NEW RESIDENCE HALL UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Construction began December 23 on a new $1.2 million residence hall at Methodist College.

Sigma Construction Co. of Fayetteville, the general contractor, has guaranteed completion by August 10, 1994.

Bulldozers began clearing the site December 23. In late January, the contractor erected a huge tent over the project, which will eliminate bad weather delays.

"This new facility reflects our faith in the future," said Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president. "Our residential enrollment has grown significantly in the last few years and we expect this trend to continue."

Methodist's fifth residence hall is being built on the southeast side of Garber Hall. If enrollment growth continues as expected, an identical unit will be built in 1994-95, just west of the new hall. Both will be linked to Garber by a patio or commons area.

LSV Partnership Architects-Planners of Fayetteville designed the building.

Current plans are that it will house 56 female students and a hall director; the two-story design includes 25 double rooms, six single rooms, and a two-level director's apartment. The hall includes an elevator and other features which make it accessible to the handicapped.

Completion of this facility will enable the college to house approximately 700 resident students in 1994-95. The new residence hall represents the first step in Methodist's long-range plan to expand residential enrollment to 900 students by 1998. Four additional residence halls of similar design will be built during the next four years, subject to annual reviews of enrollment data.

Four existing residence halls built in 1963 and 1964 were designed to house 600 students—300 males and 300 females. Methodist began the current academic year with 610 resident students. Last summer the college renovated a campus apartment building, a 12-unit structure originally designed for married students and faculty, to house an additional 44 students.

TOWER RECEIVES FACELIFT, LAMPS, NEW CARILLON

The Yarbrough Bell Tower and Jones Memorial Carillon underwent major repairs in December.

First, the 100-foot tower was cleaned and repainted. Then the fluorescent tubes in the cross were replaced. Finally, new speakers and a new sound system (carillon) were installed. Approximately $13,000 was spent on the restoration.

Since December 15, the electronic carillon has sounded the Westminster chimes/hour strike and played two hymns daily at 5 p.m. Both old timers and those who have never heard the tower are enjoying the beautiful bell sounds.

The new carillon has digitally encoded sounds which represent five different tones/sizes of cast bronze bells. It was manufactured by The Verdin Company in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Methodist's bell tower has not played music since the mid 70's, when the original carillon system was replaced with a chime clock connected to a time-controlled, 100-watt amplifier. The chime clock system became useless in 1990 when the time control ceased to function and when the original speakers and wiring in the tower shorted out.

FOUNDATION SEEKS $225,000 FROM COMMUNITY

Early receipts from the Methodist College Foundation's 37th annual Community Loyalty Campaign were encouraging. The theme of this year's drive was "Meeting the Future."

At the end of Loyalty Day, February 8, Fayetteville and Cumberland County residents had contributed $173,000. That was more than double the $85,795 received at the same point in 1993 and 77 percent of the foundation's 1994 goal of $225,000. Staff members in the Development Office—Bev Pankey, Summer Brock, Pat Stump—were elated by the results.

Craig Stewart, vice president and general manager of Stewart Olds/Nissan/Suzuki, is the chairman of the 1994 Community Loyalty Campaign. This year approximately 118 volunteers were asked to call on 671 businesses for donations.

"Thanks largely to local supporters," said Mr. Stewart, "Methodist College continues to be one of the true success stories in higher education. Enrollment is expanding, facilities are being renovated, and the faculty, staff, and students are gaining national recognition. In addition to its 1,700 students, the college played host to more than 40,000 persons last year who came to the campus for cultural events, meetings, summer camps, and athletic events. With an annual budget and payroll of over $14 million, it is clear that Methodist has a positive impact on the local economy."

Mrs. Jean Hodges, president of the Methodist College Foundation, expressed confidence that Craig Stewart will lead a "very successful" fund drive for the college. "Craig has been very active in our community," she said, "and he has strong leadership qualities. He's the best of the best."

Last year's campaign netted $480,725, more than double the foundation's goal of $200,000. Local insurance executive Bob Exum chaired the 1993 drive.

W.E. HORNER, TRUSTEE EMERITUS, DIES AT 92

William Edwin "Bill" Horner, a charter member of the Methodist College Board of Trustees, died February 7 in Pinehurst. He was 92.

The former editor-publisher of The Sanford Herald served five terms in the N.C. House of Representatives, was a state highway commissioner from 1961-65, and served as a trustee of UNC, Louisburg College, Fayetteville State University, and Methodist College.

Horner Administration Building at Methodist College and Horner Boulevard in Sanford are named for Mr. Horner. He chaired the development committee in the formative years of Methodist College and made many generous gifts to the college over the years.

Mr. Horner was an active civic leader in Sanford, serving as president of the Kiwanis Club, chairman of the Red Cross, District Chairman of the Boy Scouts, and president of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce. Methodist College awarded him a Doctor of Humanities degree in 1978.

A Durham native, Mr. Horner attended Durham High School and Trinity College (now Duke) and graduated from UNC in 1922. He and his wife moved to Sanford in 1930. Mr. Horner wrote over 2,000 newspaper columns, all signed "WEH". He was a past president of the N.C. Press Association.

Mr. Horner is survived by two daughters, Nancy H. Hulin of Wilmington, and Louise H. Bowles of Greensboro; a son, William E. Horner, Jr. of Sanford; a sister, Sue Sample of Statesville; six grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Bill Horner's funeral was held February 9 at St. Luke United Methodist Church in Sanford. The Revs. Vernon Tyson and Reggie Ponder officiated.

REAL ESTATE INSTITUTE SET

Methodist's Reeves School of Business has established an Institute of Real Estate and will begin offering real estate classes this fall.

"We are fortunate to have the new Institute in Real Estate," said Joe Doll, director of the Reeves School. "It is being created to serve the needs of the growing market for real estate professionals in southeastern North Carolina."

