COLLEGE TAPS NEW DIRECTOR FOR REEVES SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

Methodist College has appointed Joseph F. Doll, Jr. of Washington, D.C. director of the Charles M. Reeves School of Business. His appointment is effective August 20.

Joe Doll is a 48-year-old entrepreneur and business executive, with more than 20 years experience in health care management and marketing. Mr. Doll founded two health care firms in Maryland, which operated skilled nursing facilities for the elderly. Last year he sold a chain of for-profit nursing homes to a major hospital group.

Mr. Doll succeeds Dr. Mike Marr as director of the Reeves School. Dr. Marr will return to full-time teaching as professor of business administration. Established in 1986 with a gift from Sanford, NC businessman Charles M. Reeves, Jr., the Reeves School of Business accounts for 40 percent of the degrees awarded annually by Methodist College.

Dr. Erik Bitterbaum, vice president for academic affairs at Methodist, said Mr. Doll will serve as liaison between the college and the local business community, will assist Mrs. Teresa Clark (a new faculty member) in setting up internships for business students, will assist with fundraising, and will teach two classes in business management. "He will also direct efforts toward accreditation of our business school by the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs," said Dr. Bitterbaum.

The new director of the Reeves School holds an MBA degree from American University and a BS degree from the University of Dayton. He was a member of the U.S.

Army Medical Corps stationed at Walter Reed Army Hospital, from 1966-71.

Mr. Doll said his primary goal as director "is to be part of and direct a program that will be known for its excellence and quality." He describes Fayetteville as "a growth market where I will be doing a lot of networking."

Before accepting the position in May, Mr. Doll met with golf management alumni in the D.C. area, visited with Mr. Reeves in Sanford, and met with local business leaders. He said he has no preconceived agenda for the Reeves School, but added, "Any business school today has to address the issue of productivity and how to be more competitive internationally."

GOLF COURSE OPENS AUGUST 25

Methodist College's new nine-hole golf course and practice facilities will open to the college community and the public August 25.

Built to accommodate the professional golf management program, the course will be supervised from 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. seven days a week.

Mr. Jerry Hogge, Director of the Professional Golf Management Program, will be in charge of the golf course, which covers approximately 75 acres on the southeast quadrant of the campus. The college maintenance and PGM staffs built the course over a five-year period.

In order to assist the college with this operational cost, green fees will be charged according to the following rates:

WAR MEMORIAL DEDICATION

'FREEDOM ISN'T FREE. PEACE ISN'T EASY.'

Methodist College dedicated a war memorial Wednesday, May 20 at the main flagpole opposite Horner Administration Building.

U.S. Army Capt. John Bucciarelli, director of Methodist's ROTC program, unveiled a simple granite marker bearing a bronze tablet. The tablet reads: "Methodist College War Memorial. Dedicated to our alumni and others who gave their lives in service to their country that we might live in peace and freedom."

Dr. Bill Lowdermilk gave the invocation and an honor guard from Fort Bragg presented the colors. A number of patients from the VA Medical Center and other veterans were present.

In a brief welcome, College President Elton Hendricks expressed the hope that monuments to war dead would not be needed in the future.

Dr. John Sill, professor of sociology at Methodist, gave the dedicatory address. Dr. Sill is a chaplain (major) in the U.S. Army Reserve.

"The best way to remember both our dead and living veterans is to become noted that the United States armed forces are "one of the main supports of freedom and democracy in the world."

The speaker concluded his address by saying, "Let those who pass this monument on their way to work or to class be reminded daily of the price that has been paid. Freedom isn't free. Peace isn't easy. They both demand vigilance, wisdom and determination."

Contributors to the War Memorial Project included: Nancy

Bosher of Lafayette Memorial Park and Mausoleum, Bruce and Keith Cane of Fayetteville Monuments, Gorham Bronze (Aiken, SC), and the Veterans' Club of Methodist College.

peacemakers," he said. "Our religious heritage in both the Old and New Testaments calls us to a vision of peace."

Dr. Sill acknowledged that Americans disagree on how best to achieve peace, but

HEATING, LIGHTING CHANGES WILL SAVE ENERGY

Methodist College has contracted with EUA/Highland Partners for a large-scale modification of heating and lighting systems on campus, installation of electronic energy controls, and removal of asbestos insulation in mechanical rooms.

EUA/Highland Partners will implement an Energy Conservation Management Program approved by college trustees May 28. The new system will reportedly reduce electric consumption by 20 percent and natural gas consumption by 65 percent.

The total cost is $1.57 million — $321,124 for energy management controls; $546,359 for new boilers, water heaters, and gas lines; $178,480 for retrofitting light fixtures with new high-efficiency fluorescent lamps and ballasts; $493,700 for asbestos removal and re-insulation; and $37,000 for technical support. The project will be completed during the next 10 months.

The construction is being financed through a local bank at a very favorable interest rate. The vendors have guaranteed that the savings generated each year by the new system will pay the amortization of the loan over the next ten years.

