A COLLEGE WITH MANY NEEDS

In its 35th year, just concluded, Methodist College was blessed in many ways.

Enrollment and revenues exceeded projections. Academic and athletic programs reached new levels of excellence. The college's image and visibility continued to improve. The number and amount of gifts to the college increased.

The college opened this fall with a record enrollment—1,009 full-time equivalent students in the day program—enabling the college to add $696,000 in needed expenditures to the 1992-93 budget. Nearly 600 students have enrolled in Evening College during the first semester.

An increase in enrollment means Garber Hall will get a new roof. The college's main (south) entrance will get a major face-lift. Support personnel will be added in the Financial Aid Office, the Development Office, the Placement Office, and the Print Shop.

Methodist is in good shape financially, but is still tuition-driven. A drop in enrollment could force layoffs, the elimination of programs, block salary increases, and further delay much-needed repairs. On the other hand, 75 additional resident students could fill the residence halls and generate up to $1 million in additional revenue. If enrollment continues to grow, the college may finally be able to hold tuition increases to the rate of inflation and restore its facilities to optimum condition.

Three years have elapsed since the college concluded a $3.8 million capital campaign for a new physical activities center. Preliminary planning is now underway for a new capital campaign. President Hendricks has listed the following capital needs: a new academic building/addition to the library, modification of the boiler plant to house the communications program, conversion of the maintenance building to create a small theatre/drama workshop, and a small classroom building for the golf and tennis management programs.

Other needs are also being discussed: a new track; a new carillon for the bell tower; ramps on the central mall to eliminate physical barriers; a swimming pool; a new mid-campus entrance/road; new roofs for three residence halls, the Science Building, and the Berns Student Center; sandblasting/painting of at least six buildings.

Methodist also needs to build its endowment; the current $3.2 million will not cover current debts. It will not ensure quality programs taught by the best available faculty, which will in turn attract better students and enhance the college's reputation. It will not keep tuition within reach of the average family in our region.

Those of us who work at Methodist College feel this institution is poised on the brink of greatness. Its faculty, staff, students, and some alumni, are working hard to make it better. With a little help from its friends, Methodist could yet become the best small college in North Carolina. Even if that doesn't happen, Methodist's 5,100 graduates are living proof that this college offers a quality education. To those whose hard work and sacrifice have brought Methodist College to this point, we say, "God bless you and thanks for caring!"

public schools and the N.C. Dept. of Public Instruction in Raleigh had become more efficient and more result-oriented during his first-term as state superintendent. "When I became superintendent, it took up to six months to process applications for teaching certificates," he said. "Now it takes 10-20 days."

Mr. Etheridge voiced strong support for the Basic Education Plan, designed to ensure that all Tar Heel youngsters receive a comprehensive course of study in grades K-12. Etheridge was a co-sponsor of the BEP in the N.C. House of Representatives in 1984.

"The BEP has only received 64% of the funds needed for implementation," he said, "but we have the core for reform." He lauded the state's Accountability and Flexibility Act of 1989 and 1991 legislation which requires the involvement of parents at the local school level. He said the state "report card" on local school systems, the Teaching Fellows (scholarship) Program, and stricter high school graduation requirements would bolster efforts to reform and improve the state's public schools.

Mr. Etheridge said North Carolina has "the best-trained educators ever, working harder than ever." He said two recent developments support the conclusion that the state's public schools are improving.

"SAT scores this past year went up 11 points for the largest increase ever," he said. "The school dropout rate is the lowest it's ever been. Algebra will be required in high school beginning in 1996. End of grade tests will help us measure results."

The state's chief school official said public schools will need new technology to prepare for the 21st century and programs which fit the needs of local children and the community.

Mr. Etheridge described teachers as the most important link in the educational process and said, "They need all the support and empowerment we can give them."

STATE SCHOOLS SUPT.— 'OUR SCHOOLS ARE IMPROVING'

"The pioneer spirit is coming back to our public schools."

That was the view expressed by State Supt. of Public Instruction Bob Etheridge during an address at Methodist College October 17. Mr. Etheridge was the guest speaker at a homecoming breakfast sponsored by the Methodist College Teacher Education Alumni Association.

The Lillington native and former state legislator said the state's

REV. SAFLEY EXPLAINS 'WHAT'S RIGHT WITH THE CHURCH'

Methodist College alumni and staff gathered in Hensdale Chapel Sunday, October 18 heard the Rev. Mike Safley ('72) compare going to church with coming home.