"Real Estate Fundamentals" will be taught during Fall Term I of Evening College beginning August 8, 1994, with registration the entire month of July.

Students who complete this course will be qualified to take the state licensing exam for real estate sales associate.

Additional real estate courses will be offered later which will qualify students to take the real estate broker's exam. To be on the mailing list or for more information, call the Reeves School at 630-7047.

NEWS BRIEFS

SPRING ENROLLMENT STANDS AT 1,614

Methodist College began the spring semester with 1,614 students, an increase of 4 percent over 1993.

Day enrollment totalled 1,045, up 5 percent from last spring's 987. Spring Term I of Evening College drew 569, seven more than last spring.

The number of students living in the residence halls is 535, compared to 470 in Spring '93.

DR. KNOTT RETIRES

Dr. Garland Knott, head of the Department of Philosophy and Religion, has retired after 28 years of teaching at Methodist. Dr. Ken Collins, associate professor of religion and philosophy, was promoted to department head.

CHEERLEADERS TO COMPETE AT NCCC

The Methodist College cheerleaders, currently ranked No. 2 in the country, have qualified for the National College Cheerleading Championship to be held in San Diego, California in April.

This is the third consecutive year that the Monarch cheerleaders have qualified for the finals. Their No. 2 ranking among small colleges is based on a videotaped routine. Last year, the cheerleaders took fourth place in the finals held at Sea World of San Diego.

The Monarchs are coached by Second Year Head Coach Tracey Hubiak, assisted by AJ Jones. Members of the team include: John Cooper, John Goff, Bret Gross, Erin Hawkins, Kim Lovely, Ed McEnroe, Ben Pope, Karen Rafferty, Nanette Ragan, Tim Reger, Abel Rosa, Bruni Rosa, Trisha Stem, Sharon Smyzuk, Cara Vandenbeghe, and Kim Weaver.

DR. WILLIAM HARRISON URGES WINTER GRADS TO DEVELOP LIFELONG GOALS

The Hoke County schools superintendent urged 104 winter graduates of Methodist College December 17 to plan for their future by adopting a personal mission statement and setting lifelong goals.

"Take a chance and dare to make a difference," said Dr. William Harrison, a 1974 graduate of Methodist. He told the winter class that successful people learn from adversity and have a strong sense of mission.

BILL HARRISON

The former public school principal and teacher advised class members to: 1) Be all you can be—work hard to develop competence, credibility, and a value system; 2) Do the right thing—do not let the desire for short-term goals jeopardize long-term goals; and 3) Do unto others as you would have them do unto you—help and support your fellow man.

Dr. Elton Hendricks, college president, presented a Methodist College Medallion to Rev. Russell Knowles, a United Methodist minister from Bolivia, NC, recognizing his success in the ministry and his recruitment of at least 20 students for Methodist.

Dr. Hendricks also presented the Sam Edwards Award to Gary D. Rhodes, denoting his selection as the outstanding Evening College student of 1993.

Five students—Sharon Archer of the Bahamas, Abigail Findlay of the United Kingdom, Valerie Harel of Mauritius, Martin Knoll and Gesa Wellenstein of Germany—presented the college with flags of their native countries.

Twenty-two members of the winter class graduated with honors—19 "cum laude," two "magna cum laude," and one "summa cum laude."

CHAMPION SPARKS INTEREST IN NEW PROGRAM

One of Methodist's newest and most energetic faculty members is Darl H. Champion, assistant professor of criminal justice.

He came to Methodist from Fayetteville Technical Community College, where he directed an associate degree program. After only four semesters—two as an adjunct instructor and two as a full-time faculty member—Champion has attracted 62 students to the criminal justice program. Champion was recruited by Dr. Suzan Cheek, professor of political science, and Dr. Erik Bitterbaum, vice president for academic affairs.

Methodist added a criminal justice major in the fall of 1991, within the Department of Sociology and Social Work. The official term for the major is criminal justice studies; both the bachelor's and associate degrees are offered, as well as a minor.

Why is criminal justice so popular with MC students? "It's a hot topic right now—a pressing social issue," said Champion. "Many college students are now drawn to careers in law enforcement, juvenile justice, corrections, private security, and human services. Jobs are available in these fields, especially in the law enforcement sector."

Having taught criminal justice in the Fayetteville area for 18 years, Darl Champion is well acquainted with law enforcement personnel and criminal justice issues. Many of his former students now work in area police or sheriff's departments or in state correctional institutions. Some of his former students have transferred from Fayetteville Tech to Methodist in order to earn their bachelor's degrees.

Champion received his bachelor's degree in criminology at Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1970. He then served five years in the U.S. Army, attaining the rank of captain. He commanded the 82nd Airborne Division's Military Police Company and served as a special agent with the Army's Criminal Investigations Command at Fort Bragg.

In 1975, Champion began teaching criminal justice at Fayetteville Tech and started work on his master's at the University of South Carolina. He received his M.S. degree in 1978 and is currently working on his doctorate in adult education at N.C. State University. His dissertation will explore the relationship between critical thinking and police officer performance.

Darl Champion has won three awards for teaching excellence and is highly regarded among criminal justice professionals. He has lectured widely, written book reviews and grant proposals, and served on numerous community college advisory committees. He has been president of the North Carolina Criminal Justice Association. He currently serves on the North Carolina Criminal Justice Education and Training Standards Commission and the governing board of Fayetteville/Cumberland County Crime Stoppers.

Champion said those who believe that building more prisons and hiring more law enforcement personnel will reduce crime in the long term are mistaken. (Gov. Jim Hunt and several state legislators put such proposals before a special session of the N.C. General Assembly, recently convened to seek solutions to the state's growing crime problem and overcrowded prisons.) "We need to address the root causes of crime," he said. "We need permanent solutions, not temporary ones. We need early intervention where families are failing. We need integrated solutions that involve the home, the schools, neighborhoods, and criminal justice agencies. I'm afraid partisanship and political correctness have gotten in the way of common sense."