High-efficiency boilers, heat exchangers, and natural gas water heaters will be installed in each building on campus. This will eliminate the need for the four large boilers at the boiler plant, underground steam transmission lines, and three employees to maintain the boilers. A campus-wide system of controls and monitoring devices will turn off or cut back mechanical systems at appropriate times of day to reduce energy consumption.

For most of the year, the college secures heat and hot water from one natural gas-fired 350 HP steam boiler at the boiler plant. A second gas-fired boiler and two oil-fired boilers are used as backups or when cold weather requires a greater volume of steam. The underground (cast-iron) steam lines which were installed more than 30 years ago have deteriorated and frequently rupture.

In addition to the new energy management system, the college has completed Phase II of a four-year plan to replace underground electric cables. Carolina Power and Light has agreed to pay for and install the new cable and assume maintenance responsibilities; the college purchased transformers for each building and hired a local electrical contractor to install them.

▲ YE OLDE BOILER PLANT WILL BE PHASED-OUT UNDER THE NEW ENERGY CONSERVATION MANAGEMENT PROGRAM.

BOARD OF TRUSTEES ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Methodist College Board of Trustees elected a new chairman and vice-chairman May 28.

Frank Barragan, Jr., of Fayetteville was elected chairman. He is the board chairman and immediate past president of North Carolina Natural Gas Corporation. A of Raleigh, who served as board chairman for the past two years. Mr. Gaddy resigned from the board, citing new job responsibilities at WRAL-TV. He had served on the board of trustees since 1987.

Dillard Teer of Durham, was elected vice chairman. Walter Clark was re-elected secretary and Louis Spilman was re-elected treasurer. Mr. Clark and Mr. Spilman are Fayetteville residents.

Four new trustees were appointed and seven were reappointed by the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church in June. All appointments are effective July 1.

New board members elected to four-year terms include: Frank I. Ballard of Wilmington, Camille Yorkey Edwards of Ocean Isle Beach, JoAnna Cherry Palumbo of Charlotte, and Frank P. Stout of Fayetteville.

Trustees reappointed for four years are: William W. Sherman, Jr. of New Bern, Richard R. Allen of Fayetteville, Walter Clark of Fayetteville, Murray Duggins of Fayetteville, Joe M. Hatcher of Fayetteville, Terry Sanford of Durham, and John W. Wyatt, Jr. of Fayetteville.

Veteran trustees W. Robert Johnson of Goldsboro and I.H. O'Hanlon of Fayetteville retired from the board and are now trustees emeriti.

Catholic priest and three other Protestant ministers, "The senior Protestant minister decides who preaches when and what programs his staff will offer," he said. "At Homestead we had a congregation of about 400 every Sunday. We had a liturgical chapel service at 8:15 a.m., a traditional service at 11 a.m., and a gospel service at 12:30."

Chaplain Lewis said pastoral counseling is very important to military personnel blessings'—to give testimonies."

Rev. Lewis said the contemporary worship service has led many young adults to "look beyond themselves." Many of these young adults now attend a Wednesday evening Bible study at Lewis' home.

During Operation Desert Storm and Provide Comfort I and II (which airlifted food and supplies to the Kurds), Lewis was assigned to the 39th Special Operations Wing. The wing's main mission was to rescue downed pilots; it operated from Incerlik Air Base in Turkey.

On the night coalition forces attacked Baghdad by air, Lewis and other Air Force personnel were asleep in a gym at Incerlik. "Around 2:30 a.m. a fellow ran in and

Being a military chaplain requires patience and persistence, but the rewards are equal to those experienced by a traditional minister.

That's been the experience of Rev. Jerry Lewis '79, just completing his seventh year as an Air Force chaplain. He entered the chaplaincy in 1985, under special appointment by North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church. He is currently stationed at R.A.F. Bentwaters in the United Kingdom.

For the first time in three years, Jerry was able to come home on leave to attend the annual session of North Carolina Conference in June. His wife Pat and their three children traveled with him and visited Jerry's parents in Morehead City and Pat's parents in Sanford. He said he enjoyed being back on the Methodist campus and renewing old acquaintances.

During a break between sessions at annual conference, Jerry talked about his experiences as a military chaplain. "I felt called to this ministry when I was at Duke Divinity School," he noted. "I was accepted in 1985 and assigned to Homestead AFB in Florida."

At the time he was accepted, he had already served three churches in the North Carolina Conference—Verona (New Bern District), West End (Siler City District), and Moncure/Buckhorn (Sanford District). He had to be recommended for the chaplaincy by committees of the North Carolina Conference (Raleigh) and General Conference (Nashville).

At Homestead, Jerry was the junior officer (lieutenant) working with a who are separated from their families. "I deal a lot with unchurched people who will come to you for marital counseling but say 'I don't want to hear about God.' You have to work through that. But I have had breakthroughs in counseling where couples have accepted Christ."

