Alpha Psi Omega is the national honorary dramatic fraternity. Membership is by invitation only and is based upon service to the theatre and to the community. The Omicron Mu cast at Methodist College has resurrected from zero members in 1997 to 25 active members today. They have had three separate classes for initiation, conducted four community service projects, produced and directed three complete shows this academic year.

I would like to ask the following students to come forward:

Kenneth Asay
Phil Colby
Stephanie Decker
Danielle Dombrowski
Clint Edwards
Lindsay Summer Gilmore
Sharmis Oulton
Denise Shuey
Bridgette VanDusen

These are our graduating seniors, and are receiving certificates of service to Alpha Psi Omega and to the Methodist College community.

As they come forward, I would like to note that most of these students were in the initial resurrection class for the Omicron Mu Cast.

Give out stuff.

Alpha Psi Omega recognizes one student each year for the Outstanding Service to Theatre award. Our recipient this year is a graduating senior, with a major in theatre, who has served this year as president for our cast. She took on the task of directing Steel Magnolias, which was a great success, and did this major show in just four weeks time.

I am pleased to award this year's Outstanding Contribution to Theatre <sup>A</sup> award to Ms. Stephanie Decker.

DUKE THEOLOGIAN TELLS METHODIST COLLEGE GRADUATES, “DON’T WORRY, BE FAITHFUL.”

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—“Be faithful. Keep hope alive. Be a person of love.” That was the advice offered to 170 graduates at Methodist College’s 36th spring commencement May 8 in the March F. Riddle Center.

The commencement speaker was Dr. L. Gregory Jones, dean of the Divinity School and professor of theology at Duke University. Dr. Jones urged members of the Class of 1999 to: first, be faithful to God, your families and friends and your vocation; second, in good times and bad, keep hope alive; and third, remember that “love is what you’ve been through with someone.”

At the morning baccalaureate service in Reeves Auditorium, Dr. Kenneth Collins, professor of church history at Asbury Theological Seminary in Kentucky, said the true greatness of God begins with the cross—the humble, sacrificial love of Jesus Christ. “The good news of the Gospel is there is hope for the lowly among us,” he said. The author of four books and numerous articles about John Wesley, the founder of Methodism, Dr. Collins taught religion at Methodist from 1984-1995.

Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president, presented the L. Stacy Weaver Award to Denise Shuey, a math major from Tower City, PA, denoting her selection by the faculty as the senior who best exemplified academic excellence, spiritual development, leadership, and service.

Dr. Hendricks also presented an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree to J. Nelson Gibson Jr., a retired farmer from Gibson, NC. Mr. Gibson was honored for seventy years of exemplary service as a United Methodist lay leader and thirty-two years’ service as a Methodist College trustee. As one of the original trustees seated in 1956, Mr. Gibson worked closely with President L. Stacy Weaver and Board Chairman Terry Sanford on the planning and staffing of Methodist College.

In other commencement activities:

—Five graduating seniors who were born outside the U. S. presented the flags of their native countries to the college: Arkadiy Gornovoy of Russia, Ivana Janciarova of Slovakia, Kemal Kansu of Turkey, Wayne Newton of Trinidad and Tobago, and Yei Zigbuo of Liberia.

—Army ROTC cadets Brooke Cindy Shlisky and Robert A. Konopka Jr. were commissioned as second lieutenants.

—Forty-five of the 170 members of the spring graduating class graduated with honors.

PRIDE* RECEIVES 'FIRST PLACE' AWARD FROM AMERICAN SCHOLASTIC PRESS

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—PRIDE, the student newspaper at Methodist College, recently won a First Place award from the American Scholastic Press Association at College Point, NY.

A staff of about a dozen students produced ten issues during the 1998-99 school year. The paper had two editors—Cindy Hawkins for the first semester and Cindy Bridges for the second semester. Both editors were older, non-traditional students and spouses of servicemen stationed at Fort Bragg.

Mrs. Hawkins graduated in May with a degree in writing. Mrs. Bridges, a rising senior majoring in history, will continue as editor for the coming school year. She recently received the Publisher's Award for journalistic excellence, given by Ramon Yarborough, publisher of the Fayetteville Observer-Times.

"Clearly, the quality of the writing and the overall design of the paper improved last year," said Caroline Kearns '93, student media adviser. "ASP gave the paper 950 out of a possible 1,000 points. In our category—colleges with enrollments between 1,001 and 1,700—only six newspapers received First Place awards. I am proud of the work done by the staff."

Last year was also a year of technological advancements for the newspaper staff. With the acquisition of Photoshop software and a negative scanner, the staff was able to scan all photos and prepare all layouts electronically for the first time. Each issue of PRIDE was delivered to the printer, Dickson Press of Raeford, NC, on a diskette.