Methodist's criminal justice program is receiving strong support from the Sandhills region where MC students will intern. Adjunct faculty include: Fayetteville Police Chief Ron Hansen; Juvenile Intake Officer Richard Allgood; Larry Marshall, Special Agent in Charge, USACID, Fort Bragg; Lt. Josh Phillips, Fayetteville Police Department; and Chip Oehme, a former Air Force intelligence officer now working on his Ph.D. at Cambridge University.

"Over the years, I have developed a close working relationship with the N.C. Justice Academy," said Champion. "This has resulted in the academy utilizing our students in simulations and role-playing exercises."

Darl Champion clearly enjoys teaching and the challenge of developing a new program. Some of his goals include: establishment of a broad-based advisory board, aggressive pursuit of grants, participation in local research projects, and state certification of Methodist's criminal justice program.

"I will not sacrifice quality for quantity," he added. "I want to establish a high quality program which is integrated with the liberal arts curriculum."

CONGRATULATIONS!

Four Methodist College science majors--two recent graduates and two current seniors--will be entering medical school this fall.

Mrs. Holly Provost, a biology major from Opelousas, Louisiana, was accepted by Louisiana State University Medical School in Shreveport. She graduated in December.

Michael Lake, a biology major from Fayetteville, was accepted by the School of Medicine at East Carolina University. He graduated in May 1993.

Two current seniors have also been accepted at East Carolina. They are: Stephen Fann, a biology major from Roseboro, and Stewart Kerr, a chemistry major from Fayetteville.

Dr. Margaret Folsom, professor of biology, said of the students, "I am very proud of them. They are hard-working, mature, and caring young people who ought to be excellent physicians."

FSU CHANCELLOR URGES STUDENTS TO DEFY RACISM

"We must defy racism and other evils."

That was the message delivered by Dr. Lloyd "Vic" Hackley, chancellor of Fayetteville State University, February 2. Dr. Hackley's address in Hensdale Chapel was the first in a series of five events held in observance of Black History Month.

The Virginia native said true integration—defined in Webster's Third New World Dictionary as "a perfect entity"—does not yet exist in America's public schools and other institutions. In order to achieve parity, he said black Americans must change their goals with each generation.

"You gain respect by the content of your character and what you do,"

said Dr. Hackley. "I was taught to work hard, that character is measured by who you pick up. I was taught that you succeed for the whole community."

Dr. Hackley advised minority students to "keep your health and take care of your children." He said blacks who have achieved great things were loved and encouraged as children. He concluded with these words: "We should think of every child as moving through a tunnel that empties into America. Love the children!"

BOOK OF ESSAYS HONORS PLAYWRIGHT PAUL GREEN

Paul Green's Celebration of Man, with a Bibliography, a collection of essays about North Carolina's Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright, will be published March 6 by Human Technology Interface, Ink.

The book contains 13 lectures given at Methodist College's Southern Writers' Symposium in March, 1987. Mr. Green was the subject of that symposium, which also premiered Lee Yopp's play about Green's life, entitled "Listen To My Song."

Dr. Sue Kimball, professor of English at Methodist College, and Dr. Lynn V. Sadler, former academic dean at Methodist, edited the book. They also spent months compiling a 50-page bibliography of works about Paul Green. The Paul Green Foundation provided a grant for part of the bibliographical research.

The contributors to the book include: Janet Green Catlin, Glenda Gill, John Ehle, Shelby Stephenson, Laurence G. Avery, Rhoda Wynn, Ed Devany, Sue Kimball, Dahlys Hamilton, Paul Wilson, Lynn Sadler, Frances Kestler, and W.W. Finlator.

Paul Green's Celebration of Man, with a Bibliography, will sell for $20.

PAUL GREEN

The book can be purchased from Human Technology Interface Ink, in care of Dr. Lynn Sadler, 163 Wood Wedge Way, Sanford, NC 27330, (919) 499-9216. Add $1.50 for postage and handling. North Carolina residents should add $1.20 sales tax.

March 17 marks the 100th anniversary of Paul Green's birth in Harnett County, N.C. Various readings and other activities are scheduled throughout the state to commemorate this event. Paul Green wrote 17 symphonic (outdoor) dramas, the most famous being The Lost Colony, which has played for more than 50 summers at Manteo, N.C. He was also a poet and a civil rights activist.

Methodist College Needs Your Help

A CURRENT STUDENT WORKS IN THE COMPUTER LAB.

NEW GRADUATES RECEIVE A ROUND OF APPLAUSE FROM FACULTY AND STAFF AS THEY WALK THROUGH THE HONOR CORDON.

The Quest For Excellence...

Methodist College is growing in size and stature. The college enrolled a record 1,729 students last fall—1,126 in the regular day program and 603 in the Evening College. The number of students living on campus reached 600—the highest level in 25 years.

Methodist's academic and athletic programs are the best they've ever been. The teacher education program is nationally accredited and the social work and business programs are moving in that direction. Methodist's soccer, baseball, and golf teams are consistently ranked in the "top ten" in NCAA Division III. The faculty, students staff, and coaches at Methodist are working hard to be the best.

All this is good news for Methodist graduates, for it enriches the value of our diplomas. Now is the time for MC alumni to jump on the bandwagon and help Methodist attract more good students. If you have children of college age, encourage them to consider Methodist. Phone 1-800-488-7110 to request literature or to arrange a campus visit.

Simply the Best...

We believe Methodist College is superior to the average public or private college. As a small, liberal arts, church-related college, we offer students countless opportunities to grow in mind, body, and spirit. The faculty curriculum, facilities, and athletic programs at Methodist are truly outstanding. Students at Methodist are challenged, but also nurtured; they receive a great deal of special attention. Graduates of Methodist College are well equipped not only for making a living, but also for making a life that is full and rewarding.