Jerry Lewis' first love is preaching. "I love my Wesleyan roots and heritage," he said. After he was reassigned to R.A.F. Bentwaters in 1989, he started a contemporary worship service. In three years it grew from an average attendance of 35 to 110. "We start at 8 a.m. now to allow more time for praise songs," he explained. "During offertory people have the opportunity to share thanksgivings and told us 'The war's begun. Saddam's fired his SCUD's!' We immediately put on our chemical warfare gear. Fortunately, we were never hit by SCUD'S and suffered no casualties."

Chaplain Lewis said he is grateful to the North Carolina Conference and the United Methodist Church for the opportunity to minister and preach the gospel to Air Force personnel. He said he sends an annual report to Bishop Minnick and his district superintendent.

"At times I miss home," he said, "but I want to continue in the chaplaincy. Many airmen are facing an uncertain future with pending personnel cuts, and I think chaplains will have a major role to play in the next decade."

Lewis will be leaving the British air base next September, as the Air Force has announced plans to end operations there. He expects to be reassigned to an air base inside the U.S.

ENDOWMENT SOCIETY GIVES ALUMNI, FRIENDS OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE A 'PLANNED GIFT'

The Methodist College Endowment Society (MCES) is growing!

The new planned giving program was announced March 23 at a breakfast for friends of the college. The purpose of the MCES is to help secure the future of the college by building a strong endowment through insurance gifts and bequests. No college will be secure in the years ahead without a strong endowment.

Methodist College now has an endowment of approximately $3 million but needs at least $10 million to be secure. An endowment puts in place funds that will keep on giving permanently. Only the earnings are spent; investments remain intact so gifts grow and give more and more over time.

Healthy endowments enable colleges to make long-range plans based on a solid financial base.

Currently, the president is contacting friends and alums seeking their support through a planned gift. To date, eight new business professionals have joined, along with an equal number of faculty and administrators plus several other friends and trustees. We are also proud to acknowledge the following alums who are making a planned gift to Methodist College:

Louis Spilman, Jr.	'64
Pat Bracewell Clayton	'68
Debbie Bright Beavers	'74
Alan Womack	'82
Roger and Joan Pait	'85, '91
Ronald R. Apflert	'87

Robert L. Guilford '91

Perhaps you would like to join this group to help secure the future of Methodist College?

All members of the Methodist College Endowment Society will meet annually, this year on September 30, for a formal evening with spouses at the president's home. Not only is the society helping the college, but being a member will provide you a pleasant evening with others who recognize the importance of building for the future through a planned gift.

There are presently 30 members in the MCES. Our goal is to have the first 100 members by September 30. If you need more information, please contact B.S. Pankey, Vice President for Development at 630-7169.

DR. MARGARET FOLSOM RECEIVES TEACHING EXCELLENCE AND CAMPUS LEADERSHIP AWARD

Methodist College awarded its first annual Teaching Excellence and Campus Leadership Award to Dr. Margaret Folsom April 22.

The popular biology professor and director of the division of Science and Mathematics received a $500 grant and a plaque. Both faculty and students were involved in the nomination and selection process.

"I admire Margaret Folsom because she's an excellent teacher, is dedicated to her students, and keeps current in her discipline," said Dr. Erik Bitterbaum, vice president for academic affairs. "She also stresses experimentation and problem solving, which makes science very exciting."

Dr. Folsom has taught biology at Methodist College since 1973. A native of Plano, Iowa, she holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Northern Iowa and a Ph.D. from N.C. State University. An expert in biochemical toxicology who has published extensively, she has taught at least 10 different science courses at Methodist and has won numerous grants for the Science Department in recent years. Dr. Folsom keeps in close touch with science alumni and tracks their latest achievements.

METHODIST RECEIVES $200,000 FROM VIRGINIA REEVES ESTATE

Methodist College recently received a $200,000 bequest from the estate of Virginia McKenzie Reeves of Pinehurst. Mrs. Reeves died March 23, 1992. She was 86.

Mrs. Reeves was the widow of John Mercer Reeves, a textile manufacturer, former Methodist College trustee and philanthropist.

The Reeves Auditorium/Fine Arts Building at Methodist College is named for Mr. Reeves, who was its principal benefactor. Mr. Reeves died March 16, 1976 at the age of 88.

The Methodist College Board of Trustees directed that Mrs. Reeves' bequest be placed in the college's quasi-endowment. The funds will earn interest, but will also be available for special needs.

LION IN WINTER OPENS 1992-93 THEATRE SEASON

The Methodist College Theatre Department will open its 1992-93 season September 4 with a benefit performance of James Goldman's dark comedy, Lion in Winter.

Dr. Jack Peyrouse, professor of theatre and speech, directs this "scintillating chess game of passion and politics." Lion in Winter refers to King Henry II of England. The play chronicles a gathering of the royal family at Chinon, France during Christmas of 1183. Henry and his estranged wife Eleanor are joined by their sons Richard, Geoffrey, and John.

Fayetteville native Robert Bloodworth, assistant professor of communications at Methodist, will play Henry II. Mr. Bloodworth is a professional actor with extensive television, motion picture, and theatre credits.