He said a Methodist College homecoming stirs memories of belonging, being challenged, the safety and security of home, and a life-changing experience. He said Methodist College is not unlike the Christian church, because it's a caring community that changes lives.

"When it's what it's supposed to be, the church is a sanctuary or home for us," said Rev. Safley.

"We know we belong...Through the word of God, the church challenges us to be better people...It's a place where we celebrate and share the love of God."

CHINESE SCHOLAR FACES DUAL CHALLENGE

Paul Zheng, Methodist College's first visiting scholar, arrived from the Peoples Republic of China in August.

Mr. Zheng's arrival marks the beginning of a faculty exchange program between Methodist and Yanbian University. In northeast China, Yanbian serves 3,000 undergraduates, 3,000 evening and correspondence students, and about 200 graduate students. Seventy percent of its students are Korean.

Mr. Zheng works in Yanbian U's Foreign Affairs Office and formerly taught English to Chinese and Korean undergraduates. He is 27, married, and a native of Shandong province southeast of Beijing.

At Methodist, he is auditing four courses and serving as a faculty assistant in Dr. Bob Christian's World Literature class. Dr. Christian describes Mr. Zheng as a "delightful fellow who seems to be adjusting well as a visiting scholar."

"They sent me here to improve my spoken English," Mr. Zheng said, "I am auditing courses in American Government, Microeconomics, English 101, and Computer Science."

Chinese poetry is one of Paul Zheng's academic specialities. He recently read a poem from the Tang dynasty (700 A.D.) to Dr. Christian's World Lit. class and presented a calligraphy drawing of the poem.

Written by Wei Ying Wu, the poem is entitled "On the West Stream at ChuZhou." It reads:

"Alone I like the riverside where green grass grows
And golden orioles sing amid the leafy trees
With spring showers at dust the river overflows

A lonely boat athwart the ferry floats at ease."

The drawing of the poem was done by Wang Wen Bin, a calligrapher at Yanbian University. It features some of the 1,200 basic characters from which Chinese words are formed.

Mr. Zheng will teach a short unit on Chinese literature to World Lit. students in November. He majored in English at Yanbian and taught that subject for two years. He said Yanbian requires its student to take two years of a foreign language—

English, Japanese, or Russian. "In high school, Chinese students learn a foreign language primarily by writing and reading," he noted "That's why speaking English is difficult."

Mr. Zheng first visited the United States in August 1991, when he and the president of Yanbian University were guests of a Korean Association. "We visited Houston, Dallas, New York City, Providence, Los Angeles, and San Francisco," he said.

Methodist's visiting scholar is being sponsored in part by Patrick Lee, a U.S. Army officer who lives in Fayetteville. Mr. Lee, who is Korean, has shown Zheng around Fayetteville and taken him to Atlanta for a meeting of the Korean Association of the Southeastern U.S.

In addition to Methodist, Yanbian University has a visiting scholar arrangement with Hope College in Holland, Michigan. "We have an English teacher there now," said Mr. Zheng, "and we talk on the phone weekly. Because of the language barrier, we only send to America teachers from the English Department."

Yanbian University also has faculty exchange programs with universities in Japan, Korea, Sweden and Canada. Next year, Methodist will offer a sabbatical to one of its English teachers to teach at Yanbian.

STUDENTS, PROFESSOR WIN AWARDS FOR POETRY

Student Poets

Two students from Dr. Michael Colonese's spring poetry class at Methodist College were recently named prize winners in a national poetry contest for undergraduate poets sponsored by Poet Magazine.

Winners of the American College and University Poetry Awards were Deborah Doane, an English major who graduated last May, and Cathy Griffith, a senior English Education major.

Ms. Doane's poem "Sestina in an Autumn Field" was awarded third place in the national contest. Ms. Griffith's poem, "Soap and Forsythia," won a special merit award. Both awards were accompanied by cash prizes.

Both poems will be published in the Winter 1992 issue of Poet Magazine and reprinted in the next issue of Tapestry, the Methodist College literary magazine.

Prof Wins Fellowship

Ms. Robin Greene, a Methodist College English instructor, was recently awarded a $7,500 Individual Artist Fellowship from the North Carolina Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Ms. Greene was one of four North Carolina writers chosen to receive such fellowships. The others were: Sandra Carton-Alexander, a fiction writer from Greensboro, Doris Davenport, a poet from Charlotte, and Richard Krawiec, a fiction writer from Raleigh.