Will Growth Continue?

Methodist College has experienced steady enrollment growth—about 5 percent annually—since 1990.

Dr. Elton Hendricks, now in his 11th year as president of the college, believes growth will continue. Last summer, he persuaded the college trustees to adopt a plan for increasing residential enrollment by 50 percent over the next six years.

Alan Coheley, vice president for enrollment services, and his admissions staff are working hard to ensure that we continue to grow. Ditto for other members of the administration, staff, and faculty.

The Methodist coaches, particularly in men's sports, have done a great recruiting job, so much so that men resident students now outnumber women more than 2 to 1. If Methodist College is to have equal numbers of men and women living on campus, as originally intended, then more women must be recruited. Since we have room for additional co-eds, alumni can help greatly by referring women prospects.

With additional students, Methodist will be able to upgrade its programs and facilities and attract the gifts and grants needed to meet the demands of the future.

To Keep A Good Thing Growing

The Bottom Line...

Among North Carolina's 33 private four-year colleges, Methodist currently ranks 13th in total cost at $12,400 per year for a resident student. Tuition is $8,850. But the bottom line cost to students is generally much less.

Methodist College believes that no qualified student should be denied entry because of limited finances. Methodist College this year alone will award students $2.9 million in institutional funds in the form of scholarships and/or campus jobs. The $2.9 million in financial aid that Methodist allots, combined with state, federal, and other sources, makes the college affordable to most students, regardless of family income.

Methodist has just increased its Incentive Scholarship awards for entering freshmen. These scholarships are worth $2,500- $7,000 per year, based on a student's SAT scores and class rank in high school. (See accompanying chart.) In addition, Methodist will conduct a Personalized Scholarship Search for each applicant.

Resident students are eligible for campus jobs worth up to $1,000 per year. North Carolina residents attending full-time receive Legislative Tuition Grants worth $1,150.

In 1992-93 Methodist made an average financial aid award of $8,014 to students with family incomes in the $18,000-$23,999 range.* The average grant to those students was $3,851.

1993-94 ACADEMIC YEAR COSTS

	Methodist	College A	College B
Tuition and Fees	$8,850	$6,300	$1,400
Room and Board	$3,550	$3,000	$2,800
Estimated Costs (for Textbooks, Transportation, Personal Expenses)	$2,600	$2,600	$2,600
Price (Total Expense)	$15,000	$11,900	$6,800
Cost (Amount Family Pays)	$4,000	$4,000	$4,000
Financial Assistance Needed to Cover "Price"	$11,000	$7,900	$2,800
Financial Aid Award:
Grants	$3,000	$2,600	$0
Scholarships	$4,000	$1,500	$1,200
Student Loans	$2,600	$2,600	$1,600
Work-Study Award	$1,400	$1,200	$0
Total Financial Aid Award	$11,000	$7,900	$2,800

Incentive Scholarships

Class Rank SAT/ACT	Residential Freshman			Commuter Freshman
	10%	15%	20%	15%	20%
1200 Above (29>)	$7000	$5000	$4000	$4500	$3250
1100-1199 (27-28)	$6000	$4500	$3500	$3700	$3000
1000-1099 (24-26)	$4800	$4000	$3250	$3200	$2750
900-999 (22-23)	$3500	$3250	$3000	$2700	$2500

The chart below illustrates the typical bottom line cost of a Methodist College education, after financial aid has been subtracted from the price. Compared to lower-priced institutions, Methodist's expected family contribution of $4,000 is a bargain.

*According to the U.S. Census of 1990, the median household income in N.C. was $26,647; in Cumberland County it was $25,462.

The Greatest Gift...

Since 1976, Methodist College has offered its alumni a special incentive to recruit students for their alma mater. The college has allowed each Methodist graduate to give, at no personal cost, a four-year scholarship to a new student whom he or she recruits.

In 1993-94, a commuting student can receive $1,000 per year toward tuition, while a resident student can receive up to $1,500. The exact amount depends on the financial need of each individual; the awards are renewed annually provided the recipient makes satisfactory academic progress.

An alumna/alumnus can award one Greatest Gift Scholarship per academic year, simply by filling out an application form available from the Alumni Office. A total of 278 students are currently receiving Greatest Gift Scholarships; many alumni are helping with recruitment and we thank you!

Counting the Class of '93, Methodist College has now graduated approximately 5,400 persons! If only 10 percent of this number recruited a student each year, Methodist's future would be secured.

The college honors its alumni by funding the Greatest Gift Scholarships. Please help a deserving student and your alma mater by awarding your personal scholarship! Phone (910) 630-7167 to request an application.

NEW PRESIDENT URGES ALUMNI TO 'SPEAK UP,' BRING SUGGESTIONS TO BOARD

New Methodist College Alumni Association President Janet Conard Mullen '72, is looking forward to her first term in office. Janet has been active with the Alumni Association for over eight years, serving in a variety of roles both on and off the Board of Directors.

"I want the alumni of Methodist College to speak up—let us know their ideas, what they would like to see," she said. "Some people sit back and complain but never let us know. We can't respond if they don't communicate. The Alumni Board is very open to suggestions."

Janet believes the alumni have become more actively involved in providing financial support and would like to see that continue to improve. "The College has started recognizing the alumni more than I remember from years back," she noted.

"It's important for the Alumni Association to recognize the support of the alumni as well," Methodist has grown so much. I think about the rolling hills of sand spurs and looking across campus focusing on an airplane hanger for a gym. It took us so long to get the Physical Activities Center and the alumni helped make that happen. I think we can get more people involved with the Association to further benefit the College."

Choosing Methodist over other colleges was not a difficult decision for Janet. She came to visit her sister, Judy '69, and met a lot of students. "I thought this is great—the school is small enough that I can be actively involved and it has a good reputation," she said. "I had been accepted at some big schools but I really didn't want to go somewhere and be just another number. I wanted to be somewhere I could do something and be involved."