Shannon Bailey of Raleigh will play Eleanor of Acquilaine. Ms. Bailey has starred in several Raleigh Little Theatre productions, including A Streetcar Named Desire and Wait Until Dark.

Robin Bloodworth, a professional actor from Georgia, will play Richard the Lionhearted, Henry's oldest son. (Robin is Robert Bloodworth's son.)

Performances will be held two consecutive weekends, September 4-6 and 11-12, in Reeves Auditorium. Show times are 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children and senior citizens.

Other major productions slated for the 1992-93 season include:

The Mouse That Roared, October 23-25
Pinnocchio, November 19-22

Carnival (a musical), March 4-7

The Will of R.D. (by Jack Peyrouse), April 1-4.

Student-directed performances will include: A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Improv, (Circuit Players), Oct. 17, Two by Tennessee (Williams), Nov. 13-15, and Caroline Kearns' Senior Project April 30-May 2.

The Methodist College Theatre Department is seeking "royal patrons" to help underwrite the 1992-93 season. Three levels of support are available in return for which patrons will receive season tickets and a listing in the program. Royal patrons will be identified as Lords and Ladies (for a gift of $100), Dukes and Duchesses (for a gift of $250), or Kings and Queens (for gift of $500).

Patrons may send their contributions to Dr. Jack Peyrouse, Methodist College, 5400 Ramsey Street, Fayetteville, NC 28311. Those who contribute by August 15 will be treated to a party following the opening performance of Lion in Winter.

RACER PIGEON FINDS ITS WAY HOME AFTER LANDING AT MC

A racer pigeon on its way to Fayetteville from Anniston, Alabama overshot its home base and landed at Methodist College April 28. The pigeon was soon reunited with its owner.

Students and staff noticed the banded pigeon walking around outside the north entrance to the Trustees Classroom Building during morning classes. It seemed unusually tame.

A staff member picked up the pigeon, called the Fayetteville phone number on one of its bands, and spoke with its owner. About two hours later Mr. Thaddeus J. Zdrodowski came to Horner Administration Building to claim his racer.

Mr. Zdrodowski said the bird was the 12th of 20 to reach home by Tuesday. The bird was entered in a race that began at 7 a.m. Saturday April 25 in Anniston, Alabama. "One bird made it home by 3 p.m. Saturday," he said. "That's a distance of 406.8 miles, but there was a southwest tailwind."

A member of the Fayetteville Racing Pigeon Club, Mr. Zdrodowski owns 100 specially bred racers. He said the pigeon which landed at Methodist was "probably tired and hungry" and might have eventually found its way back to its loft on Odom Drive near Cape Fear Valley Medical Center.

Mr. Zdrodowski thanked the college staff profusely for calling in the bird's location. He said his racers are all special and he was glad this one found a safe resting place.

STOCK ANALYST PREDICTS LOWER INFLATION, LOWER INTEREST RATES, ECONOMIC EXPANSION

Speaking at Methodist College April 30, a New York equity strategist predicted that stocks will go higher in the 90's "because inflation will abate."

"We're very positive for 1993," said John F. Connallon, a senior vice president at Shearson Lehman Brothers. Connallon said his firm urges the following investment mix for 1993—55 percent in stocks, 40 percent in bonds, and 5 percent in cash.

A record crowd of 350 attended the college's 15th annual Stock Market Symposium. Those in attendance were given a history lesson of sorts, complete with graphs and charts shown as overhead transparencies.

"Over the last 25 years, the average annual rate of inflation has been 6.2 percent," noted Mr. Connallon. "We've had hyperinflation." He said the lower rates of inflation America has experienced since 1990 "mean future earnings are worth more."

Using a chart entitled "The Outrageous Price of a Barbecue," Mr. Connallon illustrated the impact of inflation from 1966-90. The chart showed that prices soared: a new home, up 509 percent, a mid-sized Chevy, up 595 percent; a sirloin steak, up 318 percent, the Dow Jones Industrial Average, up 200 percent.

Mr. Connallon said the rates of return on treasury bonds and certificates of deposits were unusually high in the 1980's. "The curve has now normalized," he said, "Now you have to move out the yield curve and buy 10-12 year treasury bonds."

The speaker suggested that investors buy some quality blue-chip stocks—electric utilities, cyclicals (autos, housing) and telephone stocks in particular—in anticipation of an economic expansion. He predicted the Dow Jones Industrial Average would reach 3,700 within the next 12 months, IF: 1) a normal economic recovery continues, 2) inflation stays below 4 percent, 3) the yield on long-term U.S. Treasury bonds moves below 8 percent, and 4) Americans reelect George Bush president.

Mr. Connallon also predicted that the Federal Reserve Board would reduce interest rates again by September or October. "If you want to buy a house or refinance, wait," he said.

NCATE, STATE REVIEW TEACHER ED PROGRAM

Methodist College's teacher education program was reviewed for state and national accreditation in April.

