FOUR METHODIST STUDENTS TO PRESENT ORIGINAL PAPERS AT STUDENT LYCEUM

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Four Methodist College students will present scholarly papers at a Student Lyceum Monday, April 17. The event is scheduled for 7 p.m. in Yarborough Auditorium, Clark Hall. It is free and open to the public.

The student presenters and the titles of their papers are: Jeanna Maynard, "The Matrix: the Movie, the Myth;" Irena Jorgenson, "Poetry is the Devil's Wine;" Jeremy Wilson, "Service with a Smile: An Examination of the Relationship Between Personality Type and Job Satisfaction in Policing;" and Rachel Beaulieu, "Hollywood's Ugly Monsters & Good Americans."

Jeanna Maynard is a junior from Saint Pauls, NC, majoring in religion. Irena Jorgenson is a junior from Fayetteville, majoring in biology. Jeremy Wilson is a senior from Lake Toxaway, NC, majoring in criminal justice and sociology. Rachel Beaulieu is a sophomore from Fayetteville, majoring in English.

A committee of Methodist College faculty members invited the four students to read their papers after reviewing student submissions. The Lyceum is sponsored by the Faculty and Collegiality and Development Group.

The MC Debate Team will moderate the event. A reception, hosted by Dr. Tony DeLapa, vice president for academic affairs, will follow the presentations.

METHODIST COLLEGE ALUMNUS PROMOTED TO VICE CHIEF OF STAFF, U. S. AIR FORCE

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Methodist College alumnus John W. Handy became a full general and vice chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force April 13.

The Raleigh, N.C., native received his fourth star in a ceremony at the Bolling Air Force Base Officers Club. As vice chief of staff, he presides over the Air Staff and serves as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff Joint Requirements Oversight Council. He is based at the Pentagon.

Handy succeeds Gen. Lester L. Lyles, who is assuming command of Air Force Materiel Command, Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. Before moving to the vice chief of staff position, Handy was the deputy chief of staff for installations and logistics, Headquarters U. S. Air Force, Washington, D.C.

College President M. Elton Hendricks, who was an invited guest at Handy's promotion ceremony, said, "It was exciting to see a Methodist College graduate rise to such a high position of visibility and responsibility."

A 1966 graduate of Methodist, Handy majored in history. In 1979, he earned a master's degree in systems management at the University of Southern California. In May 1992, Methodist awarded him an honorary Doctor of Humanities degree, and Handy gave the commencement address. Handy has also completed the Program for Senior Executives, John F. Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University.

Handy received his pilot wings in 1968 and is a command pilot with more than 4,800 flying hours. As a C-130 pilot, he logged more than 300 combat hours in Southeast Asia, earning him the Republic of Vietnam Gallantry Cross with Palm.

SCHOLARSHIP LUNCHEON DRAWS 60 RECIPIENTS, 33 DONORS

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Sixty scholarship recipients and 33 scholarship benefactors gathered April 6 at Methodist College for the Annual Scholarship Luncheon. The luncheon affords benefactors of endowed scholarships and student recipients an opportunity for fellowship.

Three persons spoke at the luncheon. Mrs. Deleano Williams, benefactor of the Brantley Memorial Scholarship, explained why she set up an endowed scholarship at Methodist. Ms. Erin Swink, an admissions counselor at Methodist and a 1999 graduate, expressed her gratitude for the scholarships she had received. Mr. Charles McAdams, the College's first director of public relations and development, said he and his wife Verna (now deceased) set up an endowed scholarship "because we wanted to leave something behind that will live long after we are gone."

Billy Wellons, one of the benefactors of the William Wellons Family Scholarship, gave the invocation. Flutists Rachael Schultz and Desiree Horton, current students at Methodist, performed several selections for the group.

More than $70,000 in endowed scholarship funds was awarded to more than 130 Methodist College students during the 1999-2000 academic year. The College currently has 100 endowed scholarships with a variety of eligibility criteria.

Persons interested in endowing a scholarship at Methodist should contact the Advancement Office at (910) 630-7200 or (888) 221-4826. Prospective or current students interested in available scholarships should contact the Financial Aid Office at (910) 630-7192.

CHRIS BUTLER'S SENIOR ART EXHIBIT OPENS APRIL 25 AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Chris D. Butler will present his senior art exhibit April 25–May 1 in the Mallett-Rogers House at Methodist College. Entitled “I Witness,” the show will open with a public reception Tuesday, April 25 from 6–9 p.m.