Last year Ms. Greene's poetry chapbook Memories of Light was winner of the 1991 Harperprints Poetry Competition sponsored by the North Carolina Writers' Network.

COLLEGE HONORS FOUNDATION LEADERS

Methodist College honored Dick Player, chairman of the 1992 Annual Fund Drive, and other officers of the Methodist College Foundation during an appreciation dinner October 26 at the Radisson/Prince Charles Hotel.

Mr. Player announced that the foundation had surpassed its 1992 goal of $175,000 by 6 percent and almost doubled the number of contributors from 1991. The annual fund drive is the means by which the foundation renews its original pledge to raise funds for the college in Fayetteville and Cumberland County.

Vice President for Development Bev Pankey presented a certificate of appreciation to Mr. Player for his outstanding service as annual fund chairman. He also recognized and thanked the foundation's outgoing directors.

Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president, expressed thanks to the foundation board, saying "without the hard work and dedication of its members, Methodist College might not exist today." He said the college will continue to strive for excellence in all that it does.

Dr. Hendricks installed the following new officers and directors of the foundation: Jim Kizer, President; Jean Hodges, vice president; C.T. Daniels, secretary; and Mike Pleasant, treasurer. Incoming members of the board of directors are: Charlie Harrell, John Holmes, Brad Hurley, Crawford McKeithan, Mitchell Nance, Anne Raper, Craig Stewart, Wilson Yarborough, Dr. Julia Prewitt, Neal Griffin, and Charlie Speegle.

Dr. Stan Griffin, outgoing president of the Methodist College Foundation, presented the gavel to Jim Exum, the incoming president. Mr. Kizer then introduced Bob Exum, who will serve as chairman of the 1993 Annual Fund Drive.

NCATE ACCREDITS TEACHER ED PROGRAM

The National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education has accredited the teacher education program at Methodist College.

The Washington, D.C. agency notified the college and state education officials October 8 that Methodist's teacher education program had met the national accreditation standards set by NCATE. Two teams—one from NCATE and one from the N.C. Department of Public Instruction—visited Methodist last April and reviewed the teacher education program.

"NCATE accreditation represents another step forward for Methodist College," said Dr. M. Elton Hendricks, college president. "I am proud of the excellent work of our faculty and staff which made this possible."

NCATE accreditation of the Methodist College program satisfies a 1990 requirement by the State Board of Education that North Carolina colleges and universities which train teachers meet national standards set by NCATE. Concurrent with NCATE accreditation, Methodist's teacher education program has also been accredited by the N.C. Dept. of Public Instruction.

Methodist College currently trains 40-50 public school teachers each academic year. The college's eight-member Education Department is headed by Dr. Tony DeLapa.

INTERIM TERM FEATURES THREE 'TRAVEL STUDY' COURSES

Registration is now open for the second annual Interim Term at Methodist College. A total of 17 courses are scheduled for the two-week term which begins January 4, 1993.

Three "travel-study" courses are planned. Dr. Michael Colonnese, assistant professor of English, will take a class to Key West, Florida for a seminar on the poetry of Elizabeth Bishop. Mrs. Elaine Porter, associate professor of French, will lead a study-tour of Montreal and Quebec—a seminar on French Canada. Mr. Bob McEvoy, instructor of physical education, will teach an interdisciplinary course in Miami, Florida entitled "Volunteer Experience: The Aftermath of Hurricane Andrew."

Dr. Suzan Cheek, associate professor of political science, will team teach a seminar on mediation and dispute resolution. Richard Spell, director of the Cumberland County Dispute Resolution Center, will assist Dr. Cheek. Completion of this course will enable students to become certified mediators.

Interim Term courses will meet every weekday and carry varying amounts of credit, from one to three semester hours. Tuition is $95 per credit hour. A student may register for only one course during the Interim. Food, lodging, and transportation (where required) are not included in tuition and must be provided by the student.

Current students living in the residence halls may reside on campus at no charge during the Interim Term, but meals will be available only in the college snack bar.

Persons interested in taking a course during Interim Term must obtain a registration form from the Registrar's Office. Courses are subject to cancellation in case of insufficient enrollment (fewer than six students). For more information, contact the Office of the Vice President of Academic Affairs at (919) 630-7032.

FOR THE RECORD

—A story about the August planning retreat stated that the suggestion given most often was "Improve inter-campus relationships and communication." It should have read "intra-campus" relationships and communication.

—The story about new faculty incorrectly identified Stephen Williams as assistant professor of elementary education. His correct title is instructor of earth science and geography.

