METHODIST COLLEGE FACULTY MEMBER ATTENDS USPTA CONFERENCE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Dr. Theresa Warrell, Director of Professional Tennis Management at Methodist College, recently attended the premier education event in the tennis industry, the 70th USPTA World Conference on Tennis.

Nearly 1,500 of the nation's most influential tennis teachers and leaders gathered Sept. 14-22 in Cancun, Mexico, to attend educational seminars and industry meetings, network, see new products and compete in prize-money tournaments.

The convention, held at the Fiesta Americana Coral Beach Cancun Hotel, featured some of the top names in tennis, including George Basco, Peter Burwash, Jack Groppe, Ph.D., Jim Loehr, Ed.D., and Virginia Wade.

"Attending the 70th USPTA World Conference on Tennis shows that a teaching professional is committed to staying on top of the latest changes in the game, and business, of tennis," said Tim Heckler, USPTA's CEO.

At conference seminars, attendees learned about sport science, teaching and coaching techniques, tennis club management, career development, computer technology and the latest grassroots programs to introduce new players to tennis.

Other events included the annual Awards Breakfast where USPTA's top members were honored with national awards and the $30,000 USPTA International Championships.

Founded in 1927, USPTA is the world's oldest and largest association of tennis-teaching professionals. The nonprofit association strives to raise the standards of the tennis profession while promoting greater awareness of the sport. USPTA's 11,000 members include 1,500 internationally, and represent nearly 60 countries. The association offers more than 30 professional benefits for its members, including certification and extensive educational opportunities.