Butler was born in Memphis, Tennessee, but reared in Fayetteville. He attended Terry Sanford High School. He will graduate from Methodist May 6 with a Bachelor of Arts in Art Education, Grades K-12.

Butler says his current body of works is a collection of paintings, drawings and prints created from personal experience. “Not to be lost in technological age,” notes Butler, “is the fact that the greatest teacher will always be experience.”

“I Witness” can be viewed April 26–May 1 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Mallett-Rogers House.

LUTTE LEE ERWIN'S SENIOR ART EXHIBIT OPENS MAY 5 AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Lutte Lee Erwin of Fayetteville will present her senior art exhibit May 5–12 in the Mallett-Rogers House at Methodist College. The show will open with a public reception Friday, May 5 from 6–9 p.m. The exhibit will remain open May 6–12 from 9 a.m.–5 p.m.

A native of Change Tao, China, Lu Erwin came to America after marrying a Green Beret whom she met in Taiwan. She operated a flower shop in Haymount (Casual Elegance) for 10 years; in her mid-sixties she decided to enroll at Methodist College to study art. She will graduate May 6 with a B.A. in Art with a Concentration in Ceramic Sculpture.

Lu Erwin's senior art exhibit will feature 11 ceramic sculptures, nine drawings, six paintings, an embossing, and an etching. Although her speciality is ceramics, she plans to return to Methodist this fall to take a course in printmaking.

METHODIST COLLEGE STUDENTS ELECT STUDENT GOVERNMENT OFFICERS & SENATORS

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Methodist College students recently elected Jessica Kupper, a junior sports management major from Huntingdon Valley, PA, president of the Student Government Association for the 2000-2001 school year.

In April 12 balloting for executive officers, Kupper defeated Scott Galayde by winning 58 percent of the vote. In the other contested race, Nathan Hoffman defeated Erin Schablik to become chief justice. In uncontested races, Bill Hooks was elected vice president, Lindsay Spitzer treasurer and Corrin Whartenby secretary.

In a victory statement to the student newspaper, Kupper challenged her fellow underclassmen to return to school next year ready to “make a difference” by participating more fully in the S.G.A. and other student organizations and by working together to make Methodist College a better place.

In April 19 balloting for the S.G.A. Senate, the following students were elected: Marianne Atwell, Stacie Bird, Carol Brogan, Jennifer Foreman, Scott Galayde, Anthony Hibbert, Celena Jackson, Ridge Johnson, Tim Licata, John Morris, Erin Schablik, and Roman Trudnenko.

STUDENT NEWSPAPER WINS FIRST PLACE AWARD FROM ASPA

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—Monarch Messenger, the student newspaper at Methodist College, recently won a First Place award from the American Scholastic Press Association.

The Monarch Messenger was one of seven college newspapers accorded First Place honors in the newspaper division for colleges and universities with enrollments of 1701-2500. Co-editors Cindy Bridges and Chuck Heaton headed a newspaper staff of approximately 30 students. Heaton, a freshman English major, will be editor for the upcoming school year.

“The paper went through many changes this year, including the name and overall layout design,” said Jami Sheppard, director of student media. “ASPA judged the paper according to content coverage, page design, general plan, art, advertising, illustrations, editing, and creativity. I think the paper speaks for itself and shows the time, energy, and talent of the staff members.”

The Monarch Messenger was produced with PageMaker software; photos were scanned using a flatbed scanner and Photoshop. Each issue was delivered to the printer on a zip disk.

'STUDENTS IN FREE ENTERPRISE' TEAM FROM METHODIST COLLEGE ADVANCES TO INTERNATIONAL COMPETITION IN KANSAS CITY

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—A six-member team from the Methodist College chapter of Students in Free Enterprise will compete in the Hallmark Cards SIFE International Exposition and Career Opportunity Fair May 21-23 in Kansas City.

Methodist's team was one of eight college teams that advanced to international competition after making award-winning presentations at SIFE's Atlanta Regional Exposition April 10. A total of 84 teams from four-year and two-year colleges competed in Atlanta.

The MC contingent made a 24-minute presentation entitled "Economic Education Through Community Involvement" before a panel of 14 business executives. Utilizing charts, an annual report produced with Microsoft Publisher, lecturers, and a PowerPoint presentation, the team members showcased specific projects completed this school year in the areas of economics education, community service, and fund-raising.

"It was a professional and flawless presentation," said Dr. Jeff Zimmerman, SIFE adviser and associate professor of economics and finance. "The team members were fired up and full of enthusiasm. I knew we had the projects, but I wasn't sure how the presentation would go. Good students and quality leadership made this possible."