Two separate visiting teams—one from the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education and one from the N.C. Department of Public Instruction—were on campus April 27-29.

"The reports given in exit briefings were largely positive," said Dr. Tony DeLapa, director of Methodist's Division of Education and Physical Education. "We received many compliments. Several team members noted that Methodist-trained classroom teachers were highly rated by public school systems."

Methodist's teacher education program was reviewed and reaccredited by the state in 1988. Since that time, the State Board of Education voted to require that all colleges and universities which train teachers meet national accreditation standards set by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education (NCATE). Methodist has never sought nor received accreditation by NCATE.

Dr. DeLapa said both the NCATE Board of Examiners and the SDPI Visiting Team recently sent him written reports with recommendations based on their on-site reviews. He said the college's Education Department responded with written plans for meeting all recommendations.

Methodist's top education officer said an NCATE Audit Committee in Washington, D.C. will present its findings and recommendations concerning Methodist's accreditation to a Unit Accreditation Board in early October. "About 30 days after that," he said, "NCATE will notify the state and us of their decision."

In North Carolina last year, NCATE approved about 70 percent of the teacher education programs on the first review. Some colleges and universities were advised of major deficiencies and told they would have to undergo another on-site review.

Dr. DeLapa said he is confident the Methodist faculty and administration have done everything humanly possible to meet NCATE standards. Once NCATE-accredited, the college will clearly state this fact on college transcripts, in the catalog, and in promotional literature.

"An NCATE endorsement should give our department and our graduates additional clout," said Dr. DeLapa.

FALL PRE-REGISTRATION FIGURES RUNNING AHEAD OF LAST YEAR

Fall enrollment figures are looking good for Methodist College. The Admission and Registrar's offices are projecting the college will equal or better last year's figures.

For the week ending July 10, 868 students were pre-registered for the regular day program, compared to 860 last year. More returning students and more new students are preregistered than was the case a year ago.

Methodist opened the Fall 1991 term with 982 students in the day program (942 FTE) and 391 students in the Evening College. The budget for 1992-93 is based on a full-time equivalent day enrollment of 853 students.

Until late spring, new applications for Fall 1992 were running slightly behind those received for Fall 1991. As of July 10, the college had received 1022 applications from new freshmen and transfer students versus 1002 at the same time last year.

Director of Enrollment Services Alan Coheley reports that 210 "new" students attended the college's first summer orientation July 11-12.

Mr. Coheley projects the college will enroll 250-275 new freshmen and another 200 transfers or readmits. Methodist opened Fall 1991 with 445 new students—279 freshmen, 136 transfers, and 30 readmits.

GENERAL JOHN HANDY INVITES CLASS OF OF DEMOCRACY, PEACE, AND

Americans must rediscover moral values if the American dream is to survive.

That was the message delivered to 144 graduating seniors at Methodist College May 17. Air Force Brigadier General John W. Handy, a 1966 graduate of Methodist, said the recent decline in moral values in America is the result of "value-free self-indulgence."

He said violence in the streets, political scandals, alcohol and drug abuse among youth, and the rising incidence of AIDS are incompatible with the "new order" envisioned by America's founding fathers. He said that new order was established through faith in the constitution, in the personal integrity of each citizen, and in God.

Gen. Handy called on the graduating seniors to reclaim the American dream of democracy, peace, and individual freedom by: 1) defending the idea of liberty, 2) maintaining personal integrity, and 3) claiming a new beginning. "Rebuilding of moral values must occur first in our hearts," he said.

During the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning, the Rev. Kermit Braswell challenged members of the Class of '92 to be faithful to God and themselves by learning from the past, living each day to the fullest, and setting goals for the future.

College President Elton Hendricks presented the following honorary degrees: Doctor of Humanities to General Handy; and Doctor of Divinity to the Rev. Kermit Braswell, and Bishop C.P. Minnick, leaders in the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church.

Three international students presented the college with flags of their native countries: Tasanee Boonmee Davis—

Thailand, Annette G. Dunford—Denmark, and David Holmes—Great Britain.

Nine ROTC graduates took the Oath of Allegiance and were commissioned second lieutenants in the U.S. Army.

They are: Brian M. Allin, Steve A. Deschamps, Walter M. Dixon, David J. Leach, Wesley F. MacMullen, Paul B. Mann, Curtis R. Pollock, Larry J. Waller, and JoAnn Weary.

Katherine Grasso, a psychology and social work major from Fayetteville, was named recipient of the Lucius Stacy Weaver Award, denoting her selection by the faculty as the senior who best exemplified academic excellence, spiritual development, leadership, and service. Ms. Grasso graduated summa cum laude last December.

THANKS, ALUMS FOR A GREAT PHONATHON!

Many thanks to the alumni for making the 1992 Annual Fund Phonathon such a success! Your willingness to support Methodist College took us well past the $20,000 goal, to a final total of $30,437. Congratulations!

