METHODIST ALUMNI HONOR SOCIOLOGY PROFESSOR

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- The Methodist College Alumni Association recently presented its 1991 Outstanding Faculty Award to Dr. John Sill, professor of sociology.

Mrs. Terry Moore Brown '85, assistant professor of social work and a former student of Dr. Sill's, presented the award at the homecoming luncheon Oct. 12.

Dr. Sill was cited for exemplary teaching, for organizing a Methodist College chapter of Sigma Omega Chi (sociology honorary) and the Social Work/Sociology Club, and for his enthusiastic support of all college activities. He has taught sociology at Methodist since 1978 and now serves as assistant dean. He has also served Methodist as director of the Social Sciences Division and director of guidance and placement. He is an ordained minister and a chaplain in the U.S. Army Reserve.

A native of Warrensburg, Ohio, John Sill holds degrees from Central Missouri State University, Phillips University, and Oklahoma State University. He and his wife Phoebe live in Pinehurst. They have three children.

GENERAL HANDY HONORED

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Air Force Brigadier General John W. Handy, Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff of Operations and Transportation at Headquarters Command, Scott AFB, was honored October 12 by the Methodist College Alumni Association in Fayetteville, NC.

General Handy received the 1991 Distinguished Alumnus Award, given for outstanding professional achievements and community service. He is a 1966 graduate of Methodist College, a four-year liberal arts college where he earned a B.A. in history. He also holds an M.S. in systems management from the University of Southern California.

The 25-year Air Force veteran was cited for his distinguished military record, service to the Methodist College Alumni Association as a director and phonathon volunteer, and service to the Charleston (SC) community. During his Charleston command, General Handy served as chairman of the 1990 Combined Federal Campaign which raised $2.7 million for the greater Charleston area. He was a member of the Rotary and Lion's Clubs and the Board of Directors of the Trident United Way.

Prior to his recent promotion to brigadier general and assignment to Scott AFB, General Handy was commander of the 437th Military Airlift Command at Charleston Air Force Base.

While at Charleston Air Force Base, General Handy was responsible for more than 4,200 military and 1,700 civilians who worked together to provide airlift support as directed by the President, the Department of Defense, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Military Airlift Command.

During Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm, Charleston-launched missions provided about one fourth of all airlift to support the Gulf crisis. Equipment, troop and supply airlift made up the majority of the missions flown by Charleston crews and Charleston maintenance troops launched the first 300 missions for Operation Desert Shield without a single delay. From the onset of airlift in August until Feb. 28, the Charleston maintenance force launched more than 3,200 missions with an on-time reliability rate of 96.6 percent.

In 1989-90 General Handy was Commander of the 435th Tactical Airlift Wing at Rhein-Main Air Force Base, Germany. The Raleigh, NC native earned his wings in 1968 at Webb Air Force Base, Texas. He is a command pilot with more than 7,000 flying hours. He logged more than 300 during the Vietnam War. His decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal with three oak leaf clusters and the Air Medal with one oak leaf cluster.

In 1974 he was a C-130 exchange officer with the New Zealand Air Force. From 1976-79 he was a maintenance officer with the 60th Military Airlift Wing, Travis AFB, California. From 1980-83, he was assigned to the 317th Tactical Airlift Wing, Pope Air Force Base.

Upon graduation from the National War College in 1983, General Handy was assigned to the Directorate of Logistics, Headquarters USAF. From 1987-89, he was deputy commander for operations, 317th Tactical Airlift Wing at Pope Air Force Base.

General Handy is married to Mary Fagen from Oconomowoc, Wisconsin. They have one daughter, Mary.

SMITH, TIPPETT TO DISCUSS ECONOMIC OUTLOOK FOR 1992

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Joel A. Smith, III, president of NCNB National Bank of South Carolina and Carolinas Banking Group Executive, will deliver the keynote address of the Outlook for 1992 Symposium Thursday, Nov. 14 at Methodist College.

Is the U.S. recession ending? "Mr. Smith is in a good position to answer this question and tell us what to expect in 1992," noted Dr. Sid Gautam, economics professor at Methodist College.

Mr. Smith is a graduate of the University of the South, the National Commercial Lending School of the University of Oklahoma, and the School of Banking of the South. He is active in many professional and civic organizations and is currently chairman of the board of the Greater Columbia (SC) Chamber of Commerce.