BUSINESSWOMAN, COACH, PROFESSOR HONORED

Sanderford

The Methodist College Alumni Association awarded its Distinguished Alumnus Award to Paul L. "Buster" Sanderford Jr., Class of 1972, October 17.

The Zebulon, NC native is the women's basketball coach at Western Kentucky University in Bowling Green. Last spring his team finished second to Stanford in the NCAA Division I National Championship game. Sanderford previously coached women's basketball at Louisburg College, a United Methodist junior college.

Sanderford's 10-year record at Western Kentucky stands at 248-77, for a winning percentage of .763. During six seasons at Louisburg, he led teams to a 163-19 record (.900), collecting a national championship along the way. Sanderford majored in sociology at Methodist and was a member of the Monarch baseball team.

Gene Clayton, vice president for business affairs at Methodist, accepted the award on behalf of Sanderford and read an acceptance message sent by the recipient. In his thank-you message, Sanderford said, "caring, patient, and understanding people"—people like Bill Lowdermilk, Gene Clayton, and Bruce Shelley—made his years at Methodist special. He continued, "I am indeed proud to sing the praises and advantages of Methodist College. It was a perfect blend of academics and athletics. I accept this award knowing that Methodist College and its people are responsible for all my successes in life."

Palumbo

The 1992 Alumni Service Award went to Charlotte resident Joanna Cherry Palumbo, Class of '69.

Mrs. Palumbo has been a loyal and involved alumnus, organizing many reunions for her college classmates. She has served on the alumni association board of directors and the college board of visitors, and was recently appointed to the Methodist College Board of Trustees. She received the college's Outstanding Business Alumna Award in 1988.

Joanna Palumbo is co-owner and vice-president of Carolina Made, Inc.—a wholesale distributor, Cherry Casuals, Inc.—a retail clothing store, and Jim Cherry Interest, Inc.—a firm which builds and leases commercial buildings in Charlotte.

Mrs. Palumbo and her husband Jim are the parents of two daughters—Tiffany Alicia, 12, and Monica Michelle, 10.

Mrs. Palumbo is president of the Medearis Woman's Club and is active in the PTA and Booster Club for First Ward Elementary School and McClintoch Jr. High. She has coached cheerleading for eight years for the South Park Youth Association. The Palumbos attend Purcell

United Methodist Church.

DeLapa

The recipient of the 1992 Outstanding Faculty Award is Dr. Tony DeLapa, professor of education.

Dr. DeLapa has chaired the Education Department at Methodist since 1989, also serving as director of the Division of Education and Physical Education. He is a specialist in reading instruction, writing processes, and competency-based testing. Under his leadership, the Education Department won a Reynolds Foundation Grant for its SPIRIT (Students and Parents Involved in Reading Instruction Together) program at Fayetteville's Pauline Jones Elementary School, started the Methodist College Teacher Education Alumni Association, and secured accreditation of the college's teacher education program by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Dr. DeLapa has been very involved in campus activities, appearing with students in three theatrical productions, playing saxophone with the Methodist College Stage Band, and directing an October production of The Mouse That Roared. A native of Lockport, NY, Dr. DeLapa earned bachelor's and master's degrees at State University of New York at Buffalo and a doctorate in education at the University of Toledo.

BANKER PREDICTS SLOW RECOVERY

Consumer spending, the Gross Domestic Product in the U.S. and the Gross State Product in North Carolina will all grow at the rate of 2.5 percent in 1993.

J. Richard Futrell, chairman and CEO of Centura Bank in Rocky Mount, made this and several other predications at the college's Outlook for '92 Symposium Nov. 5.

"We're still working through the downside of an economic cycle," he noted. "Our economy will be moderately better in 1993, but the fundamentals are in place for a much better economy in 1994 and 1995."

Mr. Futrell said North Carolina must improve its educational system—from kindergarten through community college—in order to recruit high-paying jobs and industries. He said America and other free world nations will have to adapt to major changes in the global marketplace during the '90's.

CUMBERLAND SETS GROWTH RECORDS

The president of the Fayetteville Area Chamber of Commerce reported Nov. 5 that Cumberland County's economy had steadily grown during 1992 and should grow even faster in 1993.

"Many of the local business indicators soared above imaginable heights," said A. B. Bryant in his Outlook for '93 address at Methodist.