As we finish up the spring season, thoughts in the Alumni Office are beginning to focus on Homecoming '92. The theme for the weekend is "Unforgettable." The Homecoming Committee is looking forward to a record turnout. This year's reunion classes include '67, '72, '77, '82, and '87, Homecoming will begin on Friday evening, Oct. 16, with an informal alumni get together in the Prince Charles Hotel lounge.

At 9 a.m. Saturday, the recently formed Methodist College Teachers' Association will host a breakfast for all alumni. At 11:30 an outdoor cookout begins, complete with live bluegrass music.

Sporting events scheduled for Saturday include; women's soccer, football, and men's soccer. The Annual Autumn Harvest Festival will also take place on Saturday, so there will be lots of fun, exhibits, and games to enjoy in the Reeves Auditorium courtyard.

In the evening, the Homecoming Committee will give a spectacular party at the historic Prince Charles Hotel. There will be live entertainment, so plan to come with your dancing shoes on, and join the fun.

On Sunday, the Alumni Association will sponsor the Annual Alumni Chapel Service, followed by lunch in the cafeteria.

If anyone would like phone numbers and addresses of former classmates to contact for homecoming, please call the Alumni Office at (919)630-7176.

—Caroline Parsons

P.S.

- Methodist's new nine-hole golf course will open to Alumni during the Homecoming Weekend.

- Baby sitting will be available at no charge to all alumni. We need to know in advance if you will want to use this service.

- Tours of the campus will be available upon request.

- Homecoming registration forms will be mailed to alumni in August. We look forward to having you back on campus!

CAROLINA COLLEGE IS REMEMBERED HERE

Members of the Maxton Student Club visited Methodist College April 23, for a program about Carolina College (1912-1926).

Rev. Bill Lowdermilk, vice-president for church/community relations, presented a brief history of Carolina College in Maxton, a Methodist junior college for women which later became Presbyterian Junior College and Carolina Military Academy. Mr. George Robinson from Zebulon, whose mother graduated from Carolina College, offered a retrospective look at memorable personalities associated with the college.

Methodist College's Davis Memorial Library became the repository for the Carolina College Alumni Association archives in 1973. The program, was arranged by Mrs. Betty Hasty, a Methodist College trustee.

McEVROY NAMED MEN'S BASKETBALL COACH

Methodist College has named Robert T. McEvoy men's basketball coach, effective with the next academic year.

Mr. McEvoy has 19 years of coaching, counseling, and teaching experience, including 12 years as a college coach. He inherits a NCAA Division III program which compiled a five-year record of 46-84 under Coach Dan Lawrence. Mr. McEvoy leaves the position of men's basketball coach/teacher at Cape Fear High School in Cumberland County.

Robert McEvoy was the men's basketball coach at UNC-Greensboro from 1984-91, when the school moved from NCAA Division III to Division I. During four Division III seasons at UNC-G, Mr. McEvoy won two conference titles, had two teams nationally and regionally ranked, and graduated all his players.

He was twice named DIAC Basketball Coach of the Year. During UNC-G's last two years in the Dixie Conference (1986-88), the men's basketball team compiled a record of 39-9, winning 81 percent of its conference games.

"I think Bob will be a great addition to our staff," said Methodist College Athletic Director Rita Wiggs. "His experience and commitment to a well-rounded program will be a great asset to our department."

Methodist's new coach is a native of Zanesville, Ohio. He holds a bachelor's degree from Kent State University and a master's degree from East Carolina University. He was starting guard on the Kent State basketball team for three years (1970-

Mr. McEvoy's college experience also includes two years as athletic director, head basketball and golf coach at Mount Olive College (1982-84), two years as assistant basketball coach/head tennis coach, and physical education instructor at Pembroke State University (1980-82), and a year as a graduate assistant basketball coach at East Carolina University. He was basketball coach/guidance counselor at Fayetteville's Douglas Byrd High School from 1976-80.

In addition to coaching and teaching, Mr. McEvoy has directed summer camps, coordinated coaches' clinics, and successfully recruited student athletes throughout the Southeast.

WOMEN'S GOLF TEAM WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

◀ THE CHAMPS: COACH ANN DAVIDSON, CHRISTIE SMITH, ELIZABETH HORTON, KELLY CAP, SARAH BEECHEY, ALLYSON GREER.

Methodist has a long-standing tradition in women's golf. This season the Lady Monarchs continued their dominance of Division III women's golf as they took the 1992 National Golf Coaches Association National Championship. The Lady Monarchs have won the Championship six out of seven years.

Leading the way for Methodist was Allyson Greer. Greer won the tournament, hosted by Methodist at King's Grant Golf and Country Club, and received medalist and All-American honors. Joining Greer on the All-American team was Elizabeth Horton and Kelly Cap.

Both Greer and Horton were selected to participate in the NCAA Division I tournament. Other honors for Greer included team MVP, and medalist at the College of Charleston and Longwood Invitational. Elizabeth Horton was 2nd at the Longwood Invitational Tournament.

