to Australia, which he won in a sales contest sponsored by the Oldsmobile Division of General Motors. He is chairman of the board of First Union National Bank in Fayetteville and is doing research for a book on the history of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States. His hobbies include commodity trading, tennis, hunting, and stamp collecting.

George and Marie Stewart are the parents of six children--Craig, Peter, Pat, Bill, Mary Stokes, and Louise. Mrs. Stewart has served as president of the Methodist College Foundation.

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Frances Weller, talk show host and co-anchor of WECT-TV Channel 6 News, will present a program on the importance of correct speech Monday, Feb. 23 at Methodist College.

Slated for 10 a.m. in Reeves Auditorium, the presentation is open to the public. A special invitation has been extended to local public school teachers and students.

Part of Methodist's Speaking-Across-the-Curriculum program, Ms. Weller's presentation is the second in a series of public convocations designed to impress upon college students the importance of speaking correctly.

Ms. Weller is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where she majored in speech communication. She has been working with school systems in the Wilmington area, offering programs on the importance of correct speech.

Methodist's Speaking-Across-the-Curriculum Committee presented a 20-minute excerpt from My Fair Lady at the college's opening convocation for the spring semester. Designed to illustrate how people are judged by their mode of speaking, the presentation is now being made available to local school groups. The cast is made up of current MC students.

Public school personnel interested in having the group bring its 20-minute presentation to their school should contact Dr. Wendy Tibbetts Greene at 488-7110, Extension 293.

METHODIST COLLEGE TO LAUNCH 'COME OF AGE' CAMPAIGN

Bill Billings
News Bureau Director

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- The Methodist College Foundation will launch the METHODIST COLLEGE COME OF AGE/LOYALTY FUND CAMPAIGN Tuesday, Feb. 24 with a kickoff breakfast in the college cafeteria.

Fayetteville businessman and civic leader George Stewart is chairing the 1987 fund drive, described by College President M. Elton Hendricks as "the most ambitious fund-raising effort in the history of the college."

Approximately 200 volunteers will canvas the Fayetteville/Cumberland County area Feb. 24-27 to solicit sustaining pledges for the college and pledges toward a capital campaign to raise $3.5 million for a Physical Activities Center. The foundation will seek $175,000 locally for operating expenses and debt retirement plus $700,000 toward the cost of constructing a physical education facility.

Fayetteville Mayor John W. Hurley has proclaimed Feb. 24 "Methodist College Day," urging all citizens to "support this worthwhile effort."

"This is our opportunity to give back to an institution that gives to us daily--through its academic, spiritual, athletic and cultural influence," said Campaign Chairman George Stewart. "I can think of no other area institution that has made quite the same impact on our community through the years as has Methodist College."

The Methodist College Annual Loyalty Fund Drive is the means by which the citizens of Fayetteville and Cumberland County have fulfilled their original pledge to provide a 600-acre site for the college, $2 million for capital development, and at least $50,000 in annual sustaining funds. The Methodist College Foundation, made up of local citizens, has raised $4.5 million for the college since 1956. The foundation's current president is Robert C. Cogswell, Jr.

The Methodist College Annual Loyalty Fund has netted amounts ranging from $95,288 in 1976 to $340,100 in 1979. In 1985, the fund drive raised $261,384 for the college. Methodist College has an annual budget of $6 million, employs 138 persons, and serves 1,400 students. It has been estimated that the college adds $2.7 million annually to Cumberland County's economic base.

The "Come of Age" part of the 1987 fund drive is being directed by Ike O'Hanlon, chairman of the board of trustees; Louis Spilman, chairman of the trustees' Development Committee; and Gene Clayton, vice president for development.

Methodist's Physical Activities Center will replace a metal building with a concrete floor that has been used as a "temporary" gymnasium since 1963. The new structure will house a 1,000-seat gymnasium, Olympic-size swimming pool, racquetball and handball courts, weight room, sauna, classrooms, and administrative offices.

The goal of the 'Come of Age' campaign is to raise $3.5 million over a three-year period--$2 million from the college trustees, $300,000 from alumni, $700,000 from the Fayetteville community, and $500,000 from national foundations. Since the 'Come of Age' capital campaign was announced last October, the college has received gifts and pledges totalling $2.3 million.

METHODIST COLLEGE CHORUS TOURS FLORIDA, NASSAU

Bill Billings
News Bureau Director

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- The Methodist College Chorus leaves Saturday, Feb. 28 on a spring concert tour that includes stops in Florida and Nassau.

Director Alan Porter terms this year's tour "an exciting adventure," noting that the 26-member chorus will be performing outside the continental United States for the first time. During Porter's 24 years as director, the chorus has confined its out-of-state tours to East Coast states between Massachusetts and Florida.

