DAVIDSON ASSISTANT NAMED HEAD FOOTBALL COACH AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC--Methodist College has named James Carroll Sypult, an assistant football coach at Davidson College, head football coach effective January 27.

Mr. Sypult inherits a young, NCAA Division III program which compiled a record of 2-28 during its first three years. He replaces John Crea, who was head coach at Methodist from 1988-91.

A native of Faimont, West Virginia, Jim Sypult played football at West Virginia University, where he earned bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education. He has 18 years of college coaching experience--12 at Davidson, five at Middle Tennessee State University, and one at Faimont State College.

He was defensive coordinator, administrative assistant, linebacker and secondary coach at Davidson from 1979-88 and in 1990-91. He was head coach of the Bologna Towers, a professional football team in Italy, from 1986-89 (two seasons).

"Methodist College is fortunate to recruit as a coach a man of Jim Sypult's experience," said Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president. "His knowledge of football is excellent. His knowledge of a Division III program in an academic environment will also be of value to Methodist College."

Athletic Director Rita Wiggs said Mr. Sypult was selected from a pool of 115 applicants. "With his broad knowledge of North Carolina and his 18 years of college coaching experience," she noted, "he should be a very effective recruiter."

Sypult said he regards the head football post at Methodist as "a great opportunity" and was impressed to learn that Methodist is nationally ranked in so many Division III sports (golf, soccer, baseball). "Why not football?" he asked.

"Division III is the purest form of college football," said Sypult, "because the students are not paid (through athletic scholarships) to play. Academics comes first at these schools."

Coach Sypult said he intends to build a winning team "that will be a credit to Methodist College."

"There's great high school football in the Fayetteville area," said Coach Sypult, "My approach will be to go after the local talent and then move out from there. My first priority on arriving will be to meet with existing team members and get to know them."

METHODIST COLLEGE NAMES DIRECTOR OF DEVELOPMENT

FAYETTEVILLE, NC -- Methodist College has named Beverly S. Pankey vice president for development, effective January 20.

Mr. Pankey was previously employed as director of corporate relations at Aquinas College in Grand Rapids, Michigan. He succeeds Thomas W. Williams, Jr., who resigned in December.

Methodist's new fund-raiser directed an $8 million plus capital campaign for Aquinas College from 1990-91. He also taught courses in marketing, strategic planning, and small business management. Mr. Pankey was previously director of marketing for two Michigan furniture & office systems manufacturers and served 21 years as a supply corps officer in the navy.

Mr. Pankey holds a B.S. degree in engineering from the U.S. Naval Academy. He earned a bachelor's degree in business administration and a master's degree in management from Aquinas College. He has taught business courses at Aquinas, Davenport College, Rhode Island Junior College, and Longwood College.

"Methodist College is fortunate to recruit a man like Bev Pankey," said Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president. "His enthusiasm for Christian higher education and his previous success as a fund-raiser will be invaluable to the college."

Bev Pankey describes college development work as "a matter of faith -- persuading people that the college is worth supporting, and numbers -- reaching as many friends, alumni and foundations as possible." He said his immediate goals at Methodist will be to expand the donor base and increase giving by businesses, friends, and alumni.

-MORE-

"I see a lot of strengths at Methodist," said the new vice president. "The faculty and staff seem to have a genuine interest in students. Methodist teaches Christian values and that's extremely important. There's a good, cooperative spirit here and a wholesome atmosphere. Methodist College has accomplished a lot in its first 30 years and already has an excellent reputation."