Overall the team was ranked No.1 by Golfstat throughout the year. The Lady Monarchs won the College of Charleston Edisto Island Tournament and placed second at UNC-Wilmington and at the Longwood Invitational.

BASEBALL TEAM FINISHES

THIRD IN NCAA PLAY

The Monarch baseball team started the 1992 season 0-4, but finished 2nd in the Dixie Conference and won the South Regional Championship for the second straight year. They defeated No.2 Ferrum (14-3, 8-4) twice to make another trip to the College World Series.

Methodist opened the Series by defeating No.4 Wisconsin OshKosh 6-3 in Battle Creek, Michigan. Next they defeated No.1 seeded California Lutheran 4-2.

Cal. Lutheran ended MC's dreams of a national championship by beating the Monarchs 7-4 and 2-0. But the Monarchs' 3rd place finish was the best ever in school history and the team finished with a fine record of 35-13.

Seniors Mike Rohr, Trey Bostick, Greg Cox, Mackie Register and Todd Pope led MC on and off the field. Bostick and Rohr were named All-Americans, with Rohr being named MVP of the South Regional.

Chris Horton, Brandon Bridgers, Joe Myrtle, Register and Rohr were named to the NCAA South All-Tournament Team. Rohr and Myrtle were also named All-Dixie Conference. Myrtle made the World Series All-Tournament Team.

▲ BRANDON BRIDGERS DIVES FOR HOME PLATE IN NCAA PLAYOFF ACTION AGAINST CAL LUTHERAN.

Statistically, Trey Bostick led the nation and team in RBI's with 61. Mike Rohr (14-1) became the second winningest pitcher in MC history. Brian Ford set a school record for strikeouts in a single season with 124.

Head Coach Tom Austin (423-159) achieved his 400th win at Methodist, when the team earned a 5-3 win over Virginia Wesleyan.

IT'S A THREE-PEAT FOR MEN'S GOLF

A three-peat is complete. The 1992 men's golf team captured its third NCAA Division III National Championship. The team was ranked No.1, throughout the season by the Golf Coaches Association of America.

The team captured tournament championships in the Gordin Collegiate, Kingsmill William & Mary Invitational, and Emory University Spring Invitational Tournaments.

Rob Pilewski became the first player from Methodist to receive All-American honors all four years. Pilewski was also chosen to the All-District team.

In addition, Rob was the first Division III golfer selected for the U.S./Japan College Series Tournament held in Tokyo in June.

In April, Pilewski was chosen College Player of the Month, another first for Division III. Pilewski rounded out his honors by being chosen team MVP.

Bill Anderson was chosen to the 3rd team All-American, 1st team All-District and 1st team All-Conference. Dave Jukes was selected to the All-District team, received 1st team All-American honors and won the Gordin Collegiate Tournament.

FOOTBALL TEAM, NEW COACH UPBEAT ABOUT 4TH SEASON

Under the leadership of new Head Football Coach Jim Sypult, the 1992 team is upbeat and optimistic.

The Monarchs return 40 lettermen and eight seniors. The return of these players, coupled with a very successful recruiting campaign, give the Monarchs good experience as well as new talent.

A great deal of off-season conditioning and weight training should increase the strength and speed of the upperclassmen. Off-season training will be very beneficial as they return to camp in late August. The recruiting class is filled with talent and should provide the depth lacking in past Monarch teams.

Overall, the outlook is bright for a team that is coming off its best season yet with victories last year over Charleston Southern and Davidson. Methodist faces a tough schedule against quality opponents. Coming together as a team and winning early will be the keys to success for this Monarch team.

TENNIS TEAMS TAKE TITLES

The Lady Monarch tennis team finished the 1992 season with Dixie Conference regular season and Dixie Conference Tournament Championship honors. The team compiled an overall record of 17-9, while going undefeated in conference play with a 4-0 mark.

Receiving All-Conference honors for the team were: Dorian Droege, Heather Hyslop, Laurie Brucker, Tracy Maness and Michelle Wilson. Wilson was also selected team MVP. Coach Pete Kendall was chosen Dixie Conference Coach of the Year.

MEN FINISH 3-1

Methodist's men's tennis team finished the 1992 season with an impressive conference tournament championship. After finishing second in the regular season to Averett, the Monarchs took the conference tournament championship with solid play down the line. The Monarchs finished the season with an overall record of 17-5 and a conference (Please see MEN'S TENNIS page 20)

SOFTBALL TEAM, COACH WIN AGAIN

The Lady Monarch softball team finished the season on an upbeat note, taking the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament Championship.

Under the direction of second year Head Coach Karen Smith, Methodist finished the season with an overall record of 22-20 and a conference record of 6-2. Smith received Dixie Conference Coach of the Year honors for the second consecutive year.

Several players contributed to the success of this season. Senior pitcher Becky Younger pitched every game this season for Methodist as she took 1st team All-Conference, 1st team All-Tournament, Conference Co-Player of the Year, DIAC Tournament MVP and team MVP honors.