Methodist's SIFE Presentation Team included the following business majors: Joe Conver, a senior from Escondido, CA (Conver is president of the SIFE chapter); Christine Scholl, a senior from Fayetteville; Joe Muraca III, a junior from Trumansburg, NY; Juliana Suso, a senior from Cali, Colombia; William John Walsh IV, a senior from Yorktown, VA; and Heather Torres, a senior from Manning, IA. Mike Kissinger, a junior from Fayetteville, served as equipment manager.

This past year, Methodist's SIFE chapter made economics education presentations to 134 third graders, 22 ninth graders, 70 high schools students, and 230 members of the College community. In the area of community service, the chapter did lawn work for disabled persons in Fayetteville, painted three shelters for the homeless, provided income tax preparation assistance, adopted a local street, and did volunteer work at several chamber of commerce events. In the area of fund-raising, the group conducted four food sales, sold football merchandise at College games, and held a car wash.

What can the SIFE team expect in Kansas City? “We’ll go through several elimination rounds,” said Zimmerman. “If the enthusiasm shown in Atlanta carries over, I believe our team will do well. Success breeds success.”

The SIFE adviser said the Kansas City experience will “give our students a great opportunity to present to high-level business executives and meet recruiters from blue-chip companies.” He said the CEO of Reynolds Aluminum told a SIFE audience two years ago that his firm likes to hire SIFE members because they talk about what ‘we’ did, and understand the importance of teamwork in a corporate setting.

Originally funded by the Wal-Mart Foundation, but now supported by many American corporations, Students in Free Enterprise is designed to “bring America’s collegians and other citizens to a better understanding and appreciation for the free enterprise system.” This is accomplished through community service projects by SIFE chapters and through the presentations of these projects at regional and national competitions. Methodist College established its SIFE chapter in 1990; the organization has a current membership of 25 students.

ROBIN GREENE NAMED PROFESSOR OF THE YEAR AT METHODIST COLLEGE

FAYETTEVILLE, NC—She was already a published poet and nonfiction writer, editor of Longleaf Press, working mom, and assistant professor of English at Methodist College. Now Robin Greene can add Professor of the Year to her growing list of awards and honors.

College President M. Elton Hendricks presented the Professor of the Year Award to Ms. Greene April 24 at the College's annual Awards Convocation. For the last nine years, she has taught English composition, business writing, and creative writing courses at Methodist. She moved from part-time to full-time faculty status in 1996.

Ms. Greene said the award came as a surprise to her, but added, "It feels wonderful. The honor means a lot to me, because I love teaching and because there are so many outstanding teachers at Methodist."

A native of New York City, Greene holds a B.A. in English from the University of Bridgeport, a M.A. in English from the State University of New York–Binghamton, and a M.F.A. in Writing from Vermont College. She is married to Dr. Michael Colonnese, a professor of English at Methodist. They have two sons: Daniel, 18, a senior at UNC-Chapel Hill, and Benjamin, 10, a 5th grader at Long Hill Elementary School.

Robin Greene, the poet, is well-known in North Carolina literary circles. Her poems have been published in 22 different poetry journals, and she has conducted poetry writing workshops in Durham, Chapel Hill, and Fayetteville. She has given poetry readings throughout the state and is an active member of the North Carolina Writers' Network. In 1991, her poetry chapbook, Memories of Light, won the Harperprints Poetry Competition. In 1992, she received a $7,500 Individual Artist Fellowship from the North Carolina Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts.

ROBIN GREENE / PROFESSOR OF THE YEAR

In January, Ms. Greene's first book—Real Birth: Women Share Their Stories—was published by Generation Books of Durham. It is a collection of 36 first-person narratives in which women discuss their childbirth experiences. The book has sold well and is being considered as a text for women's studies courses at several prestigious universities. In February, Greene was selected to participate in the Blumenthal Writers and Readers Series sponsored by the North Carolina Writers' Network.

Greene serves as editor of Longleaf Press at Methodist College, which she founded two years ago with her husband, Michael Colonnese, to publish the works of poets who reside in the Southeast. Longleaf sponsors an annual poetry chapbook contest for poets from the Southeast region and has published four chapbooks to date: Unravelings by Barbara Presnell of Lexington, NC; The Tar Baby on the Soapbox by Carole Weatherford of High Point, NC; Lost Languages by Jonathan Mintz of Wilkesboro, NC; and Mortal by Judas Riley Martinez of St. Augustine, FL.