Janet was a cheerleader during her MC days and active in the Women's Athletic Association.

A native of Round Hill, VA., Janet received her B.A. in English from Methodist and her M.Ed. from East Carolina University. She is now the principal of Cliffdale Elementary School in Fayetteville. She and her husband, Phil '74, have a son, Cory, age 9.

STAFF, STUDENTS SAY GOOD-BYE TO A SPECIAL LADY

Mrs. Morie Howard, a special member of the Methodist College family, recently left Fayetteville to take up residency at the Presbyterian Home of High Point.

The retired high school business education teacher was a well-known patron of the Methodist College Cafeteria from 1962-93. Most recently, she purchased two meals per day on a "college staff plan" offered by Marriott Food Service.

"I've enjoyed eating with the students," she said recently. "They've been very kind and considerate. These current students are very sharp and have good manners."

At the college's Christmas dinner December 17, Cafeteria Manager Don Sawicki and the rest of the Methodist crew presented Mrs. Howard with a dozen red roses and a parting gift.

Mrs. Howard became a regular dinner guest back in 1962, when her husband, Young Howard, asked Cafeteria Manager Myrtice Jones if they could purchase their evening meals at Methodist. Mrs. Jones was happy to oblige and the Howards joined the supper line. Mr. Howard was then principal of Raleigh Road Elementary School. He died in 1984.

Mrs. Howard said she and her husband were "busy people," who never had much time to spend in the kitchen of their Raleigh Road home. "I can cook" she said, "but we came for the fellowship as much as anything. I still get letters and Christmas cards from former students."

Although she's 81 and has arthritis, Mrs. Howard still drives her dark blue Pontiac and audits classes at Methodist. Since her retirement from Seventy-First High School in 1981, she has remained active in her church and civic groups and has taken courses at Methodist—everything from "World Geography" to "Children's Literature."

Mrs. Howard has been a generous supporter of the college since it opened in 1960 and is a member of the Methodist College Endowment Society. The college awarded her a Methodist College Medallion in 1990. She says she will miss Methodist and her Fayetteville friends, but plans to come back and visit periodically.

Mrs. Howard's new address is: Box 118, Presbyterian Home of High Point, 201 Greensboro Road, High Point, NC 27260.

METHODIST COLLEGE REACHES "NEW HEIGHTS"

Dr. M. Elton Hendricks
President

To Friends and Alumni of Methodist College:

1993 was an exciting year for Methodist College. Thanks to the generosity of friends and alumni, a record amount was raised in the Annual Fund, enrollment reached an all-time high and ground was broken on a new residence hall. At year-end, $995,000.96 had been pledged and contributed to the College. With this record amount, we saw increases in support from every constituency—alumni, friends, businesses and parents. A total of 1,806 individuals or organizations made gifts to Methodist—20% more than those participating during 1992. The increase in alumni support is especially pleasing, with an increase of 39% over the previous year. We also received $278,573.96 in capital payments during the year.

The progress made during 1993 was possible not because of sheer force of will among Methodist College insiders. Many alumni and friends have offered their ideas, encouragement, faith and gifts. Leadership has come in many forms—from board members who serve so selflessly, to the parent who gives after paying tuition.

I invite you to drive through the main entrance and notice the new Methodist College sign on Ramsey Street, watch the progress on the new residence hall, eat in the newly renovated cafeteria, see the beautifully refurbished Hensdale Chapel and listen to the sounds from the carillon in the Yarborough Bell Tower as its Westminster chimes toll throughout the day for the first time in a number of years.

Yes, there has been much progress in 1993. Your continuing support, leadership and generosity are essential catalysts to this forward momentum. On behalf of everyone at Methodist, I thank you for helping us "reach new heights" in 1993. And I encourage you to journey with us as we "meet the future" in 1994.

Sincerely,

M. Elton Hendricks
President

FAYETTEVILLE DISTRICT LAY ACADEMY GRADUATES FIRST CLASS

By Tryon Lancaster

A significant event took place in Hensdale Chapel at Methodist College Tuesday, November 30, 1993. At the conclusion of a service of worship and celebration, the first graduates of the Fayetteville District Lay Academy received certificates of completion from the Center for Continuing Education, Duke Divinity School.

What is this "lay academy" and how did it come to be? Three years ago, the Reverend Helen G. Crotwell, who was superintendent of the Fayetteville District of the United Methodist Church, and Dr. Tryon Lancaster, a faculty member at Methodist College, served together on a committee for the North Carolina Annual Conference. The group's task was to identify ways to help struggling, small membership churches in the conference.

Dr. Steve Long, director of Duke Divinity's Center for Continuing Education, met with the committee to identify problems and explore strategies for strengthening local congregations. One possibility mentioned was the use of qualified and committed laypersons as pastors in small churches.

Dr. Long proposed a two-year academy for the theological training of laypersons. The focus of the program would be to help class members grow in their understanding of the meaning and purpose of the church and how to be effective disciples of Jesus Christ. The curriculum would include biblical studies, Wesleyan theology, the history and practice of worship, the liturgical calendar, and the disciplined life.

The first lay academy in the North Carolina Conference was established in the Fayetteville District. While the concept grew out of a concern for small membership churches, participation was not limited to those congregations.

The academy met for the first time in January, 1991. Members committed to spend ten hours together each quarter, working with the Reverend Carrie W. Parrish, director and instructor.

As the weeks passed, the academy truly became a theological community. Participants shared a hunger for learning, their deep love for and commitment to the spiritual growth of their congregations, and their faith in Jesus Christ. They worshiped and prayed together, sharpened their beliefs, disagreed, struggled, and discovered new insights into the pilgrimage of faith.