W. Lyndo Tippett, president of the Fayetteville Area Chamber of Commerce, will also address the gathering. He will discuss the outlook for Cumberland County in 1992.

Mr. Tippett is a Certified Public Accountant and a partner in the firm of Tippett, Padrick, Faircloth & Bryan, CPA's. He holds a bachelor's degree from Barton College.

Methodist College will recognize outstanding business achievements in 1991 by presenting awards to: the Entrepreneur of the Year, and outstanding business student (Wall Street Journal Award), Economics and Business Alumnus of the Year, and Business Person of the Year.

The symposium is sponsored jointly by the Fayetteville Area Chamber of Commerce, the N.C. Small Business and Technology Center, Carolina Telephone, and the Center for Entrepreneurship at Methodist College.

-MORE-

Tickets for the symposium and banquet are $12 per person, payable to Methodist College. Reservations and checks should be sent to Dr. Sid Gautam, Director; Center for Entrepreneurship; Methodist College; 5400 Ramsey Street; Fayetteville, NC 28311 by November 11.

-30-

SPECIAL NOTE TO NEWS MEDIA -- You are cordially invited to send a representative (as our guest) to the banquet and symposium. Mr. Smith will be available for interviews at 6:30 p.m. in the President's Dining Room. Please R.S.V.P. to Bill Billings, 630-7043, by 5 p.m., November 11.

ARMY HONORS METHODIST COLLEGE ROTC INSTRUCTOR

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Captain John Bucciarelli, head of Methodist College's Department of Military Science, has received an Army Commendation Medal for revising curriculum guides used in the Army's ROTC programs.

The Army has also directed that Capt. Bucciarelli's eight-volume package be duplicated and distributed nationwide for use by 400 college ROTC instructors.

"I did not like the training manuals I found when I came here," said Capt. Bucciarelli. "The Training Support Packages (curriculum guides for the eight courses that comprise the college ROTC program) contained errors, duplications, and inconsistencies in format, which made teaching difficult. Students were shown page after page of lists and groupings in the form of transparencies on an overhead projector. There was no textbook."

"I updated and revised the content to make it more complete and provide a better image of the Army in the classroom," he said. "It took me a year to get through the eight courses and see the entire scope and sequence of the ROTC program."

After 1,400 hours of typesetting, cutting and pasting, Capt. Bucciarelli came up with six volumes of transparency masters for eight semesters of course work. He did most of the work at home, using his own personal computer, Harvard Graphics software, and 200 rolls of Scotch tape. In addition, he produced a curriculum guide or syllabus for four years of college ROTC (eight semester-long courses) and an Army ROTC Cadet Textbook/Notebook.

"All the visuals were reduced in size and placed two on a page, with an adjacent 'notepad' area where students could take notes," he explained. "This is the textbook which will now be used nationwide."

Selling his revised curriculum materials to the Army proved to be the easiest part of Capt. Bucciarelli's mission. It was accomplished in a series of presentations last summer. First, he took the idea to Lt. Col. Charles Jeffery, his commanding officer at Campbell University. (The Methodist ROTC unit-- Monarch Company -- is part of the Campbell ROTC Battalion).

The primary reason for the wide variation in course formats was the fact that each of the eight courses was prepared by a different Army unit, based on that unit's expertise in the subject being covered. Consequently, there was overlapping and some repetition.

Lt. Col. Jeffery was impressed with the materials and set up a briefing with Col. Don Latella, 5th Brigade Commander, 1st ROTC Region at Fort Bragg.

Col. Latella also liked the materials and arranged a briefing with Brig. Gen. Julius F. Johnson, Commander of the 1st ROTC Region. General Johnson directed that the materials be used throughout the 1st Region (East Coast), awarded Capt. Bucciarelli an Army Commendation medal, and set up a briefing with Col. R.A. Harris, head of the training division for ROTC Command, Fort Monroe, Virginia. After Capt. Bucciarelli briefed Col. Harris Sept. 3, the colonel ordered the production and distribution of 400 sets of the new ROTC package for use by college ROTC detachments throughout the nation.

"I think this new format has helped our program immensely," said Capt. Bucciarelli. "Our cadets like having a textbook. My peers like the new material very much. It's kind of mind-boggling to think everyone has accepted the curriculum and it's going to be used nationwide."