Growth statistics for the year to date cited by Mr. Bryant include:

- retail sales up 12.1 percent (on track for a $2 billion total in 1992)

- air travel up 3.6 percent

- single family building permits up 66.2 percent

- commercial construction up 152 percent

Mr. Bryant said the Fayetteville Area Chamber of Commerce expects to answer 4,000 inquiries in 1992 from persons considering relocation to the city. He said the chamber will soon launch a $100,000 pride campaign and continue promoting the city as "North Carolina's fourth largest metro."

LOCAL ENTREPRENEURS RECEIVE AWARDS FOR ACHIEVEMENTS

The Center for Entrepreneurship at Methodist College presented its top business awards for 1992 to A. B. Bryant, Rajan Shamdasani, David Foster and David Herring. The awards were made November 5 at the 19th Annual Outlook Symposium organized by Dr. Sid Gautam.

A. B. Bryant, manager of the J.C. Penney Store in Fayetteville's Cross Creek Mall, was named Business Person of the Year. The Mississippi native was lauded for decentralized management and record sales at the local store and for outstanding leadership in various organizations.

Mr. Bryant is president of the Fayetteville Area Chamber of Commerce, treasurer of the Fayetteville Area Economic Development Corp., and president-elect of the Fayetteville Rotary Club. He also serves on the boards of the Methodist College Foundation, the United Way of Cumberland County, the Mental Health Association, and the Airborne and Special Operation Museum Foundation.

Rajan Shamdasani received the Entrepreneur of the Year Award. A native of India, Mr. Shamdasani was educated in Hong Kong and came to the United States in 1969. He is president and CEO of the American Uniform Company, which he founded in 1976. The firm has won awards for uniforms it supplies to Amtrack and the N.C. Highway Patrol.

In 1982, Mr. Shamdasani bought Howard Uniform Co. In 1987, he opened the Omni Centre complex; FUN, FUN, FUN; and Mountasia Fantasy Golf in Fayetteville. In 1988, he acquired Southern Heritage Real Estate Co. Last year he started the First Omni Mortgage Co.

Mr. Shamdasani is a strong supporter of Y.M.C.A. sports activities, the Volunteer Center, the Boys Home of Lake Waccamaw, Mothers Against Drunk Driving, the Fayetteville Museum of Art, and the Fayetteville Symphony.

David Foster '76 received the Economics and Business Alumnus Award. He is general manager of Cellular One of Fayetteville and a founder of Mid South Sports, a firm which broadcasts high school sports and organizes award programs.

David Herring received the Wall Street Journal Award, denoting his selection by the business faculty as the outstanding business student of 1992. Mr. Herring is a maintenance supervisor at Kelly Springfield Tire Co. and attends Methodist full-time. He formerly operated his own electrical contracting business.

REMEMBER METHODIST IN DECEMBER

Toward the end of the year many people begin to assess their tax situation. It is a time when income estimates are fairly firm and expenses have been incurred or are at least predictable. One question all of us should ask ourselves is whether we have made the charitable gifts we intended to make.

Charitable giving is, of course, a matter of conscience and of preferences for certain causes. We give because sharing our own blessings is a moral and ethical thing to do and because we believe in the purposes of the recipients of our gifts. A gift is an expression of these feelings.

There is nothing wrong, however, with working within the provisions of the tax laws to maximize the positive impact that our generosity can make on our tax liability. In fact, the tax codes are written so as to encourage charitable giving.

Gifts may take a number of forms. Cash is the most common and is simplest for both donor and recipient. Gifts of appreciated property—stocks, bonds, real estate, etc.—may allow the donor to claim as a deduction the full appreciated value of the property, thus avoiding the capital gains tax liability associated with a sale.

The tax laws are complex, and we recommend consultation with your tax advisor if there are any questions about the tax consequences of your gifts. If you have not made a gift to the college in 1992, we encourage you to do so. All gifts are important, regardless of size, in helping Methodist College to grow and prosper.

THE GLOBAL VILLAGE IS HERE

Seventy-eight percent of the 1,448 students attending Methodist College this fall are from North Carolina. This figure includes both day and evening students.

Another 22 percent of the students are from out-of-state, while three percent are from foreign countries. Three years ago the percentages were: North Carolina—62 percent, out-of-state—37 percent, and foreign countries—one percent.

After North Carolina, states with the largest representation at Methodist are: Florida—49, New York—45, Pennsylvania—39, Virginia—37, and New Jersey—21.

A total of 20 foreign countries are represented. Three foreign countries account for more than 50 percent of the 44 international students enrolled at Methodist. They are Japan and Korea, with nine students each, and Ireland with five students.