Persons graduating from this exciting program are: Roberta Brown, St. Matthews UMC; George Harvey,

Gardners UMC; Gwen Henderson, John Wesley UMC; Steve Hester, Tabor

CHURCH LEADER MAKES STRONG CASE FOR CROSS-RACIAL APPOINTMENTS

Recalling the parable of the widow and the unscrupulous judge (Luke 18: 1-8), a United Methodist official recently urged her fellow members from eastern North Carolina to act justly and decide in favor of a racially inclusive church.

Rev. Barbara Ricks Thompson, general secretary to the General Commission on Religion and Race of the United Methodist Church, spoke to 275 ministers and lay persons January 15 at Methodist College. The occasion was a Forum on Cross Racial Appointments arranged by the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church,

"It is in the spirit of justice and persistence that a challenge is offered to the people of the church to recognize the sinful and destructive nature of racism," said Rev. Thompson, "to overcome its presence in our midst and to become the truly inclusive community of faith...The New Testament is replete with instances where Jesus takes a firm stand for justice and equality against racial and religious supremacism...put on a 'judge's wig' and take a seat on the high bench. Hear my petition for justice in the church..."

Although the North Carolina Conference has surveyed the boards of predominantly white churches to determine whether they would accept a black minister, Rev. Thompson said, "Based on the information I have been able to identify for this conference, the cross-racial appointments in place do not include any black clergy."

Rev. Thompson said 1992 data showed that nearly 5 percent of the approximately 853 clergy in the North Carolina Conference were racial and ethnic minority persons. "It is opening the itinerancy fully to these persons that is the issue before us," she said.

The speaker urged the bishop's cabinet in the N.C. Conference to "match the goals and the needs of the congregation with gifts and graces of the clergy—without considering the ethnicity of either."

THE METHODIST COLLEGE CHORUS

CHORUS PREPARES FOR SPRING CONCERT TOUR

The Methodist College Chorus, under the direction of Alan Porter, embarks on a spring concert tour March 12.

Concerts are scheduled for Hertford, N.C. (First United Methodist Church); Chester, Maryland (Kent Island United Methodist Church); Washington, D.C. (the Capitol); a secondary school in Northern Virginia; and Raleigh, N.C. (Soapstone United Methodist Church).

The 28-member group performs a variety of secular and sacred works. Rainbow's End and the Monarch Quartet, two vocal ensembles made up of chorus members, will also be featured.

ENTREPRENEUR COUNSELS BUSINESS STUDENTS

The founder of two marketing companies recently advised Methodist College business students to establish their values early, then "find something you do well and do it."

John M. Reeves II is vice president of First Exim Financial Limited, co-founder of Medical Products Search, and president of Reeves Development Corporation. He was the guest speaker at the Third Charles M. Reeves Entrepreneurship Luncheon last October.

JOHN REEVES II

Reeves said a true entrepreneur creates a business to fill a specific need and is not afraid to fail. First Exim, for example, provides financial assistance to importers and exporters. Medical Products Search markets new medical technologies.

A Sanford native, Reeves is the son of Charles M. Reeves, the man who endowed Methodist's School of Business in 1986. The elder Reeves made his fortune in banking, railroad car leasing, and real estate. John Reeves holds an M.B.A. from Duke University's Fuqua School of Business and a master's in civil engineering from N. C. State University.

FOOTBALL COACH SPEAKS OF SUCCESS

Bobby Poss, the high school football coach who took two Cumberland County teams to state 4-A championships, told a group of Methodist College supporters February 8 that positive thinking and communication are the keys to success.

Speaking at the Methodist College Foundation's Loyalty Campaign breakfast, Mr. Poss urged campaign volunteers to: "1) Keep a positive attitude to give a perception of confidence and success, and 2) Always try to exceed your personal expectations."

A native of Washington, D. C., Poss was the football coach at Fayetteville's Seventy-First High School and Southview High in Hope Mills before taking an elementary school P.E. assignment this year. This summer he will become the football coach at A. C. Reynolds High School in Asheville, N.C.

The success of this program is evidenced in many ways. The congregations represented have been splendidly supportive of these students and receptive to the ideas taken back to the local church. The academy members were eager to continue their fellowship and work, so they asked for an advanced academy.

A second basic academy began in the Fayetteville District in February.

WOMEN HIT STRIDE AT MID-SEASON

Methodist's women's basketball team peaked at the right time, going 8-5 in the first month of '94 and finding themselves at the top of the Dixie Conference standings. The women finished the regular season 15-9 overall and 8-4 in the conference.

The Lady Monarchs opened the second half of the season against a very physical and tough University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh team. Sporting an 8-1 record, the Lady Titans were too much for Methodist to handle, handing the Lady Monarchs a 77-38 defeat.

The women enjoyed a four-game winning streak in January, defeating Averett, Shenandoah, N.C. Wesleyan, and Bennett. February brought wins against Meredith, Greensboro College, Ferrum, and Christopher Newport. The four seniors performed well against Christopher Newport in their last regular game, beating the Lady Captains 89-72.

Senior forward Anne Uleman was the leading scorer, averaging 10.2 points per game. She scored her 1,000th career point against Bennett Feb. 16.

EDMUNDS, RHEW KEY MEN'S TEAM

In the wake of a blistering 6-1 start and a No. 15 ranking in the Columbus Multimedia National Top 30 poll, the Methodist College men's basketball team cooled off during the second half of the season.

The Monarchs' main problem was inconsistency. Starting the new year, the team failed to win more than two consecutive games and had three two-game losing streaks.

The Monarchs were impressive January 15 against Ferrum. Down 40-36 at the half, Methodist went on an 11-minute, 40-13 run and outscored the Panthers 66-29. The Monarchs won the game 102-69.

In a February 13 home game, the Monarchs defeated Shenandoah University 94-91, with a 34-foot jump shot by Gerald Edmunds in the closing seconds.

