METHODIST TO CELEBRATE HOMECOMING

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Methodist College will employ a "South Seas Weekend" theme for Homecoming '87, Oct. 9-11.

At least two dozen events are planned for returning alumni. The following reunion classes will be honored at Saturday's homecoming parade and luau: Class of '67 (20th year), Class of '72 (15th year), Class of '77 (10th year), and Class of '82 (5th year). The Methodist College Alumni Association's Finance Committee and Board of Directors will meet Saturday afternoon.

Current students at Methodist will be actively involved in the three-day celebration. They will decorate the residence halls, elect a homecoming queen, stage a bonfire/pep rally, cheer on the Monarch soccer teams as the men face USC-Aiken and the women face Erskine, and attend their first semi-formal dance of the school year.

Groups slated to entertain alumni during the weekend include: the cheerleaders, the jazz dance team, the theatre department, the stage band, and the college chorus. At least 14 hours of activities are planned for Saturday: two popcorn theatre presentations of "Ralph Roister Doister" (a medieval comedy), a sidewalk carnival, a tennis tournament (men's singles, women's singles, mixed doubles), an invitational track meet, a volleyball game, two varsity soccer games, the alumni luau, and the homecoming dance.

On Sunday, Rev. Mike Safley ('72) will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service in Hensdale Chapel. A brass ensemble will provide special music. The annual alumni baseball game between alumni and varsity is slated for 2 p.m. Sunday at Shelley Field.

In the event of rain, most activities will be moved into the Student Union.

STATE CONSERVATION OFFICIAL TO ADDRESS CAPE FEAR RIVER RESEARCH INSTITUTE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- The Cape Fear River Research Institute will hold its 14th annual meeting Thursday, Oct. 29 in the main dining room of the Methodist College cafeteria, located on the lower level of the Student Union.

A symposium is slated for 5 p.m., followed by a banquet at 6 p.m. and the keynote address at 7 p.m. John D. Wray, deputy director of the N. C. Division of Water Resources, will deliver the keynote address at the banquet. His topic will be: "Drought--How North Carolina Will Cope". A question/answer session will follow.

The following panelists will discuss water conservation measures during the 5 p.m. symposium: A. T. Rolan, director, Dept. of Water Resources for the City of Durham; Everett Billingsley, executive director, Orange Water and Sewer Authority in Carrboro; Theresa G. Pereira, environmental compliance specialist with the Fayetteville Public Works Commission; and Kenneth Fanfoni, director, Water and Sewer Utility, Fayetteville Public Works Commission.

During the banquet, the third annual J. W. Pate Award will be given to an individual who has worked vigorously for conservation of the state's natural resources.

Reservations for the banquet can be made by contacting Dr. Sid Gautam at Methodist College, 488-7110, Ext. 308. Tickets are $10 and checks should be made payable to the Cape Fear River Research Institute. A special student rate is available for $8.

Dear ,

On Wednesday of this week, the Students for Let's Build a Physical Activities Center will launch a campaign to solicit funds from current Methodist College students. Each student who gives $10 or more will receive a PAC T-shirt (showing the architect's rendering of the new building).

Members of this student group will be stationed in the north lobby of the Trustees Building (and other locations) Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 28 and 29 to take contributions. Could you possibly get pictures of this group? Current students have not been involved in the campaign to date.

I am working on a press release now concerning recent developments in the "Come of Age" capital campaign. You should have this by Wednesday. Thus far, we've raised $2.6 million of the $4.2 million needed to build the facility. The college is awaiting word from several major foundations regarding grant applications.

Final architectural plans for the PAC have been approved and a local contractor has been hired to develop construction documents and a final cost estimate for presentation to the board of trustees in January. Obviously, we cannot start construction until we raise more money.

Any help you can give us to keep this project before the public will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yours,

METHODIST COLLEGE SELECTS CONTRACTOR FOR NEW BUILDING

Fayetteville, NC--A special subcommittee of the Methodist College Board of Trustees has selected Player, Inc. of Fayetteville to build the proposed Physical Activities Center.

Gene Clayton, vice-president for development at Methodist, said the Player firm was one of eight general contractors that made presentations to a trustees' subcommittee Oct. 1. He said the subcommittee recommended Player's selection to the trustees' Executive Committee, which accepted the recommendation Oct. 15 and voted to enter a two-level contract with Player, Inc.

Clayton said the Player firm has been retained to work with the architect, Hayes-Howell of Southern Pines, on final design and construction documents for the new facility and present a "maximum cost of construction with a not to exceed cap" to the college trustees Jan. 28, 1988.

"We're pleased that a Fayetteville contractor was selected to build this facility," said Clayton. "Player built our auditorium/fine arts building, administration building, and an addition to the Student Union in 1967-68."

"In January," explained Clayton, "the trustees should be in a position to know what funds are available, what the building will cost, and whether they can set a starting date for construction."

Methodist's "Come of Age" capital campaign to raise funds for the new facility has generated $2.6 million in gifts and pledges in the last year. The estimated cost of the building is $3.5 million. But the total project cost, including campaign expenses, site preparation, architect's fees, and construction of eight new tennis courts, is estimated at $4.2 million.

College officials are continuing fund-raising efforts for the new facility. The development office has applied to several major foundations for grants and established a fund-raising organization among current students. Next week the development office will conduct its second alumni phonathon to solicit funds for the building.

Methodist's new Physical Activities Center will replace a prefabricated steel structure which has been used as a "temporary gymnasium" since 1963. The 52,000-square-foot building will be built on a site near Cumberland Hall, where tennis courts are currently located. The new PAC will contain: a 1,200-seat gymnasium/arena, racquetball courts, swimming pool, locker rooms, training rooms, classrooms, and coaches' offices.

METHODIST COLLEGE THEATRE DEPARTMENT TO PRESENT 'THE GOOD DOCTOR'

Fayetteville, NC--The Methodist College Theatre Department will present Neil Simon's comedy "The Good Doctor" Nov. 20-21 at 8 p.m. in Reeves Auditorium. Admission is free.

Cast members include: Scott Enerson, Daniel Covell, Tammy Poole, Joe Vernon, Elaine Jordan, Roberta High, Kelly Dickerson, John Kelly, Kelvin Watkins, Reed Swanson, Patrick Deery, Fran Mizell, Anthony Westbrooks, Rahn Kersey, Charles Hale, Jane Heeckt, Hazel Gordon, and Angela Stallings. Florence Cohen will direct the production.

Green and Gold Masque Keys, the college drama group, will be accepting donations of food and clothing for Fayetteville Urban Ministries between now and Dec. 4. Persons who plan to attend "The Good Doctor" are encouraged to bring donations at that time. Items may be deposited in specially marked boxes in the Student Union or in the Theatre Department in the Reeves Fine Arts Building.
