METHODIST COLLEGE STUDENT ATTENDS FOREIGN POLICY CONFERENCE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Mary Johnston, a Methodist College junior, attended the annual Student Conference on United States Affairs at West Point, New York, Nov. 18-21.

Held on the campus of the U. S. Military Academy, the conference gives 200 outstanding college students an opportunity to discuss pressing foreign policy issues facing the U. S. and to interact with distinguished policy makers and academicians. Mary and twenty other students participated in a round table discussion entitled "Global Responsibilities." They explored the issues of human rights, the environment, and global governance.

The faculty of the Tally Center for Leadership Development nominated Mary to be this year's Methodist College delegate to SCUSA and the college paid all her expenses. Mary is from Woodstown, New Jersey and is majoring in communications and minoring in leadership studies. She was recently inducted into Alpha Chi, a national honor society, and currently serves as a Student Government Association senator, a peer mentor, and a member of the Residence Hall Association.

Methodist previously sent delegates to SCUSA in 1994 and 1996. Each year since 1949, the U. S. Military Academy at West Point has hosted the Student Conference on United States Affairs. The conference give students the opportunity to discuss U. S. national interests and global leadership in the context of current international events and to formulate proposals for American foreign policy.

EDUCATOR, MINISTER ADDRESS WINTER GRADUATES OF METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Winter graduates of Methodist College were urged Dec. 18 to leave clear footprints “that show evidence of days well-spent” as they begin new career paths and face new responsibilities.

Dr. Michael E. Ward, North Carolina’s state superintendent of public instruction, said Dec. 18 marked the eighth anniversary of the death of his father. He revealed that his father had gone out the morning of the day he died and tilled his garden, leaving clear footprints that his family discovered later.

“We leave tracks as we move through this life, “ said Dr. Ward. “Your footprints will be clear. Some will follow your trail. Your example is never neutral. It’s either positive or negative, helpful or destructive.”

He encouraged members of the winter Class of ‘98 to walk plainly by: cherishing family and friends, being enthusiastic in their work, being peacemakers in their communities and nation, and performing acts of kindness and compassion. “I hope you will be successful and be No. 1 in integrity,” he concluded.

In the morning baccalaureate sermon, Reverend F. Belton Joyner, Jr., administrative assistant to the bishop and director of ministerial relations for the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, spoke “Of Methodist and Mantles.”

His sermon was based on II Kings 2: 6-15, the story of the prophet Elijah being taken up to heaven in a chariot of fire, leaving his mantle (cloak) behind for his follower Elisha. Elisha rolled the mantle up in a manner similar to what Elijah had done and struck the water of the Jordan River, which parted so he could cross.

“Your professors and friends at Methodist have been your Elijah,” said Reverend Joyner. “But now they’re going to be gone. Life is lived in a world of questions and that’s good; it opens up things. I invite you to walk with Elijah.

“Faith has the joy of living without having the answers,” he continued. “If Methodist College has done its work, you now hold in your hand the mantle of those who went before you.”

Methodist awarded degrees to 112 students at the 26th winter commencement. College President Elton Hendricks accepted the flag of the Dominican Republic from Isabel Barcelo. He also presented the Sam Edwards Award to Darrell Lee Finney, voted the most outstanding Evening College student in the Class of ‘98.

Dr. Hendricks presented a Methodist College Medallion to Fayetteville Mayor J. L. Dawkins, citing his tireless efforts over the last ten years to revitalize the downtown area, to improve the city’s image, and to improve the quality of life for all city residents.

William E. Turner, an Army ROTC cadet, took the Oath of Allegiance and was commissioned a second lieutenant.