The men defeated non-conference foe Newport News Apprentice Feb. 18, 90-78. The next day the team lost to league-leading Christopher Newport, 78-72.

The Monarchs finished with a winning season—13-11 overall and 4-8 in the conference—in their second year under Coach Bob McEvoy. Gerald Edmunds was the leading scorer, averaging 13.5 points per game.

MONARCHS PERFORM WELL AT UNC MEET

The Methodist College indoor track team fared quite well in their first meet of the season at the Joe Hilton Invitational Track Meet at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill January 15.

The Monarchs participated in nine events, placing in the top ten in five of them. Methodist was the only Division III and non-scholarship school at the event. Highlights of the day was a record-tying performance by junior Jamelle Ushery (Albany, NY) in the 55 meter hurdles. Ushery turned in a time of 7.82 in the semifinals, to tie the old mark also set by himself in 1993. He finished 11th in the event after running 7.98 in the finals.

Sophomore transfer Hope Kelly (Great Valley, NY) shattered the women's 3,000 and 1,500 meter run with times of 11:13.0 and 5:19.69 respectively. The women's 3,000 meter record was held by Cathi O'Neil (11:16.0, 1990) and the 1,500 by Abigail Findlay (5:30.01, 1993). Kelly, who attended Charleston Southern University last year, finished second in the 3,000 and third in the women's mile.

WOMEN'S GOLF TEAM SEEKS 4TH NATIONAL TITLE

Methodist's women's golf team, coached by Ann Davidson, will seek its fourth straight national championship this spring. The Lady Monarchs have won the last three National Golf Coaches Association National Championships.

Methodist will try to uphold the winning tradition that Head Coach Ann Davidson started four years ago. They come into the 1994 campaign ranked Number 1 in preseason national polls. The Lady Monarchs recorded three consecutive National Golf Association National Championships and won seven of the last eight.

Although Methodist loses the 1993 individual national champion in Amy Hoke, the Lady Monarchs won't miss a beat as they return junior Kelly Cap (Boardman, OH), sophomore Anna Rodriquez (Santander, Spain) and junior Elizabeth Horton (Middletown, OH).

Methodist comes into the spring season after a successful fall stint involved some of the top Division I teams in the country. The Lady Monarchs finished tied for tenth with the University of Indiana in the Lady Tar Heel Invitational at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, with a three-day total of 320 and just one stroke behind the University of Kentucky.

The highlight of the fall season was a second place finish in Methodist's own Lady Monarch Invitational at King's Grant Country Club. The Lady Monarchs finished behind the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, with a two day total of 628. Horton finished second in the event with a total of 152.

The women open their season at the Peggy Kirk Bell Invitational in Orlando, FL, March 14-15. The NGCA National Championships are set for May 9-11 at Willow Creek Golf Club in Des Moines, Iowa.

HURDLERS, JUMPERS READY TO GO

Brian Cole's track and field team will try to pick up where it left off, after finishing 62nd in the nation among all NCAA Division III teams last season.

Methodist returns 1993 All-American Jamelle Ushery (Albany, NY). Ushery finished eighth in the 110 high hurdles and was the Mason-Dixon Conference Champion in the 110 high hurdles and the 400 intermediate hurdles. Also returning for the Monarchs is sophomore Brett Ciancanelli (Chicago Heights, IL). Ciancanelli won the Mason-Dixon Conference triple jump championship in 1993. He is expected to qualify in the 400 intermediate hurdles and 4x400 relay. Jamal Taylor (Richmond, VA), an outdoor conference champion in the long jump, will give Cole additional strength in the field events.

On the women's side, junior Karen Murphy (Jacksonville, NC) should be a conference favorite in the high jump and should have an outside shot at qualifying for nationals. Transfer Hope Kelly (Great Valley, NY) has been impressive during the cross country and indoor seasons in the distance events. She has already demonstrated that she will be one of the premier distance runners in the South and should have an excellent shot at qualifying for the nationals.

MEN'S GOLF TEAM WANTS TITLE BACK

Methodist's men's golf team, which finished third in last year's NCAA Division III National Championships, will try to regain the title held for three consecutive years from 1990-92. Methodist will host the NCAA Division III Championships at King's Grant Country Club in Fayetteville, May 17-20.

The Monarchs return the individual national champion, Ryan Jenkins (Colonial Heights, VA), who turned in a four-day total of 294 at the difficult Torrey Pines (South) Golf Course in LaJolla, CA. Jenkins' win marked the third time Methodist boasted the national champion. Other Monarchs to ascend to the throne are John McCullough (1989) and Rob Pilewski (1990).

The Monarchs face another demanding schedule as they open their season, March 12-13 at the Gordin Collegiate Classic in Surfside Beach, SC. The spring schedule is highlighted by a trip to East Lansing, MI to take part in the Bruce Fossum/Spartan Invitational at Michigan State University, Saturday, May 7.

BASEBALL TEAM RETURNS 8 STARTERS

The Monarch baseball team returns eight possible starters from last year's squad that went 28-10 (6-6, Dixie, 3rd) and finished the 1993 campaign 14th in the final national rankings.

Missing from the team will be first team All-Conference outfielders Brandon Bridgers and Joe Myrtle. Bridgers left after his junior season when he was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles in the 12th round of the June college draft. Bridgers hit .345 for the Monarchs with 22 runs batted in and two home runs. He led the team in runs scored with 54 and was third in hits with 40.

Myrtle, who also received All-American kudos, hit .360 with 36 runs batted in and was second on the team with four home runs. He was second on the team in runs scored with 36.

Returning for Methodist this season are pitching sensations Matt Boucher (Fayetteville, NC) and Brian Ford (Hope Mills, NC). Boucher led the Monarch pitching staff with a 7-2 record and one save to his credit. He turned in a 2.41 earned run average (E.R.A.) in 74.2 innings pitched. Ford was 8-3 with a 2.95 E.R.A. in 88.1 innings of action. Both Ford and Boucher led the Monarchs in strike outs with 99 and 64 respectively.