Fifty-four percent of current students—786—are classified as freshmen. Among upperclassmen, the full-time enrollments are: 210 sophomores, 218 juniors, and 244 seniors.

THANKS TO ## UNITED METHODIST WOMEN FOR 83,300 SOUP LABELS!

Davis Memorial Library received a record 83,300 soup labels from United Methodist Women's groups in the North Carolina Conference during 1991-92.

As a participant in Campbell Soup Company's Labels for Education Program, Davis Library was able to redeem the labels for a record player, an overhead projector, a wall projection screen, a book cart, a safety stool, six children's books, clip-art for student teachers, and a variety of teaching aids for student teachers.

"We are grateful to all units which participated in this project," said Dr. Bill Lowdermilk, vice president for church/community relations.

Labels and other proofs of purchase from over 1,000 Campbell product varieties are eligible for redemption in Campbell's Labels for Education Program.

Please save the front portion of labels from Campbell's canned foods, Prego Spaghetti sauces, V-8 vegetable juice, lids from Vlasic Pickles, and proof-of-purchase seals from Swanson frozen foods and Pepperidge Farm products. Send these to: Susan Pulsipher, Director of Library Services, Methodist College, 5400 Ramsey Street, Fayetteville, NC 28311-1420.

ALUMNI UPDATE

After hearing about the great time we all had at Homecoming 1992, I'm sure you'll want to mark your calendar for October 9, 1993 now! The 1993 Homecoming Committee is already making plans for the most spectacular homecoming ever, and we want you to be there!

We are on schedule with our plans for the first Methodist College Alumni Directory. You will soon receive a questionnaire designed to give every alumna/us the opportunity to be accurately listed in the upcoming Methodist College Alumni Directory. PLEASE BE SURE TO COMPLETE AND RETURN YOUR DIRECTORY QUESTIONNAIRE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE! Once received, your information will be edited and processed by our publisher, Harris Publishing Co., Inc.

I have received a request from some of our current students for names of alums who would be willing to be a source of information about jobs and careers. If you would be available to assist our current Methodist College students with information on your career or geographical area, please let me know by calling 919-630-7167 or writing to the Alumni Office.

On September 28, Roger and Joan Pait, '85 and '91, attended a reception and dinner held in Raleigh, N.C. to meet with fellow alums. Alan Coheley, Director of Admissions, went along to explain how alums could assist in recruiting new students to Methodist. Also present were David Woodard, '71, and his wife, Barbara, who addressed the group on how to help build the college endowment through planned gifts.

Classmates enjoyed visiting with fellow alums and found the evening to be both educational and enjoyable. Another event is planned in Raleigh for December 1, 1992. If you would like to help organize a reception in your area, please let me know.

Over the holidays, please consider giving the Greatest Gift Scholarship to some deserving high school senior. It's a great way to say Happy Holidays, and to help recruit new students for Methodist College.

Best wishes to all for a joyous holiday season.

—Caroline Parsons

CHARTER MEMBERS OF ENDOWMENT SOCIETY HONORED AT DINNER

Fifty charter members of the Methodist College Endowment Society were honored September 30. The group generated more than $350,000 in new planned gifts for the college.

College President and Mrs. Elton Hendricks were hosts for a reception at the president's home, followed by dinner in the Alumni Dining Room. Twenty-eight charter members of the Endowment Society were recognized for making a planned gift of life insurance or a bequest to the college.

Following the dinner, Mr. Alan Porter, tenor, and Mrs. Jane Gardiner, pianist, entertained the group in Hensdale Chapel.

President Hendricks reported that 50 persons, including 21 alumni, had joined the newly-formed Endowment Society and that Vice President for Development Bev Pankey had set a goal of 100 members by September 30, 1993.

Methodist is seeking to build its endowment, currently valued at $3.2 million, to $10 million. Annual earnings on the endowment are currently used to support Methodist's Incentive Scholarship Program for deserving students.

Persons interested in joining the Methodist College Endowment Society may contact Bev Pankey, Vice President for Development, (919) 630-7169.