Over the last year and a half, Methodist's chorus members have undertaken some novel fund-raising activities for the 1987 tour. The chorus staged a "Bach-B-Que" in the fall of 1985 and a "Boo-B-Que" last October. The students also held car washes and sold candy.

Methodist's musical entourage will leave Fayetteville Saturday morning, traveling by bus to Jacksonville, Fla. The chorus will perform at St. Catherine's Catholic Church in Orange Park Sunday morning and at First United Methodist Church in Clermont Sunday night.

Next Monday, Mar. 2 at 6 p.m., the chorus performs on the Dock Stage at Walt Disney World near Orlando. After a flight from Miami to Nassau Tuesday, the chorus will perform at Wesley Methodist Church in Nassau Tuesday night. On Wednesday, Mar. 4, the chorus will give concerts at Queens College and Ebenezer Methodist Church.

The chorus will return to Miami Thursday. On Friday morning, Mar. 6, the group will perform at St. Augustine High School, concluding the tour.

METHODIST COLLEGE CHORUS

The group will return to Fayetteville by bus Friday night.

Methodist's chorus will perform a wide-ranging program of sacred and secular works, including Mendelssohn's "Psalm 115," "Just a Closer Walk with Thee," Haydn's "Missa Brevis," Jerome Kern's "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," and a medley from Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story." Performing with the chorus will be the "Rainbow's End," a mixed ensemble of chorus members.

Jane Weeks Townsend, a music instructor at Methodist, will serve as accompanist for the group.

Director Alan Porter chairs the Music Department at Methodist College. A native of Pennsylvania, he holds degrees in music from Mount Union College and the University of Illinois. An active recitalist and clinician, he frequently serves as music director for local theatre and school groups.

Serving as officers of the Methodist College Chorus for 1986-87 are: Richard Butler, Jr., president; Richard Lane, vice president; Valerie Morris, treasurer; Lola Reid and Tammy Poole, wardrobe chairpersons.

PAUL GREEN'S CELEBRATION OF MAN

Bill Billings
News Bureau Director

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- "Paul Green's Celebration of Man" is the subject of the Southern Writers' Symposium scheduled for Mar. 27-28 at Methodist College.

A special feature of the 1987 symposium is the premiere of an original play about the Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright entitled "Listen to My Song." Written and directed by Lee Yopp, artistic director of the Ft. Bragg Playhouse, the play will star Leonard McLeod as Paul Green. The play will be staged Saturday, Mar. 28 at 8:15 p.m. in Reeves Auditorium.

Yopp, 58, is no stranger to Green's work. When the Paul Green Theatre opened on the UNC-Chapel Hill campus, Yopp was asked to direct the opening play, "Native Son." Several years ago, he directed a Ft. Bragg Playhouse production of Green's play "Hymn to the Rising Sun."

A native of Trenton, N. J., Yopp headed the drama department at Rider College and served as artistic director of the Bucks County Playhouse in Pennsylvania before coming to Ft. Bragg in 1974. Supported by a grant from the Paul Green Foundation, Yopp took a leave of absence from his Ft. Bragg post to write the play about Green.

The two-day symposium will include lectures by 12 guest scholars who either knew Green or have studied his work, four films, special music from Green's symphonic dramas (presented by the college chorus), and the premiere of Yopp's play. Scholars and friends slated to speak about Green include: Sue L. Kimball, Janet Green Catlin, Rhoda Wynn, Frances R. Kestler,

PAUL GREEN SYMPOSIUM

Paul Wilson, John Ehle, Shelby Stephenson, Laurence G. Avery, Glenda E. Gill, Ed Devaney, Rev. W. W. Finlator, and Lynn Veach Sadler.

Persons wishing to attend "Paul Green's Celebration of Man" may register in advance (using the form enclosed) or Friday, Mar. 27 between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. in the lobby of Reeves Auditorium on the Methodist campus. Lunch and dinner Friday, as well as breakfast and lunch Saturday, will be served on the college campus. A special dinner is planned for Saturday evening at the Fayetteville Country Club (formerly Green Valley). Accommodations are available on campus Thursday-Saturday at a cost of $7.50 per night.

"Paul Green's Celebration of Man" was arranged by Dr. Sue Kimball, professor of English at Methodist College. She met Green the week before he died in 1981, while he was attending a play at Methodist. Green was born and reared in neighboring Harnett County, less than 30 miles from the Methodist College campus.

The symposium and play were made possible by grants from the Grassroots Fund of the Arts Council of Fayetteville/Cumberland County, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Broyhill Foundation, the Adele M. Thomas Trust, Methodist College, and the Paul Green Foundation.