Also, returning will be Methodist's leading hitter Matt Berry (Cary, NC). Berry hit .362 with two home runs and was second on the team in runs batted in with 43.

Methodist will start the road to Battle Creek, MI and the Division III College World Series at home on Friday, February 18, in the season opener against Belmont Abbey.

DYNAMIC DUO TO LEAD MEN'S TENNIS TEAM

Methodist's men's tennis team looks toward a bright 1994 season with the return of top players Mark Faber (Maumee, OH) and Wade Liles (Fredericksburg, VA). Both Faber and Liles represented Methodist at the Rolex Intercollegiate Tennis Championships at Emory University last October and won the event defeating the doubles team from the host school.

The Monarch duo then headed to the Rolex National Small College Championships at the University on Central Oklahoma in Edmond, Oklahoma and were eliminated in two straight matches. "We are very proud of both Mark and Wade," said Head Coach Theresa Warrell. "Just to make it to the nationals is a great achievement. It was an outstanding opportunity."

The Monarchs were ranked 22nd in the nation and sixth in the South, in the Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) preseason polls.

SOFTBALL TEAM LOOKS STRONG

The Methodist softball team will return nine players from last year's team and eight starters. The Lady Monarchs compiled a 7-22 overall record and a 2-8 mark in the Dixie Conference.

Methodist will again have junior catcher Kim Miller (Jacksonville, NV) behind the plate. Miller, a First Team All-Dixie selection, led the team in batting, hitting .392 with 31 hits and six run's batted in. Also returning is Second Team All-Dixie member, Anne Uleman (Fairfax, VA). Uleman, a second baseman, fresh off her final season as a Lady Monarch hooper, was second on the team last year, hitting .325 with 31 hits and a team high 16 runs batted in.

Other players to watch this season are:

Alisa Lipe (Salisbury, NC) and Monica Dunn (Fredericksburg, VA). Lipe was third on the team, hitting .305 and had 25 hits. She also led the team in put outs with 182. Dunn hit .301 last year with 25 hits and 13 RBI's.

The leading candidate for starting pitcher is freshman Heather Lucas (Mar, PA). Lucas was a standout on the Mars Area High School softball team, leading Mars Area to the 1992 and 1993 sectional championships.

CAREER SERVICES UPDATE

Methodist's Career Planning and Placement Office held a Career Day March 3 in the Berns Student Center. Approximately 38 businesses and government agencies sent representatives to discuss career options and job opportunities with M.C. students.

Fourteen soon-to-be graduates were invited for interviews and five of those students received job offers as a result of JOB FAIR '93 held in November. Job offers were with companies such as MCI Telecommunications and Jefferson Pilot Life Insurance Company, as well as management trainee positions at Lady Foot Locker and Reed's Jewelers.

Employers reviewed resumes of seniors from several four-year private colleges and invited qualified candidates to interview with several companies in one location on a single day! While the pressure was heavy, the Methodist College students fared well with great stamina and professionalism!

While many students are certain of their career goals, some students remain undecided or begin to question what they had always imagined was the perfect career path. Paula Miller, Director of the Career Planning and Placement Office, is available to help students who are struggling with career decisions. The process of career counseling may involve two or three short sessions of values clarification and/or decision making skills.

Students at Methodist are encouraged to begin to consider possible career choices early in their college career so that they may select course work and summer jobs that will be relevant to the career choice. In order to facilitate career planning activities, all freshmen received a series of interest inventories and abilities inventories during the fall semester designed to help clarify and establish career goals. The current freshmen class has shown great diversity, with career goals ranging from Athletic Coach to Research Analyst.

A survey conducted last fall revealed that many current students would like more information about internships and greater contact with alumni now working in related fields. Alumni who are aware of internships or job openings are strongly encouraged to notify the Career Planning and Placement Office (910) 630-7279. Methodist students are well-qualified and ready to work. They would appreciate your help.

Both current students and alumni are encouraged to use the Career Planning and Placement Office.

A PAUL GREEN CENTENNIAL CONCERT

Cellist Nancy Green and pianist Frederick Moyer will give a joint concert Friday, March 18 at 8 p.m. in Reeves Auditorium at Methodist College. Admission is free and the public is invited.

The Green and Moyer concert is the ninth of 15 that will be given in the state during March—part of the Paul Green Centennial Tour. The artists are the grandchildren of Paul Green, the North Carolina playwright who wrote The Lost Colony. March 17 marks the 100th anniversary of Green’s birth in Harnett County.

The program will include: Rachmaninoff’s “Sonata in g minor for Piano and Cello,” Beethoven’s “12 variations from Mozart’s ‘Magic Flute,’” Brahms’ “Three Hungarian Dances,” and works by De Falla and Kenneth Frazelle.

Nancy Green is an active chamber musician who lives in London and teaches at the Guildhall School of Music. She has performed at Carnegie Recital Hall, in the Boston Symphony “Pops” concerts, and on other concert stages in America, England, Germany, and Spain. Ms. Green studied at the Julliard School of Music. She has recorded a solo album and two collaborations with pianist Frederick Moyer.

Pianist Frederick Moyer received his musical training at the Curtis Institute of Philadelphia and at the University of Indiana/Bloomington. He has appeared as a soloist with many of America’s major orchestras—Cleveland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Boston, Dallas; with the Japan and Hong Kong Philharmonic Orchestra; and at the Marlboro and Tanglewood Festivals. His nine recordings (on the GM and Jupiter labels) reflect his wide-ranging repertoire and comprise works of composers from three centuries.

The Green/Moyer concert is being sponsored jointly by the Paul Green Foundation and the Methodist College Foundation.