IF YOU'RE A WORKING ADULT THINKING ABOUT GOING BACK TO COLLEGE, PLEASE CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:

- Methodist College offers two eight-week terms of Evening College each fall and spring semester and one evening term each summer.
- The Evening College at Methodist offers quality "on-campus" instruction, with first-class instructors and facilities.
- All courses are approved for veterans training leading to AA, AS, BAS, BS, and BA degrees.
- Evening students who enroll full-time (take two courses per term or 12 semester hours per semester) can attend Methodist for as little as $565 per semester. *

- At least eight Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degrees can now be attained entirely through the Evening College, in four years or less.
- Persons with bachelor's degrees earn 60 percent more, on average, than non-college graduates.
- "Recruiters in fields from banking to sales increasingly prefer applicants with a liberal arts education." **

MEN'S SOCCER TEAM ADVANCES TO 'FINAL 8' IN NCAA DIVISION III

Hosting the NCAA Division III South Region playoff November 7-8, the Monarchs dominated play, recording a 3-0 victory over conference foe Greensboro College and a 2-0 win over Bethany College.

The Monarchs are slated for quarterfinal competition against Ohio Wesleyan, with the winner advancing to the final four. Stefan Stefansson (Jr., Reykjavik, Iceland) played brilliantly in both contests, scoring two goals against Greensboro College and another against Bethany. Jason Butler (Jr., Vero Beach, FL) scored the other goals in the Greensboro College contest. Scoring the second goal for Methodist in the Bethany contest was local product Chris Shaw (Jr., Fayetteville, NC).

In both contests Methodist depended on a strong defensive stand to insure victories. Justin Terranova (Fr., Ridgefield, CT) recorded his 10th and 11th shutouts of the season.

The two NCAA playoff wins improved the 1992 Monarchs to an unbeaten mark of 16-0-2. During the regular season the team recorded impressive victories over Division I teams East Carolina University, Campbell University, and the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

The Monarchs captured a fourth consecutive Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic conference title with an impressive 3-1 road win against Greensboro College.

Other key victories included a 3-1 opening game win against Montclair State and a 2-0 shutout against Mary Washington. Methodist needed an overtime period to down conference foe Christopher Newport 2-1.

Down the stretch the team recorded a key victory over regional opponent Maryville College and tied Salisbury State 1-1.

Defense was a definite strength for this Methodist team. The Monarch defense produced nine shutouts during the regular season, while allowing only seven goals in 16 games.

Defenders Todd Rubin (Sr., Cincinnati, OH), Kenneth Hoey (Dublin, Ireland) and goalkeeper Justin Terranova (Fr., Ridgefield, CT) has provided the team with outstanding leadership and defense play.

Jason Butler led the Monarch offensive surge, recording 11 goals. His performance this season, combined with the play of freshman Michael Scoobee (Fr., Fayetteville, NC) and Stefan Stefansson (Jr., Reykjavik, Iceland), was instrumental in the success of this year's team.

WOMEN TIE WESLEYAN FOR FIRST PLACE IN DIAC

The Lady Monarchs ended the regular soccer season with an overall mark of 9-8-2. Methodist recorded a 0-0 tie October 28 against arch-rival NC Wesleyan to gain partial ownership of first place in the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Goalkeeper Kate Howard (Wooster, OH) had an outstanding tournament, making 22 saves as she faced 32 shots and 22 corners.

On October 11, the Lady Monarchs captured another impressive regional victory as they ousted Old Dominion Athletic Conference rival Roanoke College 2-0. The team recorded other shutout victories over Division II teams St. Andrews and Lees McRae and Division III Washington and Lee.

The Lady Monarchs named Becky Morton (Fr., Jacksonville, NC), Colette

Gilligan (Sr., Dublin, Ireland), Jennifer Kimball (Jr., Palm Harbor, FL) and Ruth Keegan to the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic All-Conference first team.

Goalkeeper Kate Howard (Wooster, OH), along with Karl Leonard (Tarpon Springs, FL) and Jennifer Savani (Lock Have, PA) were named 2nd team All-Conference.

RANKED No. 12 IN NCAA DIVISION III

EXPERIENCE, NEW TALENT GIVE WOMEN'S SQUAD STRENGTH

All five starters return from last year's 22-6 Lady Monarch basketball squad. Daphne Akridge (Sr., Bassett, VA) was last year's leading scorer with 16.6 ppg. Daphne also led the team in assists with 4.8 ppg.

Novella McMillan (Soph., Fayetteville, NC) and Roxanne Cannaday (Jr., Fuquay-Varina, NC) each contributed a 12.7 average per contest. Angie Garner (Jr., Angier, NC) was the team's leading rebounder with a 10.1 average, while contributing 11.3 points per game. Katina Thorne (Soph. Fayetteville, NC) was second in rebounding (7.3) and fifth in scoring (9.6).