Her solid pitching performances allowed Methodist to be competitive with each outing. Other key players this season include Lynder Smith, Michelle Brown, and Melissa Furr. All were selected to the All-Conference team. Wendy Copeland, Roxanne Cannaday, Kerry Oliastro, Melissa Furr, and Lorie Sanuita received All-Tournament honors.

SOCCER TEAMS LOADED WITH TALENT

After turning in the best men's season in Monarch history (16-1-3), the 1992 soccer squad looks to the fall with optimism and anticipation.

The 1991 team went undefeated during regular season play, won the Dixie Conference Championship, and advanced to the second round of the NCAA Division III Tournament with an impressive victory over Emory in the first round.

Returning to captain the 1992 squad, as well as anchor the defense, is senior Todd Rubin. Other top defensive returners include Chip Pleasants and John Demos. Both contributed greatly to the success of the 1991 campaign.

Goalkeeper duties will be handled by senior George Lewis and sophomore Chris Prestridge. Both keepers return after an excellent spring season.

The midfield returns experienced key players, including All-South standout Bill Capobianco and two-year starter Chris Shaw. Other returners include Jason Robertson and Charlie Murias. Both will give experience to the 1992 squad. The return of Michael Jordan, after a two-year layoff, will provide strong leadership.

Up front, Stefan Stefansson, a clutch player in last year's campaign, returns to provide a strong offensive attack. Additionally, Brad Hamilton will continue to push for a prominent role this fall.

The return of experienced players, along with the addition of a talented recruiting class, gives 1991 Dixie Conference Coach of the Year Alan Dawson a lot to look forward to this fall.

WOMEN FACE CHALLENGE

The 1992 season should be a very challenging campaign for the women's soccer team, despite the graduation of nine seniors, including three All-Region players and two All-Americans.

With the return of seven players from last year's squad, and three players returning from knee injuries, along with a strong recruiting class, the Monarchs are looking forward to an exciting season.

Three tournaments highlight the season for the Monarchs. These include trips to New York for the William Smith Tournament, Atlanta, Georgia for a tournament at Emory University, and to N.C. Wesleyan College for a third tournament. The team will face strong opposition from William Smith College, the University of Rochester, Ithaca College, and Eastern Connecticut University.

Numerous colleges in the region also feature strong teams. These include; Maryville (TN) College, Roanoke College, NC Wesleyan College, and Emory University.

Chip and Chris Collins represented Methodist in the NCAA Division III tournament held at Emory University in late May. The Collins twins made it to semi-final action before being eliminated from play.

Their performance qualified them for

All-American honors. They were the first Monarch tennis players to be named to the All-American team. The Collins twins also received All-Conference recognition, along with Jeff Hawes, Matt Hill, Mark Faber and Jonathan Terry. Jeff Hawes was selected team MVP.

METHODIST COLLEGE ALUMNAE/I: WHEREABOUTS UNKNOWN.

Finding a former classmate can be just like looking for the proverbial "needle in a haystack." But not anymore. Soon an impressive directory of our great alumna/i will be available to help you locate your old friends.

The new Methodist College Alumnae/i Directory, scheduled for release in Oct./Nov. 1993, will be the most up-to-date and complete reference on over 4,800 Methodist College alumnae/i ever compiled! This comprehensive volume will include; current name, address and phone number, academic data, plus business information (if applicable), bound into a classic library-quality edition.

The Alumnae/i Office/Association has contracted the prestigious Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc. to produce our directory. Harris will soon begin researching and compiling information to be printed in the directory by mailing a questionnaire to each alumna/us. (If you prefer not to be listed in the Directory, please contact the Alumnae/i Office in writing as soon as possible).

The new Methodist College Alumnae/i Directory will soon make finding a Methodist College alumna/us as easy as opening a book. Look for more on the project in future issues.

Dear MC Alums:

'UNFORGETTABLE!' That's what I hope you feel about the years you spent at Methodist College. 'UNFORGETTABLE'—does not necessarily refer to that required history class or research paper, but to experiences that resulted in friendships that have survived the test of time.

Gosh, after almost twenty years, I still talk and laugh about some of those crazy incidents and friends. I don't know how we got away with some of that stuff—except that WE WERE COLLEGE STUDENTS.

I'm sure you have your own fond memories of your years at MC and fellow class or dormmates. The MC Alumni Association is planning a homecoming weekend so you not only get a chance to see the changes that have taken place on campus but also have an opportunity to reunite with friends in a relaxed atmosphere designed just for you.

JoAnna Cherry Palumbo '69 and I have been asked by MCAA to plan this year's homecoming alumni activities. We have been given the go-ahead to be creative in developing events designed with alumni in mind. We assure you the committee is working hard to make October 16, 17, and 18 a fun time and memorable event. All we need is YOU!

Please take time to make some calls to old classmates or a roommate inviting them to homecoming. Then make every effort to attend one or more of the planned activities. OLD FRIENDS AND GOOD TIMES—will be waiting for you at HOMECOMING 1992.

Hope to see you there,

Larry Philpott