Anne Uleman (Jr., Manassas, VA) suffered a season-ending knee injury, but a strong rehabilitative program seems to have her on course to resume competition this season.

Christy Barber (Jr. Lexington, NC) improved steadily and gave quality playing time at the center position. Point guard Stefanie Duncan (Soph., Tabor City, NC) had 11 three-pointers last season and was the defensive "stopper" at that position. Wendy Jordan (Sr., N. Wilkesboro, NC) will again see action at the power forward slot. Amy Smith played well down the stretch at a wing position, and will be counted upon there this season.

Newcomers are expected to contribute immediately at all positions. Melissa Hardin (Chadbourn, NC), Leigh Watkins (Raleigh, NC) and Lathyrrelle Isler (Brooklyn, NY) bring much talent to the forward positions. Stephanie Alvarez (Miami, FL), Sharnell Dunn (Beaufort, NC), Renna Hooper (Harrells, NC), and Linda McNair (Fayetteville, NC) bring additional speed and quickness to the guard slots.

Seventh-year Head Coach Rita Wiggs is very enthusiastic about this year's squad: "Anytime you return five starters, your expectations are high. Last year's team established several school records, as well as winning the school's first DIAC women's basketball tournament championship.

"The experience of our returners will be a big asset, and I feel we have added a great deal of speed, quickness, and depth with this freshman class. How well we blend and mesh as a team will be a determining factor for this year's success. This team could be an exciting one to watch!"

VOLLEYBALL TEAM FINISHES STRONG

The Lady Monarchs volleyball team recorded its first 20-win season since 1988 en route to a second place Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Finish. Methodist ended the season at 20-17 overall and 7-3 in conference play under Coach Karen Smith.

Methodist opened the season with a Second Place finish in the 2nd annual Methodist College Invitational Tournament. The Lady Monarchs remained in contention for Dixie Conference honors until the final week of regular season play. Methodist ended the season in a two-way tie for Second Place with Ferrum College. A coin flip game the Lady Monarchs second place for seeding purposes in the Dixie Conference Tournament.

NC Wesleyan hosted the Dixie Tournament. The Lady Monarchs received a first round bye. On Saturday, November 7 Methodist played in the semifinals against Ferrum College. The Lady Monarchs were defeated 9-15, 15-5, 9-15 and 11-15.

Kim Miller (So., Jacksonville, NC) was named 1st team All Conference and 1st team All-Tournament. Her play contributed to the success of the team throughout the season. Michele Brown (So., Maitland, FL) and Jill Sturenfeldt (Jeannette, PA) were named 2nd team All-Conference respectively.

LOOK FOR PRESSURE DEFENSE AND FAST-BREAKING OFFENSE

Men's Basketball Coach Bob McEvoy is "cautiously optimistic" as he begins his first season at Methodist.

Man-to-man pressure defense and an up-tempo, fast-breaking style of offense will characterize the Monarchs' style of play this season.

Returning players include: seniors Scott Stoker and Marc Malone, juniors Jamie Adams and Jon Garner, and sophomores Kevin Denison and Brian Mills. These veterans, plus seven talented newcomers, give the team a good foundation for success.

The Monarchs are picked to finish fourth in the Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference pre-season poll. The 1991-92 team finished last in the conference with an overall mark of 8-18.

FOOTBALL TEAM ENDS 4TH SEASON

The Monarch football team opened its fourth season on the road against Charlesten Southern. The contest was extremely close, with the Monarchs losing 20-19.

The Monarchs then hosted the Quakers of Guilford College. Mental breakdowns both offensively and defensively led to a 37-8 Quaker victory. The next weekend the Monarchs suffered a 37-14 defeat at the hands of Salisbury State University.

Methodist then traveled to Newport News, VA for a contest with the Apprentice School. The Apprentice School dominated play on both sides of the ball as they ousted the Monarchs 49-0.

Methodist bounced back and played impressively against Catholic University October 3, but still fell short of the victory, 27-21. On the road the next weekend against Bridgewater College, the Monarchs were shut out 27-0.

Offensive turnovers and failure to make quick decisions on defense contributed to the 27-6 Homecoming loss to Davidson College. On the road against a tough Maryville College team, Methodist suffered another tough loss, 34-6.

The last home game slated the Monarchs against Old Dominion Athletic Conference foe Hampden-Sydney. Methodist played with lots of intensity but still came up short, losing 17-3.

Methodist ended its 1992 season on the road against Frostburg State University.
